SALESMAN ARRESTED IN BAKER CASE

D. A. R. IS TOLD OF COMMERCE FLEET GROWTH

Shipping Board Official Describes Big Advance in Recent Years.

NEGLECT FORMERLY CAUSED HUGE LOSS

American Bottoms Now Carry Third of U. S. Foreign Trade.

CONTROVERSY BARS PUT UP BY SOCIETY

Politics, Prohibition and Religion Taboo as Discussion Topics at All Meetings.

Three billions of dollars was the price America paid in the World War for neglecting its ocean shipping, according to a statement made before the Thirty-ninth Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution by Alfred H. Haag, director of the Bureau of Research of the United States Shipping Board last night. Mr. Haag was hopeful about the future of American shipping, however, and quoted interesting figures to substantiate his claim.

American ships in the last decade have carried over 35 per cent of American foreign trade, in contrast to 10 per cent only in the decade previous to the World War, he said. During the last decade an increase in value of foreign trade carried in American ships was also noted, amounting to two and one-third billion dollars annually.

In 1914, asserted Mr. Haag, six American ships of 70,000 gross tons were operated in American foreign trade with Europe. Today there are 232 ships of 1,500,000 gross tons operating in this trade. In 1914 5 American ships of 23,000 tons operated in trade between the United States and South America. Today 90 ships of 550,000 tons aggregate operate in this trade.

The speaker declared that comparing the 1910-1914 period with that of today, American trade with Europe has increased 50 per cent; with South America, 200 per cent; with Africa, 325 per cent, and with Asia, 380 per ceent.

Liberal Patronage Helps.

During the height of Government activities in the shipping business the United States Shipping Board had under its jurisdiction in vessels contracted for, requisitioned, commandeered, seized, chartered and purchased, 4,500 ships of over 17,500,000 gross tons.

The greatest contribution toward a successful merchant marine, Mr. Haag concluded, is the liberal patronage of the American exporter, importer and the traveling public in making use of ships flying the American flag.

Frederic William Wile, radio lecturer and newspaper man, spoke on some of his impressions while in London for the naval conference. Mr. Wile gave close-ups of scenes and incidents during the parley and among those attending it. His speech was broadcast by radio over the Columbia Broadcasting Co. through station WMAL.

The invocation last night was offered by the Rev. Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the United States House of Representatives. A

150 Killed, Hurt As Church Burns

Roumanians at Easter Vigil Service Stampede When Curtains Catch Fire.

Bucharest, Roumania, April 18 (A.P.).—Dispatches from the village of Choesti, near the town of Pitesti, 65 miles northwest of Bucharest, said tonight that at least 150 persons were burned to death or severely injured in a church that took fire during an Easter vigil service.

Several hundred persons were imprisoned in the flaming church. Meager reports said the fire brigades of Choesti and Pitesti were desperately fighting the flames and endeavoring to break in the church doors, jammed by the pressure of the crowd from within.

During the vigil service tonight, wind carried a curtain across the flames of lighted candles. The flames were quickly communicated to the altar and the panelings. In a panic that followed, the fear-crazed congregation pressed against the doors, which opened inward, and thus cut off their own escape.

Five Boys Are Saved From Gas In Sewer by Quick-Witted Lad

HALE OPENS BATTLE ON LONDON TREATY

Senator Asks Confreres to Suspend Judgment Upon Its Text.

HEARINGS ARE PLANNED

By ALBERT W. FOX.

The opening gun in the coming Senate battle over ratification of the London naval treaty was fired yesterday by Senator Hale, chairman of the naval affairs committee. In a prepared speech the senator from Maine asked his confreres to suspend judgment until the text of the treaty has been received and its "merits or demerits" passed upon by responsible American naval authorities who will appear at hearings before the naval committee.

America's cruiser policy, supported by Congress and by responsible naval opinion, has been set aside at London, Senator Hale declared, in explaining the need for a thorough and intensive study of the pact. The foreign relations committee, Mr. Hale said, would doubtless hold hearings on the matter.

Shortly after Senator Hale's statement on the floor of the Senate, the latest information Secretary Stimson has cabled to President Hoover was made public. This information covers the following points:

First—There is to be an absolute scrapping of three oldest American battleships, which become obsolete next year, while Great Britain's oldest ships, which are to be scrapped, do not become obsolete until 1934.

Second—The 135,000-ton limitation for aircraft carriers is to include such carriers of less than 10,000 tons displacement, which is characterized as

Hears Feeble Cries Under Manhole and Calls Father to Aid

Quiet Street in Turmoil As Fire Apparatus Rushes to Scene

Unconscious from gases, and covered with mud and slime, five boys were rescued from death in a sewer main on Warren street near Thirty-ninth street late yesterday through the quick thinking of a 9-year-old lad. The quiet street was in a turmoil as more than a dozen pieces of fire apparatus rushed to the scene, and frenzied parents waited for an inspection of the main to reveal whether all the boys had been taken out.

The five who were taken from the main in an unconscious condition were Louis Snyder, 13, 3809 Yuma street; Kimball Scribner, 12, 3802 Alton place; Ned Denton, 13, 3909 Alton place; Billy Johnson, 13, 3800 Yuma street, and Carroll Bilbrey, 3651 Veazy street. All live within a few blocks of the scene.

Armed with flashlights they had entered the sewer opening on Reno road near the Bureau of Standards. Unable to turn around in the narrow main, and feeling the effect of sewer gases, they crawled nearly three blocks before being overcome under the manhole in front of 3883 Warren street.

Johnny Cragoe, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Cragoe, 3883 Warren street, heard feeble cries coming from beneath the manhole. He called his father, who seized a poker and opened the heavy lid with the assistance of Capt. H. F. Wilkerson, 3826 Warren street. They found the Snyder boy hanging to the ladder in a semi-conscious condition, with three of his companions lying face down in the sewer. Unable to enter the gas-filled main, the two men pulled Sny-

ELECTION FUND QUIZ STARTED IN SENATE

Committee Does Not Plan to Delve Into Primary Expenditures.

INQUIRY VIEWED AS 'DUD'

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Lacking the dynamic energy of a "Jim" Reed there was every indication yesterday that the 1930 Senate campaign expenditures investigation would prove a dud.

The committee, headed by Senator Nye, of North Dakota, met, in fact, during the day and virtually decided not to go into the Pennsylvania primary and evidenced a reluctance to pry into the Illinois primary just held and in which Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick defeated Senator Deneen for the Republican nomination.

What the committee actually decided at its first meeting was that various contestants in this year's campaigns should be asked for a periodical accounting of the money they were spending. It was the fact that the committee decided to proceed in this manner and that it had no other ideas which gave the impression that it was going about its business half-heartedly. The procedure virtually precluded any preprimary investigation of Pennsylvania because the primary in that State is to be held the latter part of next month.

Both Sides Seek Inquiry.

Both sides of the Pennsylvania fight have indicated a desire to use the committee for an airing of their political differences. For example, Senator Grundy has insisted that the committee go into an alleged tie-up between the Vare-Davis forces of Philadelphia and the Pennsylvania Railroad. The Vare-Davis forces have retorted by insisting that Senator Grundy's activities at Harrisburg, the State capital, be investigated.

The public under the circumstances had every reason to expect an unusual spectacle, a thorough baring of Pennsylvania's dirty linen. With only past history to go upon there was

FAMOUS FLIER IS AMONG FOUR DEAD IN CRASH

Count de la Vaulx and Fellow Passengers Electrocuted.

BLINDED PLANE HITS HIGH-TENSION WIRES

Jersey City Crowds See Pilot's Vain Efforts in Deep Fog.

FRENCH AIR PIONEER HAD CHARTERED SHIP

Founder of Federation Aeronautiques Hastening From Canada to New York.

Jersey City, April 18 (N.Y.W.N.S.). Trapped in the fog, a plane which for half an hour had swooped blindly just above the roof tops of Jersey City, playing a mad game of tag with panic-stricken pedestrians, struck the high-tension wires of the public service power plant in the Hackensack meadows this afternoon, instantly electrocuting its pilot and three passengers.

Among the latter was Count Henri de la Vaulx, famous pioneer in the air and founder and president of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the world's highest governing body of aviation records. He had specially chartered the Colonial Airways monoplane at Montreal to get here for the week-end.

The other dead were John Salway, veteran pilot; Mrs. Marie E. Williams, of Providence, R. I., and A. V. Conklin, of New York. Mrs. Williams and Conklin had boarded the plane at Albany for the run to Newark Airport.

Street Crowds Saw Tragedy.

When the plane hit the 132,000-volt wires it was apparently headed for the open meadows, where a safe landing was possible, even in the thick mist. The left wing of the Fairchild monoplane struck first, sending up a fountain of sparks. Directly in the plane's path lay the 100-foot tower of the power plant which supplies electricity to buildings within a wide radius, but the doomed ship never reached it. It hung in the air for a split second and then, spurting flame, crashed to the ground.

As ambulances and emergency wagons dashed to the scene on St. Paul's avenue on the outskirts of Jersey City, homes and factories within 10 miles were suddenly plunged into semidarkness because of the broken wires. Electric light service was suspended for half an hour before repairs were made.

Through the mist and fog banked heavily over the crowded Journal Square district of Jersey City at 5 o'clock this afternoon, persons in the street who had heard the loud and steady thrum of an airplane engine hovering about, discerned the dark gray wings of the lost monoplane.

Groped For Landing Spot.

They ran and the plane, scarcely 100 feet above the ground, followed them, with its menacing shadow. It faltered for a moment, its motor idling, and just missed a water tower on a high building. Circling aimlessly for 30 minutes above the city, the plane, whose pilot evidently sought a way out of the enveloping shroud of mist, veered gradually westward toward the meadows, dropping lower and lower toward the ground.

Harry Lehman, watchman at the Public Service Power Station, saw the plane drifting through the fog to-

HOOVER IS DOUBTFUL OF DRY LAW, CLAIM

SECRET LETTER IS READ

(Associated Press.)

A letter written by William H. Stayton, chairman of the board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which expressed the opinion that President Hoover "is beginning to doubt whether prohibition can be enforced," was read yesterday before the Senate lobby committee as it continued its investigation of wet and dry organizations.

Henry H. Curran, president of the association, who was being questioned about its activities in behalf of repeal of the prohibition law, was not examined concerning the letter and did not volunteer any comment. This was his third day on the witness stand, and he was directed to reappear Tuesday for further questioning.

The letter, written last February to Charles S. Wood, of Philadelphia, a vice president of the association, said:

"My own feeling is, as I talk to senators, members of Congress and public officials here, that Mr. Hoover is beginning to doubt whether prohibition can be enforced. He wants to take plenty of time to consider it, but he is being abused a little too much."

Marked "absolutely confidential," the letter began with a statement that Chairman Graham, of the House judiciary committee, which was holding prohibition hearings, had urged Stayton to ask W. W. Atterbury, a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment and Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania, to testify before the committee.

"I believe that, if Gen. Atterbury

VIRGINIAN IS HELD AS GLOVE OF MAN AND CLOTHING OF VICTIM ARE FOUND

Officers Take Resident of Warsaw After Being Told to Bring Him Back Dead or Alive, and Return to Arlington.

CAPTIVE SAYS HE CAN PROVE LOCATION ON FATAL NIGHT

Missing Garments of Slain Girl Are Discovered Near Scene of Crime; Among Them is Gauntlet Believed to Have Been Dropped by Slayer.

Mervin Sisson, 35 years old, a hardware salesman, was arrested at 6:15 last night at his Warsaw, Va., home on a warrant charging him with the murder of Mary Baker, whose body was found last Saturday morning in a culvert near Arlington Cemetery.

Just a week, almost to the minute, had elapsed from the time that the girl was last seen alive until the apprehension of the suspect.

Policemen Ray Cobean, Hugh Jones and John R. Burke, of Arlington County, were present when Deputy Sheriff Fred Settle, of Richmond County, served the warrant.

Sisson is married and has one child. He was taken into custody when he arrived at his home after his daily tour of hardware stores in Richmond County. Clews which brought the police to that section of the county are believed to have developed at the inquisition of the girls' housemates on Thursday night at the Arlington County courthouse.

Slain Girl's Clothes Found.

A few hours before the arrest of Sisson the personal effects of Miss Baker, which had been missing, were found in a sewer on the experimental farm of the Department of Agriculture, near the place where the body was found.

Among the numerous articles were the missing coat, hat and a notebook containing the names of many men. A man's glove, which may prove of great value in the case, also was uncovered in the sewer.

C. L. Joneston, of 2928 Yost place northeast, was searching the vicinity of the crime with two other men. Joneston lifted the cover from the sewer and the evidence, which had been sought for a week, was found underneath.

Discovery of the effects was made about 4:30 o'clock. They were but a short distance from the sewer where other evidence was found last Saturday.

Articles Brought to Shelby.

With Joneston at the time were J. E. Nash and George Alexander Kelly, of 1312 Twelfth street northwest. The men brought their discovery to the office of Inspector William S. Shelby.

Authorities are now concentrating on the search for the revolver which fired the fatal shots. They will make a more thorough search today. Part of the girl's lingerie also is missing. Underwear, found near the culvert, was said by friends to be different in size from that worn by Miss Baker.

As soon as the news reached Arlington County that the alleged murderer had been arrested, a large crowd gathered in front of the courthouse awaiting the arrival of the prisoner and the officers.

Reports were current at Arlington and in Washington that Sisson, although arrested by Arlington County officers, might be taken to Richmond or elsewhere to avoid the crowds and to hasten the questioning he is to undergo.

Sisson's only comment when the murder warrant was served upon him was, "I can prove where I was on the day of the murder." Immediately after the service of the warrant he entered his home. Detectives stood and watched him pack his clothes.

Handcuffed to Officers.

He was placed in the automobile shackled to officers as the journey to Alington County was started. Deputy Sheriff Fred Sepple, of Warsaw, served the warrant which had been sworn out by Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth.

Two officers had lurked near the Sisson all day. Soon after 6 o'clock Sisson entered the driveway alongside his home. As he stepped from the machine, the police approached him from different angles. Two officers in an automobile had trailed him.

The warrant directed the police to bring him back "dead or alive."

A Post reporter had visited the Sisson home at 3:45 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Sisson informed him that hre husband would not return until after 6 o'clock. On this information, which was relayed to police, two of the detectives stood vigil.

Evidence Kept Secret.

In an interview with a Post reporter, detectives declared that they have incriminating evidence against the man. The nature of the evidence they would not reveal.

James Gallagher, also of Warsaw, a friend of Sisson, was said by detectives to be the "Jimmy" whose name appears in the correspondence taken from the dead girl's Navy Department desk and from personal effects at her home. Gallagher was not questioned yesterday by police.

In addition to this, the police volunteered the information that Gal-

A DAY OF REJOICING

Easter is a day of twofold rejoicing — the resurrection of the Christ and the awakening of the world after its winter sleep. The occasion has given rise to observances, both Christian and Pagan, that are rooted in antiquity and capably reviewed by Mary Jane Moore in tomorrow's Sunday Post Tabloid Magazine . . . Herbert S. Hollander also contributes an article on the growing industry of Easter Lily culture, a flower that has always symbolized the goodness and purity associated with this season.

Major to Go on Trial for Life in Poisoning of Second Mate.

Topeka, Kans., April 18 (A.P.).—Indicted here today on a charge of first degree murder, Maj. Charles A. Shepard, 59, Army surgeon, will be brought to trial for the alleged poison murder of his second wife, probably at the term of Federal district court opening in Kansas City, Kans., next December 1.

The Federal grand jury returned the indictment after several days of investigation of the Government's charge that Maj. Shepard poisoned his wife at Fort Riley, Kans., last June as the result of an infatuation

GHANDI: SAINT AND REBEL

What manner of man is this meek leader of the revolt in India against British authority?

David Rankin Barbee, whose features in the Sunday Post are attracting increasing attention, delves into the background of the Indian revolution and particularly its promoter tomorrow.

Besides giving a comprehensive picture of Mahatma Ghandi and what he is striving to accomplish, the article has the additional merit, its author declares, of being "sincere and lacking in propaganda."

The origin and significance of Easter are explained in detail in the leading article in the magazine section. Among other features is a character sketch of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, who it is suggested may be the Democrats' "white hope."

Disbarment Proceedings Begun Against Donaldson

Charges Are Filed Against Former Attorney of Smith Firm.

Disbarment proceedings against R. Golden Donaldson, former president of the Commercial National Bank and former attorney for the F. H. Smith Co., were instituted yesterday in District Supreme Court.

The action was taken by the grievance committee of the District Bar Association which for the last several months has been considering a recommendation of the October grand jury. The grand jury directed that the committee take some action against Donaldson at the same time it returned an indictment charging the Smith Co. and several directors, officers and former directors with using the mails to defraud.

lagher and Sisson had been with Miss Baker and Miss Sperry in Baltimore a few nights before the housewarming party at their Lyon Park home on March 31. There was uncertainty on the part of the police regarding the attendance of the men at the housewarming.

Name in Letters, Claim.

Sisson's name is also said by police to figure prominently in the slain girl's letters. Gallagher is alleged to be the author of several of the missalves. Gallagher, according to police, had been corresponding with Miss Baker for several months.

Details regarding the alleged party in Baltimore in which Miss Sperry and Miss Baker and two men participated were lacking last night.

Mrs. Jeannette Sisson, the wife of the prisoner, and her aged mother, Mrs. Malinda Harris, sobbed after Sisson had been taken away. Their only comment was, "the charge is ridiculous and we can prove where he was on the day of the murder." Each said that he was home on the day that Miss Baker was slain.

Gallagher is a salesman for a soap concern, according to police. Sisson is employed by the Taylor Hardware Co., of Baltimore. Police say that the two men had similar territories, covering a district from Baltimore to Norfolk.

Village Is Dumbfounded.

Arrest of Sisson struck the quiet village of Warsaw like a thunderclap. Consternation reigned as the news was bruited about the town that the man, who is highly respected, had been arrested on the charge of murdering Mary Baker.

For the past twenty years, it was learned, Sisson had resided in the place. None of his neighbors could believe that he could have been arrested on the charge of committing such a heinous crime.

He was known as a home-loving man and not a breath of scandal had ever been heard about him, according to neighbors. When he finished with his work he would work around his garden or fashion bird houses for the trees nearby.

He had always taken an active interest in civic affairs. His popularity in the place had its inception in his employment by a local merchant.

Served in A. E. F.

At the outbreak of the war he enlisted in the Army and served overseas for a year and a half. Some time ago he was afflicted with tuberculosis and spent several months in a sanitarium, from which he was released last year. R. J. Miller, of Warsaw, former employer of Sisson, had nothing but good word for him.

Grilling in Courthouse.

When Sisson arrived at 11:20 last night at the Arlington County Courthouse a large crowd had gathered. Sisson and his captors went into the building where questioning was begun.

Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, Sergt. John Flaherty, of the District Police; Sheriff Howard Fields, Deputy Sheriff Harry L. Woodyard and Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth went into the room to conduct the inquisition.

Sisson wore a gray slouch hat and a grad topcoat. He was calm and did not seem to mind the excitement which his arrest had caused.

Clothes Discovery Startling.

Finding of the girl's clothing is one of the most startling developments since the brutal murder was committed. Late last night police were examining it for bullet holes.

In the notebook, which contained a number of addresses of her men acquaintances, police hope to find the name of the killer. The jewelery is also being scrutinized to learn whether it was given to the girl by a man now under suspicion as the murderer.

Robbery, considered earlier as a motive, has been discarded. Jealousy, revenge or fear of exposure are now the only possible motives, the authorities assert.

In Washington, the police, augmented by Department of Justice agents, are uncovering valuable evidence which may lead to the apprehension of another suspect. This man was known as one with a wide circle of women friends.

Authorities are evincing interest in the report from the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas F. Baker, of Oak Grove, Va., that some stout man was annoying her. This was learned yesterday afternoon and the police are seeking more data on the "stout man."

Dr. Baker amplified this information by the announcement that he had received an anonymous post card from this city which read: "Stout man on Massachusetts avenue acting odd. Used gasoline until late Saturday. Sunday he wore a fedora. Spent some time at furnace. Near 10th. Why?"

Message to Be Checked.

While police believe that the postcard is the work of a crank, they are loath to relinquish any clew that will lead to the slayer. This message will be checked, although the man does not fit the description of any person mentioned heretofore in the mystery.

The parents of the girls turned the missive over to authorities. They said that the stout man was a clerk in the Navy Department.

Girls Brought to Headquarters.

The Misses Sperry and Skinner were brought to District Police Headquarters to identify the clothing and other articles found. Among the effects that the sewer yielded were her hat, colored scarf, tan leather bandbag, large nail file, keys, bank book, a letterhead of the Evangeline Hotel, small coin purse, small mirror, small silver pencil, a pair of women's dark brown gauntlet gloves, pair of silk stockings in a bag, box containing jewelry, notebooks, numerous cards and papers, black leather cardcase, and an envelope written on Urbana Beach Hotel stationery.

In the envelope was a letter containing the salutation "Dear Mary." The contents of the letter were withheld.

After Miss Sperry and Miss Skinner had identified the articles police announced that they would be permitted to leave. They then left the District Building.

TARIFF CONFERENCE NEARS END OF WORK

Port Courtesy Amendment Inserted by Senate Is Eliminated.

CASEIN DUTY IS RAISED

(Associated Press.)

Paving the way for consideration today of the controversial administrative clauses, the conferees on the tariff bill yesterday agreed upon the higher Senate duty on casein, restoring all countervailing rate provisions and eliminated a Senate amendment which would have abolished the "courtesy of the port" privileges of returning American officials.

In addition, the higher rates on watches agreed upon last week were pared down considerably by the tariff adjusters to make certain that they would not go beyond the limits of the rates of the two houses and thereby be subject to points of order when the conference report is taken up on the flooor.

Meanwhile, the tariff controversy was taken to the Senate floor by Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, who braved an admonition from Vice President Curtis and dubbed Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the House Republican leader, the "water boy for this Wall street committee which calls itself the Republican national committee."

Tilson States Preference.

When Representative Tilson was informed of the remarks of Senator Brookhart, he observed that he would "rather be a water boy than nothing." Asked if he had anything further to say, the House Republican leader said that such a statement deserved no further reply.

Senator Pittman (Democrat), Nevada, also took the Senate floor for a denunciation of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., which, he said, had carried a "violent and hypocritical" editorial in its magazine, the Engineering and Mining Journal, against a silver tariff.

Pittman, author of the Senate amendment placing a duty of 30 cents an ounce on silver, now on the free list, said the McGraw-Hill concern was "one of those companies engaged in lobbying for the big interests of the country."

The countervailing provisions put back in the bill are in existing law. They permit the levying of dutes on automobiles, cement, coal, wood pulp, printing paper, bicycles and a number of other commodities when imported from countries maintaining tariffs on smilar products of American make.

Eliminate Baggage Bar.

The duty accepted on casein, a skimmed milk product used in the finishing of paper, was 5½ cents a pound as fixed by the Senate. The present rate, undisturbed by the House, is 2½ cents.

After some humorous exchanges the conferees agreed to eliminate the provision abolishing the custom of granting port courtesies, free entry, and baggage inspection preferences to Government officials, senators and representatives returning home from foreign missions.

The effect of the changes made in the watch paragraphs will be to reduce the duty previously agreed upon for cheaper watches and to leave present rates in effect on the high-priced timepieces. Increases, however, remain on the chaper watches.

Sugar Rate Left.

The conferees retained the existing rate of 60 per cent on cigarette books, book covers and cigarette paper of all kinds except cork paper, which the Senate had placed on the free list.

Settlement of this and the casein rate left only the sugar, cement, lumber, shingles and silver levies undecided. All of these are expected to be voted upon in the House before final conference action.

Some effort was made yesterday to have the conferees make a partial report on the rate agreements before taking up the administrative sections, but it was decided to complete the adjustment of differences in the entire measure before reporting to the Senate and House.

Edna Purviance Loses $4,500 in Gem Theft

Honolulu, April 18 (A.P.).—Police said today they were holding two persons suspected of stealing $11,300 worth of jewelery early wednesday from a house here occupied by Miss Edna Purviance, motion picture actress, and two California women.

Miss Purviance reported she lost a watch and two rings valued at $4,500. Mrs. Mable Arnold said she was robbed of two rings worth $5,300, and Mrs. H. H. Helbush lost a pin valued at $1,500.

der to safety and called the rescue squad.

Firemen from Engine House No. 20 were the first to arrive on the scene. Descending into the sewer without a gas mask, Fireman E. E. Davis rescued three of the boys before he was almost overcome by the fumes. Firemen W. A. Walker, R. G. Madert, Capt. R. G. Tegeler, Sergt. Floyd C. Hancock and others crawled into the main and dragged the remaining boy to the street.

Equipment from the two downtown rescue squads and the station on Fourteenth street arrived on the scene with the auxiliary wagon and apparatus from three fire stations. Fully 5,000 excited people thronged the block as firemen equipped with gas masks searched the main for three blocks on each side of the manhole.

Several parents with sons unaccounted for stood by with anxious faces until the searchers announced that all the lads were out.

At Georgetown Hospital, where the boys were taken, it was announced that all had been revived, and that no serious rerults were feared unless pneumonia developed.

It was said that the boys had been entering the sewer regularly on exploring trips.

Mrs. Ira Robinson Expires in Capital

Wife of Member of Radio Commission Dies in Hotel.

Mrs. Ada Sinsel Robinson, 60 years old, wife of Judge Ira E. Robinson, member of the Federal Radio Commission and its chairman until several weeks ago, died early yesterday morning at her apartment at the Burlington Hotel after a lingering illness.

Judge Robinson and a surviving daughter, Miss Ada May Robinson, left with the body late last night for the family home at Grafton, W Va., where funeral services and interment will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Robinson was born in Grafton and moved to Washington a number of years ago with her husband, formerly a member of the West Virginia Supreme Court and Republican nominee for governor in that State in 1916.

Besides her husband and daughter, she also is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Frank J. Sellers, of Mansfield, Ohio; Miss Mary H. Sinsel and Miss Abbie T. Sinsel, of Grafton.

Recount Provided On Census Errors

Five-Day Period Allowed to Apply for Checking of Discrepancies.

(Associated Press.)

Any town, ward or precinct believing that census takers have not made an accurate and complete job will have a chance this year to get something done about it right away.

After announcement of preliminary population figures in each community, any citizen wishing to complain will have five days in which to demand a hearing from the local supervisor. If the latter finds the complaints substantiated he is authorized to order a check or recount of the population.

In the past preliminary figures were given out in Washington after the enumerators had been paid off. The new plan was adopted this year specifically to deal quickly with complaints and to provide an opportunity for checking the work of enumerators. City officials and civic organizations particularly interested in the census results have been advised of the opportunities extended them under the five-day plan.

Employe of Navy Yard Badly Injured in Crash

Wilbur Morse, 28 years old, a Navy Yard employe, of 3115 Thirty-fourth street, Mount Rainier, Md., was seriously injured yesterday afternoon at Ninth and E streets southeast when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an automobile driven by James R. Cox, 16 years old of Potomac avenue, near Ives place southeast.

Morse was taken to Casualty Hospital, where he was reported suffering from severe lacerations of the skull, face and abdominal wall, and possible internal injuries. Cox was taken in custody by Fifth Precinct police and released to his parents pending the outcome of Morse's condition.

York Family to Get $96 Monthly From U.S.

The family of Lamar Watson Work, Federal Prohibition Agent, will receive $96.25 a month for herself and two children until she dies or remarries under the terms of the Federal Employes' compensation act, it was announced yesterday by the United States Employes' Compensation Commission.

The widow of the slain dry officer is entitled to $61.25 a month and each of her children to $17.50 under the scale of the law. The commission has been advised by the Prohibition Bureau that the claim will be forwarded in a few days.

DAYTON CHALLENGES GRAND JURY DETAILS

HELD IN KILLING OF GIRL

Declaring that the District grand jury is preparing to consider a charge of murder against him in connection with the slaying of Marjorie O'Donnell last October at the Roosevelt Hotel, Dexter Churchill Dayton, the girl's confessed slayer, yesterday challenged the array of the inquisitorial body.

Dayton already is under an indictment charging first-degree murder, but due to the fact that the October grand jury which indicted him contained in its membership a woman pensioner of the United States, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover has decided to have the present grand jury reconsider the matter. Witnesses in the case have been called for appearance before the grand jury and Dayton asserts that he fears that if he waits until after an indictment is returned to attack the legality of the grand jury he will be too late.

Dayton is represented by Attorneys Ring and Cobb. Through them he questions the method of drawing the grand jury, the act of Congress permitting women to accept or decline jury service and the right of members of that sex to serve on inquisitorial bodies.

Miss O'Donnell was found dead at the hotel last October 7 when Dayton early in the morning aroused a bell boy and apprised him that he had killed his sweetheart. He is alleged to have contemplated suicide, but after praying for hours over her dead body asked that the police be called. He claimed to have been in a drunken stupor when he strangled the girl, according to the police.

Women Voters Elect Convention Delegates

The District League of Women Voters will send three delegates and three alternates to the biennial convention of the national organization at Louisville, Ky., April 28 to May 3. The convention is to mark the first decade of woman's suffrage and the tenth birthday of the league.

The Washington delegates are Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, president of the District League; Mrs Edna L. Johnston and Mrs Frank H. Snell; and the alternates, Miss Grace Abbott, Mrs. Clara Beyers and Miss Ethel B. Ketcham. Mrs. Harris T. Baldwin, of Washington, will lead a discussion on the tariff bill. Work for the next two years will be mapped out at the convention.

Ralph Capone's Wealth Is Cited

Brother of 'Scarface' Deposited $1,851,840 in 5 Years, Records Show.

Chicago, April 18 (A.P.).—The portrait Ralph Capone's counsel painted of a "poor race-horse man" was retouched by Government witnesses today to show a magnate of the beer vending trade with bank deposits nearing the $2,000,000 mark.

Second in age and notoriety of the four Capone brothers, he deposited a total of $1,851,840 in the Pinkert State Bank of Cicero in the period from January 1, 1924, to April 22, 1929, according to evidence given in Federal court by Archie A. Martin, special Government agent. Clearing house sheets supported his testimony.

Other witnesses, introduced as the Government closed its case against Caponi, told of the half dozen aliases under which he kept his various bank accounts. He is charged with violating the income tax laws, a charge his better known brother, "Scarface" Alphonse, Chicago gang boss, likewise faces.

COPELAND CHANGES WORLD COURT STAND

New York Senator States He Can Not Agree With Root Formula.

ONCE URGED ADHERENCE

(Associated Press.)

Opposition to the modified proposal for American adherence to the world court about to be submitted to the Senate by President Hoover was announced in an address over the radio last night by Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, who voted three years ago for adherence.

The New York Democrat, whose break from the fold of world court adherence in the Senate leaves the margin for ratification of the new protocol very slim, stated that he could not accept modification of the Senate's reservation as worked out by Elihu Root and approved by other world powers.

Other powers refused to accept the Senate's reservation against advisory opinions. Elihu Root, in company with other international jurists, drafted a modified reservation. President Hoover has indorsed it.

War Danger Is Seen.

Explaining that, under the Root formula, the only way the United States could prevent the world court from delivering an advisory opinion on questions in which this country had an interest, would be to withdraw from the court, Dr. Copeland asserted that instead of making for peace this might lead to war.

The Senate reservation which would be substituted by this proposal would have prevented the court from delivering such an opinion without the consent of this Government.

"I can readily imagine," Dr. Copeland said, "that certain foreign statesmen would stay up nights to formulate distressing and annoying questions to submit to a court made up of judges of their own selection."

Equivalent to Ejection.

If this country withdrew under the Root plan, he asserted it would be "equivalent to ejection."

"That would arouse our people to resentment," he added. "Rightly or wrongly we should feel even less kindly toward the League of Nations that took sides against us and proceeded to submit an issue to the court." The other parties also, he said, would not be well disposed toward this country.

On the other hand Dr. Copeland contended that using the influence of the United States and its threat to withdraw to prevent action by the court would "not be decent. It would be the act of a bully."

"I am not willing," he said, "and, on due consideration, you will not be willing, to make kindly Uncle Sam the bully of the nations."

Buried-Alive Story Brings Indictment

Woman Accused of Slander Against Husband of Alleged Victim.

Grayson, Ky., April 18 (A.P.).—Prosecuting Attorney Tom Yates announced today that Mrs. George B. Clay, of Catlettsburg, Ky., has been indicted by a Carter County grand jury on a charge of circulating false reports in connection with the report that Mrs. Susie Vickers, 63, may have been buried alive. The warrant had not been served late today.

The alleged slander was against the husband of Mrs. Vickers, the prosecuting attorney said. Mrs. Clay and Mrs. Hounchell Johnson, both of Catlettsburg, had informed Circuit Judge G. W. Wolford they were of the opinion that Mrs. Vickers had been buried alive without the services of an undertaker, and the grand jury had been asked to investigate the charges.

Mrs. Clay and Mrs. Johnson told Judge Wolford they had been informed that at the funeral of Mrs. Vickers moisture was wiped from Mrs. Vickers' face twice. They also said she was subject to fainting spells and would remain in a coma for some time.

The two women formerly employed Mrs. Vickers.

Tax Appeal Right Is Given Executor

Order Forbidding Substitution of Plaintiffs Is Released.

The United States Board of Tax Appeals has released an order in the case of James Duggan vs. Commissioner of Internal Revenue which holds that the board does not have the power to substitute an executor as the petitioner in cases where a taxpayer appeals to the board for a redetermination of his tax liability and dies while the proceeding was pending.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue determined that Duggan, of Miami Beach, Fla., was liable for a deficiency in tax of $316,488.71 as the transferee of the assets of the Johnson City & Big Muddy Coal & Mining Co. Duggan appealed to the board, but died while the case was pending.

Thereafter, upon the request of the commissioner, the executor was substituted for the petitioner by order of the board. A motion to vacate this order was made by Robert Ash and T. J. Reilly, Washington attorneys.

Father and Children Hurt in Auto Mishap

Injuries were received by a father and his two children yesterday afternoon when an automobile driven by the parent collided with another machine at Rhode Island avenue and Tenth street northwest. The mother of the children and a baby she was holding were uninjured.

Those injured were: John Raines, 58 years old, of 113 Elm avenue Takoma Park, the father, and Alta May Raines, 15 year old, and Viola Raines, 12 years old. All three received lacerations from flying glass. They were treated at Emergency Hospital. The driver of the other car was Louise W. Miller, of 1205 Fifteenth street northwest, Second Precinct police reported. The Raines machine was severely damaged.

RIVER PROJECT FUND SET AT $111,000,000

Items for North Carolina, Maryland and Virginia Approved by Group.

LAST DRAFT ON MONDAY

(Associated Press.)

An outlay of $111,000,000 is called for in an uncompleted rivers and harbors omnibus bill being formulated by the House rivers and harbors committee for introduction Monday. The House has set aside next Friday for consideration of the measure which carries provisions for river and harbor development in more than half the States.

The committee is to meet today to complete the final draft, which Chairman Dempsey is expected to introduce Monday. However, reductions in amounts called for by the Army board of engineers for the development of various projects have been made by the committee following an announcement to its members by Chairman Dempsey that the total authorization much greater than $100,000,000 would not meet the approval of President Hoover.

Despite the admonition from Chairman Dempsey the committee yesterday inserted into the bill an item calling for an outlay of $3,615,000 for the reconstruction of three dams and locks on the Allegheny River above Pittsburgh, Pa. It also set aside $400,000 for the restoration of a lock on the Chesapeake and Albemarle Canal in Virginia and North Carolina, provided local interests furnish $100,000 for the work which is proposed to protect marine and bird life of that region.

The committee approved items of $12,000 for a waterway between Tangier Sound and Cheapeake Bay, Md., and $6,300 for Rockhole Creek, Md.

The restoration of a tidal guard lock in the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal, in Virginia and North Carolina, Representative Warren (Democrat), North Carolina, said climaxed a five-year fight for the project. He asserted, however, he had disagreed with the clause requiring local contribution, contending the guard lock had been removed by Army Engineers and should be restored entirely by the Government.

The Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal was constructed in 1854, and in 1912 was purchased by the Government as part of the inland waterway. Removal of the guard lock allowed a flow of salt and polluted water from Chesapeake Bay and Norfolk Harbor into the fresh waters of Back Bay, Va., and Currituck Sound, N. C.

Suspect Arrested In Gem Robbery

Man Wanders Into Trap Set for Author of Letter to Mrs. Von Buelow.

Chicago, April 18 (A.P.).—A letter offering to return for $5,000 the jewelry valued at $50,000 stolen from Mrs. Lottie Brenner von Buelow, resulted today in the arrest of Edwin Benson, 43, unemployed bricklayer.

The letter set a rendezvous in the far South Side for the exchange of jewelry and cash. Police were watching the spot and Benson wandered into their trap. He denied all knowledge of the robbery.

Mrs. von Buelow's North Shore home was held up by three men March 31. Her husband, Enrique von Buelow, was trussed up with the woman and her servants. She was suing him for divorce and he was there to bid her good-by. When police called him in for questioning, she came to his defense and then withdrew her suit. A few days ago she filed another.

Jury Awards Veteran $7,500, Monthly Sum

A circuit court jury before Justice Jennings Bailey yesterday, ordered the Veterans' Bureau to pay Harvey H. Wiltman, a World War veteran, $7,500 in accrued benefits and $57.50 a month as long as his disability continues. The bureau indicated that an appeal would be made.

Wiltman enlisted in the Army in May, 1918, and was discharged June, 1919, with a surgeon's certificate of disability. His efforts to force the Government to pay him under the terms of his war risk insurance have been in the court for many years. Attorneys Robert H. McNeill and Warren E. Miller appear for the veteran.

Ohio Dry Leader's Home Shaken by Bomb Blast

Ashtabula, Ohio, April 18 (A.P.).—Police tonight were searching for a clew to the persons who today bombed the home of M. C. Robinson, prominent prohibition leader here. Robinson said his only possible enemies were unidentified antiprohibitionists.

None was injured in the explosion but the walls and foundations of the residence were damaged, and several windows broken. The damage was estimated at $300. Police said the bomb had been made of dynamite with a fuse attached. It had been planted near a cellar window. The blast rocked the structure and aroused the occupants.

Catholic Rites to Note End of Lenten Season

In Catholic churches of the District today ending of the Lenten season will be marked by intonation of the "Gloria" during high mass, when bells will be rung to note termination of the fasting period. Bells in the Catholic churches have been silenced since the "Gloria" was intoned at mass on Thursday.

Other features of the Catholic service today include blessing and distribution of holy water, lighting of the Paschal candle, and hearing of confessions during the afternoon and evening in preparation for reception of Holy Communion at the Easter masses.

Bank System Inquiry Asked By Committ

(Associated Press.)

Investigation by the Senate of the banking system was recommended yesterday by the Senate banking committee and the resolution of inquiry will be presented next week by its sponsor, Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, along with a comprehensive bill proposing widespread changes in the national banking act and the Federal Reserve System.

One of the purposes of the resolution is an inquiry into the use of Federal Reserve facilities and national banking facilities in stock speculation. One provision of the Glass bill is to curb the use of these facilities in such transactions.

"Dog Gone"...

...but Found Again

"Collie," a beautiful white collie, lifted his pink snout, sensed something in the air, and decided to embark on some sort of exploration. Distances are deceiving, even for dogs and "Collie" was soon far removed from his comfortable home with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cummings in Cummings Lane, Chevy Chase, Maryland.

While "Collie" stopped to get his bearings, a good Samaritan noted his predicament, took him in tow, and followed a wise impulse to look over the "Lost and Found" ads in the morning Post.

Sure enough, there was a "lost" ad announcing "Collie's" unusual conduct, and in very short order he was returned home, joyfully seeking forgiveness from his mistress, while the stranger went upon his way with a substantial reward.

French Airplane May Race Graf Zeppelin Across Sea

Dirigible, on 96-Hour Trip to Rio Janeiro, Will Be Given Handicap Over Mail Plane Which Makes Trip in Three Days.

Rio Janeiro, April 18 (A.P.).—An international air-mail race between an airship and an airplane from Europe to Rio Janeiro is in prospect for the early days of May.

The Graf Zeppelin will leave Friedrichshafen, Germany, at a date in May to be fixed later, for her long scheduled South American flight, carrying mail and passengers. A day later an airplane of the French Aero-Postale Co. will leave Paris for the first all-air transport of mail from France to South America.

Experts here estimate that the Graf Zeppelin will take at least 96 hours to make the distance, while the regular air mail from Paris should reach Rio in 72 hours.

The French airplane will make the first flight across the south Atlantic Ocean with mail from Dakar, Senegal, to Port Natal, Brazil. Jean Mermoz, veteran French pilot, who recently broke a world endurance record in a hydroairplane, will be at the controls and will fly the hydroairplane with which he ma his record.

On arriving at Port Natal the South American mail will be transferred to a land plane. Mermoz will pick up the return mail for Europe, which, according to schedule, will arrive at Paris before the Graf Zeppelin reaches Lakehurst, N. J.

Suspension Announced By Los Angeles Air Line

Los Angeles, Calif., April 18 (A.P.). Pickwick airways division of the Pickwick stages system announced today an indefinite suspension of the air line between Los Angeles and Mexico City effective next Tuesday.

The action, Pickwick officials said, is being taken pending the awards of a United States foreign air mail contract. This contract probably will not be announced for some time.

MINE FACTIONS WAR, WOUNDING SIX MEN

CONSTABLE SHOT IN LEG

Royalton, Ill., April 18 (A.P.).—A constable and five miners were wounded, one seriously, in a shooting affray on the main street between two rival mine factions here today. Approximately 25 shots were fired at random, a man was shoved through a plate glass window, rocks were thrown and numerous blackjacks and clubs wielded.

The most seriously hurt was Barney Davis, a miner of Ziegler, who was taken to the Ziegler hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen. The others wounded are Constable John Hicks, of Royalton, scalp laid open and a bullet wound in the right leg; Adam Ivanich, miner, of Royalton, flesh wound in leg; Roy Groves, miner, of West Frankfort, flesh wound; Ray Edmondson, miner, of Zeigler, shot through hand, and Tony Bosich, miner, of Zeigler, shot in shoulder.

It was expected that Marion M. Hart, Franklin County State's attorney, will apply for warrants in the case, while Adolph Germer, of Mount Olive, vice president of the insurgent group of the United Mine Workers of America, declared his attorneys would make charges, how sweeping he could not say tonight.

Officer Beaten Up.

Germer, who was beaten up, was scheduled to address a meeting here this afternoon with Alexander Howatt, president of the insurgent group. The trouble arose when Germer and Howatt got out of their automobile to go to the hall.

According to Germer, Edmondson, whom he described as a paid agent of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, had led more than 50 automobile loads of Lewis adherents from Zeigler and West Frankfort to break up the Howat-Germer meeting.

As Germer got out of the car, he said Edmondson approached him and said, "There'll be no meeting here today."

"By whose authority," Germer asked.

"By mine," Edmondson was said to have replied, and, according to Germer, yelled at his followers, "Let him have it."

Signal for Shooting.

Germer said he was attacked by a group of nearly a dozen men, and, as the affray started, a number of women, who had expected to attend the meeting, ran to safety.

The attack on Germer was a signal for the shooting and the general melee, which officials said, included about 500 men.

Constable Hicks was attacked when he attempted to restore order, but, after the shooting, Lewis adherents fled homeward.

State's Attorney Hart and Sheriff Pritchard, who came from Benton with reports of the trouble, said they passed more than 50 cars on the road. Howat and Germer addressed the meeting after Royalton quieted down.

SHEPARD INDICTED IN DEATH OF WIFE

IS IN JAIL AT DENVER

for a pretty 23-year-old stenographer, Miss Grace Brandon, of San Antonio, Tex.

Held in jail at Denver since his arrest there last month, the Army officer will be returned to Kansas after removal orders are approved by the Federal district court of Colorado.

Bond was fixed at $20,000. Maj. Shepard has remained in jail at Denver, although the court there had agreed to his release in $25,000 bond and later reduced the amount to $17,500 pending action by the grand jury.

He will be tried by a jury of Kansans, but Maj. Shepard's life will be at stake. The State long ago abolished capital punishment but under Federal statutes the death sentence is mandatory in event of conviction, unless the jury recommends life imprisonment. The Government took jurisdiction because the alleged crime occurred on Government property.

Reiterating his innocence, the Army officer declared in his cell at Denver that he was ready to fight the charge in court.

"The story the grand jury heard at Topeka is one told by Government witnesses," said counsel for the defendant. "Maj. Shepard will be able to present his story at the trial."

Miss Brandon was one of the chief witnesses questioned by the grand jury. Department of Justice agents said the girl had no actual knowledge of the death of Mrs. Shepard, but testimony concerning attentions paid her by the elderly major are relied upon to establish a motive for the alleged poisoning.

Maj. Shepard met Miss Brandon, a stenographer, at Brooks Field, San Antonio, while he was temporarily on duty there in 1928. He has admitted proposing marriage to her eight months after his 37-year-old wife died at Fort Riley.

Poison was found in the viscera of Mrs. Shepard after an autopsy was performed at Fort Riley over the protest of her husband. She had been treated by Shepard until authorities of the fort ordered her sent to the hospital a few days before her death.

Department of Justice agents are investigating the death of Maj. Shepard's first wife in California in 1913 following a report by her brother at Needles, Calif., that she died "under mysterious circumstances" while Shepard was enamored of another woman.

Girls' Home Plans For Celebration

Several Speakers Are to Appear on Program During Day.

"Home-Coming Day" will be observed at the Florence Crittenton Home, 4759 Conduit road northwest, today, with Mrs. Reba Barrett Smith, general superintendent of the National Florence Crittenton Mission, as the speaker. Today's meeting is sponsored by the Florence Circle, of which Mrs. Frederic H. Kerby is president, in commemoration of the birth of Florence Crittenton, who died at the age of 4 years. Her father, Charles N. Crittenton, founded the first home 48 years ago.

Miss Jean S. Cole, superintendent of the local home, will talk on "The Educational Fund." This fund is to assist girls in the home to complete their education, and upon leaving the home, help them to become established with their babies. Florence Day is celebrated each year at the home when contributions for the funds are received from individuals, circles and the girls who have gone out from the home. During March there were 48 girls and babies in the home.

Mrs. Allard Gasque, Mrs. Ruth Hansford Snodgrass, president of the Housekeepers Alliance; Miss Mary Holmes, of the Tillery Renshaw School of Expression, and Miss Irma Briggs, of the Lyon School of Music, are on the program for the afternoon.

POLICEMAN'S TRIAL DELAYED FOR WEEK

Gravely Hearing Postponed Because of Illness of Complainant.

MAY NOT TESTIFY AT ALL

Trial of Spotswood F. Gravely, suspended Third Precinct detective, scheduled for yesterday in Police Court, was postponed when it developed that James Crotts, of Lexington, N. C., the complaining witness in the case, is still confined to Casualty Hospital. Gravely is charged with assault in connection with the shooting several weeks ago of Crotts. The case went over for a week.

Immediately afterward Gravely left for Danville, Va., where it is understood his father is critically ill. It was stated that the suspended detective received word of his father's critical condition while in the courthouse waiting to go on trial.

Raymond Neudecker, attorney for Crotts, announced after the continuance of the case had been granted that even if his client had been able to appear in court he would not have been permitted to testify against Gravely. Any testimony given by Crotts in Police Court could be used against him in his pending trial in District Supreme Court on an indictment charging him, John Elgin and Ardie Swortzel with conspiracy to extort, according to Mr. Neudecker.

No effort has been made to nolle prosse the charge against Gravely, and Assistant United States Attorney Charles B. Murray advised Mr. Neudecker to declare his views on the case when it is called for trial next Friday.

Crotts was shot several weeks ago by Gravely when the detective and his former partner, Detective W. F. Burke, were dispatched to a house in the Northwest section to investigate a reported hold-up. Subsequent investigation of the shooting for a time threatened to reveal a gigantic police scandal.

Swortzel, who is indicted with Crotts and Elgin, also is a policeman and is now suspended pending his trial on the indictment. Gravely also faces charges before the Trial Board.

Salvation Army Event Will Be Open to Public

Commissioner William A. McIntyre, in charge of the Southern Territory of the Salvation Army, with Mrs. McIntyre, will arrive today to preside at the "Golden Jubilee Congress", the annual gathering of young people and young people's workers of the Salvation Army, which will be held at the Salvation Army Temple, 606 E street northwest today and tomorrow. One of the big features of the meeting will be the young people's demonstration tomorrow night, which will be open to the public.

Today's visit marks the last appearance of Commissioner and Mrs. McIntyre as heads of the Southern Territory, the commissioner having been transferred to command of the Salvation Army of the Central States, with headquarters at Chicago.

Athlete-Murderer To Serve 21 Years

Young Wife of Victim Is Also Given Prison Sentence.

Batesville, Ark., April 18 (A.P.).—An affair between a high school athlete and the young wife of a village merchant tonight brought prison sentences to both for the slaying of the woman's husband.

J. P. Barber, 22, former star basket ball and football player at Batesville High School, was convicted of second degree murder today for the slaying of Maurice Osborne, a merchant at Cord, near here. The jury fixed his sentence at 21 years' imprisonment. Osborne's widow, Norma, 23, previously had been sentenced to nine years' imprisonment in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband in their home last July 1.

Barber, who had been missing since the night of the slaying until his capture in Kentucky a few weeks ago, said on the witness stand that he shot Osborne, but claimed he did so in self defense. He also told of intimacies with Mrs. Osborne, but said he had never loved her.

Mrs. Osborne, who is at liberty under bond pending appeal to the supreme court, testified that Barber had gained her consent to the killing of her husband and sought to induce her to leave with him. This Barber denied.

Alienist to Examine Girl "Thrill" Firebug

Belleville, Ill., April 18 (A.P.).—Authorities announced today that three alienists are to be named to determine the mental condition of Miss Florence Jenks, 20 years old, a stenographer, who has confessed she started six fires in the Belleville Stove & Range Co., where she was employed "for the thrill of it." One of the fires caused $60,000 damage.

The young woman also has admitted, officers said, that she stole money from the office and destroyed stamps and important correspondence.

State's Attorney Lindauer said Miss Jenks showed no remorse in admitting her misdeeds. He quoted her as saying: "I was overcome with intense excitement on such occasions and felt the urge to destroy something. After I set a fire or stole something I felt better."

SON OF BISHOP HELD AS DRUNKEN SLAYER

James Maxon, Jr., Sobers Up to Find Himself Accused of Killing Old Man.

AUTHOR OF THRILLERS

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—James Matthew Maxon, jr., 21, an Episcopal bishop's son who aspired to be a writer of detective stories, tonight found himself in a predicament quite as ominous as any he had ever devised himself with vicarious thrills for characters in his fictional plots.

White and shaky as the alcohol gradually cleared from his muddled brain, young Maxon, son of Bishop James Maxon, of Chattanooga, bishop coadjutor of Tennessee, sat in an uptown police station, accused by fellow boarders of having killed, while in a drunken frenzy in the night, a shabby old man whom he had never seen before.

The boy ran amuck, they said, in the cheap brownstone rooming house on West End avenue, where he had lived only a few days, chased the landlady and the other lodgers all over the place, and finally beat the life out of David Paynter, 73, who, despite the frailty of his years, had had the courage to stand up against him.

Roomer Tells of Attack.

One of the roomers, who said he had fled in terror before the young man's fury, told police that through a window he saw Maxon knock the old man down and then bring a chair crashing down over his head. With the wreckage of the chair lying about him, Paynter was dead when police arrived.

Maxon, who earlier in the day had appeared lightly impressed by his plight, police said, and had only said reproachfully: "It's not good sportsmanship to question a man while he's drunk," grew more and more serious as the afternoon wore on. Smoking many cigarettes and drinking water in huge gulps, he sat in the station while police and men from the district attorney's office waited for him to sober up.

"I suppose if I didn't drink—if I hadn't been drinking—I wouldn't be in the predicament I'm in now," he told a police inspector.

Did Not Kill, He Asserts.

Then he protested that he had not killed Paynter—that he couldn't have killed Paynter.

"I had no reason to kill him," he said to an assistant district attorney. "I had nothing against him. I couldn't have killed him. I know I didn't."

As he grew more sober, young Maxon said he had been drinking with the landlady, Mrs. Rose Hickey, and some of the other lodgers in her apartment, but had gone up to his room and was working over a detective story when he heard an argument downstairs. He said he went down, and, as he entered Mrs. Hickey's apartment, somebody hit him with a plate. There followed a general battle, he said, during which he was more or less dazed.

Littleton to Defend Him.

Several young men, students in the school of Journalism at Columbia University, where Maxon registered last fall, called to see him at the police station late today and it was announced that Marvin W. Littleton had been retained by friends of Bishop Maxon to protect the boy's interests. He is to be arraigned tomorrow. No charges had been filed as yet.

Maxon told the police that he had worked on several newspapers in the South and for the City Press Association in Chicago. He had left Columbia, he said, and of late had been trying to find a newspaper job in New York, and had been writing detective stories which he was unable to sell.

Husband Is Held As Wife Expires

Doctor Says Pneumonia, Not Beating, Caused Her Death.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 18 (A.P.).—Mrs. Margaret McNamara, who police believed to have been beaten to death, died from double pneumonia and not from wounds, R. R. Killinger, county medical examiner, announced today following an autopsy. Joseph B. McNamara, her husband, who was arrested by police last night on suspicion, still was in jail tonight.

Questioned by police today McNamara declared he had not struck his wife, and that wounds on her body must have been inflicted by a fall. When told that his wife had said he had beaten her, McNamara said, "She is talking out of her head. She's been so sick."

McNamara was then told by County Detective Fred King that his wife died last night. It was the first he knew of her death.

Wife Confesses Slaying Husband

Spent Night Beside Body, She Tells Attorney in Statement.

Chicago, April 18 (A.P.).—After staying all night in the home in which her slain husband was found, Mrs. Belle Irene Chenoweth, 39, surrendered to police today. A coroner's jury recommended she be held on charges of murdering Claude Chenoweth, 42. Police said they had searched all night for the woman.

She appeared at the office of an attorney late Thursday and told him, he said, she had slain her husband. A friend visiting the house at the request of the attorney, came upon Chenoweth's body sprawled on the floor. According to Frank Zeleski, the attorney, Mrs. Chenoweth told him she slew her husband Wednesday and stayed alone in the home with the body Wednesday night.

She did not testify concerning the shooting at the inquest.

Tug Captain Is Blamed In Crash Fatal to Eight

Portland, Oreg., April 18 (A.P.).—Federal steamboat inspectors announced today that Capt. Jack Mitchell, of the tug Dix, had been charged with negligence in connection with the collision of the pleasure barge Swan and the coastwise steamer Davenport, in the Columbia River last March 29 with a loss of eight lives. Mitchell, skipper of the tug which towed the barge, will be tried April 25.

The pleasure barge, en route from Longview, Wash., to Vancouver, Wash., collided at night with the Davenport off St. Helens, Oreg. Scores were thrown into the river.

DISBARMENT SOUGHT FOR R. G. DONALDSON

Robertson Construction Co. for services in obtaining contracts from the Smith Co. for the erection of one Washington and two Pittsburgh, Pa., buildings.

This alleged act, according to the grievance committee, made him guilty of "malpractice, professional misconduct, and of conduct rendering him unfit to be a member of the bar and unworthy of the confidence of the court, of his clients and of the public."

Acting Chief Justice Frederick L. Siddons immediately after the committee's report was filed ordered that a copy of the proceedings be served on Donaldson. He has 20 days in which to file an answer, after which it is probable he will be placed on trial before all the justices of the court sitting in a general term.

Donaldson was admitted to the District Bar on December 23, 1898, according to the report of the committee, which is composed of C. F. R. Ogilby, Michael M. Doyle, J. Wilmer Latimer and G. Bowdoin Craighill.

A few minutes before the filing of the charges, the court was asked to name a receiver for the Jefferson Corporation and the Jefferson Apartments, Inc., of Twelfth and M street northwest. Miss Grace Cauldwell, of 1519 Oak street northwest, through Attorney W. Gwynn Gardiner, filed the petition, setting out that she owns one of the first mortgage bonds on the apartment building.

Miss Cauldwell also requests the court to require the F. H. Smith Co. to deliver all moneys which it has collected since December 20, 1929, on account of interest payments on the bonds of the apartment.

G. Bryan Pitts, former chairman of the Smith Co.; Henry C. Maddox, of Washington; John R. Thomas, of New York City; Charles H. Wiltsie, of Rochester, N. Y., and the Southern Maryland Trust Co., are named as codefendants in the petition.

Miss Cauldwell, in her petition, reviews litigation that has involved the Smith Co. recently and alleges that the security of the bonds is jeopardized by the attendant publicity. She also charges that while the apartment property is appraised at $625,025, it has mortgages on it of more than $1,000,000.

A Buffalo, N. Y., court on Thursday placed the Smith Co. in the hands of receivers. Pitts and other officers of the company also have been recently charged with conspiracy to embezzle $5,000,000 of the company's funds. In addition, Pitts is charged with embezzling $1,136,000.

$80,000 Bail Holds Alleged Jewel Thief

Newton, Mass., April 18 (A.P.).—Fred G. Hughes, 47, of Chicago, was held in bonds of $80,000 for the grand jury after a hearing in district court today on charges of breaking and entering in four counts.

Police, after having arrested Hughes on suspicion Wednesday night, recovered a large quantity of allegedly stolen jewelry in the room in a Boston hotel.

44 in Soviet Trial Repent Activities

Recantation May Enable Defendants to Avoid Death Penalty.

Kharkov, U. S. S. R., April 18 (A.P.).—Prof. Serge Efremov, former president of the Ukrainian Academy of Sciences, and 44 other defendants on trial here for counter-revolutionary activities, expressed repentance today for their attempts to reestablish the capitalistic regime in the Ukraine.

Former Premier Chekhovsky and ex-Foreign Minister Nikovsky, members of the government set up by Gen. Simon Petlura in 1919, were among them.

They also declared they were willing to work sincerely for the success of the Soviet administration. In the light of this recantation, the death sentences that are normally the punishment in such cases will probably be withheld and the defendants sentenced to various terms of imprisonment.

Agricultural Writer Gains Government Post

John R. Fleming, of Ohio State University, has been appointed a special agricultural writer for the Department of Agriculture, according to announcement yesterday by M. S. Eisenhower, director of information. He will report for duty May 1.

Mr. Fleming was graduated in 1922 from Cornell University with a bachelor of science degree in agricultural journalism, later engaging in newspaper work in Massachusetts. Since 1923 he has been assistant editor of the Office of Publications, Agricultural College Extension Service, Ohio State University.

FAMOUS AERONAUT DEAD IN AIR CRASH

Pilot and Two Others Killed With Count de la Vaulx Over Jersey City.

PLANE HIT LIVE WIRES

ward the tower of the building. As it zoomed nearer, he said, the pilot must have seen the high building looming up before him, for the plane abruptly jerked to the right, only to trip over the slender wires, invisible in the fog.

The eyes of thousands had been trained on the grim outlines of the airship throughout its erratic course. With the pyrotechnic signal of its doom, these watchers made a concerted rush to the spot. They found the splintered wreckage a furnace which even firemen could not approach until its fury was spent. Then there was nothing left but the blackened skeleton of the plane and the charred bodies of its occupants.

All Killed Instantly.

But death was merciful. Investigation of the ruins showed, according to Inspector John Underwood, chief of Jersey City detectives, that Pilot Salway and the passengers had been shocked to death at the first contact with the high-tension wires. The bodies were removed to a nearby morgue pending the arrival of friends and relatives.

From the scraps of clothing that escaped the blaze, the authorities discovered that Count Vaulx had been dressed in evening attire. The famous airman had reserved a room at the St. Regis Hotel, it was learned, and was hurrying here for a dinner engagement.

A baby's shoe also was found in the wreckage, but the only theory for its presence there was that a passenger, probably Mrs. Williams, had carried it as a souvenir.

Pilot British Veteran.

Officials of the Colonial Airways Corporation, which runs a regular service from Montreal to Newark, said tonight that the accident was the first serious one in the history of the company. The plane had left Albany at 3:25 p. m., where Salway had been told that a 900-foot ceiling existed all the way down the Hudson. Apparently the pilot had encountered no trouble until he ran into the impenetrable fog over Jersey City, for otherwise he would have turned back, officials said. The plane was due to arrive at Newark Airport at 5:41 p. m. The crash occurred less than ten minutes earlier.

Salway, it was announced at the office of the Colonial Airways, had flown 2,000 hours and had been on the Albany-Newark run for almost a year.

The pilot was married and lived in Albany with his wife. He was in the British Royal Air Force during the war.

Count de la Vaulx's Career.

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—Count Henri de la Vaulx, killed today in the crash of an airplane at Jersey City, had been prominent as an aeronaut since the beginning of the century.

He was head of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale of France, the world governing body in the matter of air contests, records and other matters pertaining to aviation. The National Aeronautic Association, with headquarters in Washington, is the affiliate of the federation in this country. Count de la Vaulx had been touring the United States for the federation. Last month he announced plans for a flight in May from Brazil to Africa. He recently made an air tour of South America.

About 30 years ago Count de la Vaulx was known as an authority on balloon flights, and lectured in New York in 1904 on ballooning. In the following year he made plans for a balloon flight across the South Pole—a flight which was successfully made recently in an airplane by Rear Admiral Richard Byrd.

Broke Dirigible Record.

In 1906 he broke the then existing record for dirigible flights by remaining in the air above Paris for eight hours. In the year he finished third in the international balloon race for the James Gordon Bennett Cup. He narrowly escaped death in 1907 when an airplane he was flying collapsed in the air. Two years later he suffered a broken leg in a balloon accident at Arles, France.

Count de la Vaulx was a guest at a dinner given in his honor last Monday by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce here. He had planned to leave by airplane tomorrow for Miami and from there was to fly to Havana, San Domingo, and thence to Venezuela, as the first leg of his projected South American tour, which was to precede the flight to Africa.

He was about 63 years old. His last previous visit to the United States was in 1904, when he was entertained here by a number of aviation enthusiasts, among them James Gordon Bennett. During his present visit he was received by President Hoover at the White House.

PERMITS FOR BEER CAUSE OF SUBPENAS

Score Issued in Connection With Alleged Canfield Irregularities.

DRY CHIEF BRIBED, HINT

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—A score of Federal grand jury subpenas were sent out today, preparatory to a thorough search next week for possible irregularities in issuance of a near-beer permit while Palmer Canfield was prohibition administrator at Albany.

The permit was granted to the Columbia County Cereal Beverage Co., Inc., of Hudson, N. Y., which, the Government charged, used it to cloak brewing and distributing of illegal beer.

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle said today the grand jury would begin its investigation Wednesday, not only into the implication that Mr. Canfield received $10,000 or $20,000 in connection with issuance of the permit, but also into other phases of the brewery's activities.

Canfield May Resign.

Dispatches from Washington today said a demand for Mr. Canfield's resignation as special supervisor for the national prohibition enforcement had been made and then withdrawn by the Treasury Department, but his application for a leave of absence had been granted to permit of the grand jury investigation.

Mr. Canfield's name was brought into the case earlier in the week by Joseph E. Walsh, a politician from Newburgh, N. Y., and president of the brewery who appeared as a witness at the Federal trial of the company, and nineteen individuals for conspiracy and violation of the prohibition laws. Eight defendants were convicted.

He said these two told him that the matter was fixed up at a meeting in New York on December 15, 1928, at which Mr. Canfield was present. He said the brewery men told him they laid either $10,000 or $20,000—his memory failed him as to the exact amount—on the table and left the room; when they returned it had "disappeared."

Canfield Denies Allegation.

Mr. Canfield has denied any such "arrangements" and asserted that he was not in New York on the date of the alleged conference.

Mr. Tuttle, asked whether Mr. Canfield would be a witness before the grand jury next week, said he would extend the right to appear to "anyone who wishes to exercise it"—provided only that the person waive immunity.

The brewery trial ended yesterday and the verdict was brought in last night.

Missing Sheriff Mystery Grows

Official's Blood-Stained Automobile Is Found in Swamp Near River.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 18 (A.P.).—Mystery surrounding the disappearance of Sheriff I. K. Horne, of Seminole County, Ga., whose blood-stained automobile was found in a Ocklocknee River swamp near here, deepened tonight. Sheriff's officers of adjoining Georgia and Florida counties conducted a search in the belief that Mr. Horn had met foul play while en route from Donaldsonville, Ga., to Arcadia, Fla., for a prisoner. He has not been seen since he left Donaldsonville last Tuesday.

Meanwhile officers said they were endeavoring to locate the man who first announced discovery of the car. Mr. Gregory said he believed the car had been parked in the swamp for two or three days. At Arcadia, officers said that a warrant was received from Mr. Horn on April 3, asking them to arrest and hold Amos Harlove for alleged liquor law violation in Seminole County, Ga.

He had been unable to locate Harlowe, who was recently employed on a nearby farm and did not know that Mr. Horn had started to Arcadia for the man.

Second Slaying Victim Is Found

Corpse Is Discovered Near Old Mining Camp in Southern Nevada.

Reno, Nev., April 18 (A.P.).—The body of a second murder victim has been found near the old mining camp of Hiko in southern Nevada, Sheriff Charles Culverwell announced today. The sheriff said he believed the body may be that of Joe A. Morlock, sr., of Cleveland, Ohio, who has been missing from his cabin at Hiko since December 23, 1929.

The officer found the body about three miles from an abandoned stable where the body of another man, believed by the sheriff to have been Herbert E. Hulse, mining partner of Morlock, was found last April 10. The second body, found yesterday near a road on which Morlock was building a cabin, was covered with brush.

The coroner from Pioche, Nev., went to the scene today. Hiko is about 70 miles from a railroad.

Ziegfeld Is Sued By Two Writers

He and Others Accused of Plagiarism in Staging "Rio Rita."

New York, April 18 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Florenz Ziegfeld, whose musical comedy production, "Rio Rita," was for many months a best seller, was made a defendant in a suit filed today in Federal court by Elmer T. Walls and Walter J. Weir, writers, who claim the plot was plagiarized from their story, "The Little Captain Kidds."

Others named with Ziegfeld are Guy Bolton and Fred Thompson, authors of "Rio Rita;" George E. Wintz, a producer, and the R. K. O. Productions, Inc., which made a motion picture of the musical play.

Walls is a resident of New York and Weir of Philadelphia. They ask for an injunction and an accounting of all profits received from the production.

Jailer and Whisky Seized.

Rushville, Ill., April 18 (A.P.).—Raiding the Rushville City Jail last night, Sheriff George Thompson seized 2 gallons of whisky and a box of empty whisky bottles. The search was made during the absence of Ed Beatty, the jailer. One gallon of the liquor was found in a cell, the sheriff said. Beatty was [illegible] released on bond.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Songs and Song Pluggers.

Since the coming of the talking picture and songs for the picture, where there were 10 new songs on the counter each month, today there are 50, or even 100, and the song that becomes a hit or even reaches a fair sale must be an unusual song, indeed. That is why good songs are really commercially worthless today. The song must be outstanding and very unusual in order to pay the publisher a profit.

It has been my pleasure to transcribe several old tunes and to see them reach a peak of popularity. By transcribing I mean taking a song which has been a failure in one tempo, revising it in spots and putting it into a more suitable tempo, thus making it twice as acceptable. I did this in the case of "If You Were the Only Girl in the World," which floundered around for twelve years as a fox trot, getting nowhere until I adapted it to waltz tempo. As a waltz it achieved a great success in our picture.

Revised "I Love the Moon."

Likewise I have revised "I Love the Moon," a beautiful English tune with a very pathetic idea, written by a young man who knew that he was dying, and who, in the song, tells of all the things he loves that he knows he has to leave behind him.

In "Me Queres" I tried my hand at translation, and translated the Spanish lyric into English, using my training in the Spanish department at Yale to good advantage.

And in many a song that I have sung on the air I have delighted in making possible a version for men where before there was only a woman's version of the song, as in the case of "Can't We Be Friends?"

And sometimes a change in a word here and a note there has made all the difference in the world. "A Little Kiss Each Morning" originally ended "A little kiss each morning, a little kiss at night." To me "at" was repugnant, and I repeated "each" for the last line and made it "A little kiss each morning, a little kiss each night."

"Then I'll Be Reminded of You" was originally "And I'll Be Reminded of You." To me the "then" was absolutely necessary for the sake of cause and effect, because the lines

"I'll gather some June dreams, I'll search for some moonbeams," lead up to the point where the one who does these things says he will be reminded of his sweetheart, and I think that if you consider the thought of the two phrases you will find that "Then I'll be reminded of you" folows much more logically.

Revives "Local" Songs.

It has been my great delight to bring to light songs which have been forgotten for years and to make them popular with a large audience when they had been sung in one section or locality of the country as a sort of folk song. Such a case was the song "I Love You, I Love You, I Love You, Sweetheart of All My Dreams," which was over five years old and which had been purely localized in Boston and never attracted public attention until we first broadcast it from the Heigh-Ho Club.

But the dance hall public is only a tiny part of the tremendous number reached by one hour's radio broadcast, and today these same song pluggers are instructed to train their guns on the radio orchestra director and not to return without a promise from this director to play one or more of the firm's tunes on a particular broadcast.

Thus it is not unusual for me to find ten or even more individuals, who represent music publishers, waiting for me at my club on broadcasting nights to ask me to broadcast some particular tune.

At the time I write this, surprising as it may seem, the Connecticut Yankees are considered one of the ace broadcasting bets on the air, and it is laughable at times the ways and means whereby these song pluggers seek to gain their point. There are the blunt individuals who come directly to the point and ask me to play such and such a tune, without giving any reason why I should play it. Then there's the opposite type, who avoids the subject entirely and talks of anything but "shop," hoping that the mere sight of him and his refusal to talk "shop," combined with the pleasantries he does exchange, will prevail upon me to feature one of his songs.

Still Deadlier Species.

There is a still deadlier species yet to come. This is the type who spends hours trying to convince me of the merits of a tune that I have probably never even heard and would not care for if I did.

They have stock expressions which they all use. I take a great delight in confounding them with their own expressions, which I have humorously labeled "song plugger's expression number one-two," and so on.

Here are some of their best ones: "The song is beginning to show up."

"Every one who has heard it predicts it as a hit!"

"With you on it, the song can't miss."

"Every big leader has recorded it but you." And since my rise to stardom and the general belief that there is a special type of Rudy Vallee song, one of their pet expressions has been "It's a typical Rudy Vallee song," or when the composer himself is talking to me, "I wrote it just for you."

No Better Than the Songs He Sings.

Realizing that I am no better than the songs I have to sing, that these songs are my means of expression, my tools, my instruments, I try to see personally every song plugger who wishes to see me, even though I may be ready to drop in my tracks from exhaustion. I never know when I might be turning down a tune that fits me.

Although it is considered something to be whispered about, something almost unethical, I must mention the practice of being "cut in on" a song. There is really no reason why the subject should be kept in the dark as though it were a disgrace, because the orchestra leader who is responsible for making a song into a hit has a right to expect a recompense.

jealousy of other orchestra leaders who believe that they too should be "cut in on" songs, forgetting that their support of a song may mean little or nothing to the public.

Has Refused Many "Cut-Ins."

It is a peculiar thing that we have, single-handed, popularized more songs for which we have received little or nothing. I have never asked for a cut and have refused to be "cut in on" many songs when I had no faith in them or felt, in the case of songs not suited to me, that my support of them would mean very little to their chances of becoming hits.

I know orchestra leaders who are "in on" as many as twenty songs; some of the songs will net them thousands, others will bring them nothing, even though the expenditure of effort on each may have been the same.

When I signed my contract with Victor, I became doubly attractive as a means of helping a tune to stardom, since Victor records enjoy a tremendous sale.

But after all, as time has proved no amount of plugging, broadcasting or recording can make a bad tune a hit, and no one can absolutely predict what tunes will be hits and what tunes will not be hits. The man who could would be worth a fortune to any publisher.

Successfully Predicted Hits.

I have been fairly successful in predicting and starting hits, but I have been so completely aghast at the way some tunes have turned out that I fear to predict with any degree of certainty just whether a tune will click or not. The public that buys sheet copies of songs has a taste that is as variable as the weather and, although I have several tests which help me in feeling the public pulse, I find that we are all amateurs in song prophecy.

Some of the song pluggers are my dearest friends, in fact I welcome most of them, though there are times when I wish they would leave me alone. Of course their presence is usually mutually beneficial to me and the firm they represent. But there are times when to all of us our rest and sleep are worth thousands of dollars; and in their loyalty to their respective firms these enthusiasts are so insistent that it is sometimes very hard to listen to them.

These men have so affected me that my radio program building has become a task I dread since they have made me feel that unless I take care of them all they will suffer; indeed, some of them have lost their positions through their failure to secure promises from orchestra leaders to play their respective tunes. So whenever possible I try to give them a "break."

However, I will welcome the day when the song plugger has ceased to be and the publishing companies adopt letters or test records as advance agents and reminders to the orchestra director to feature their tunes.

PARKER WILL FACE SENATE COMMITTEE

Nominee for Supreme Court Will Be Invited to Come Before Group.

FESS LAUDS APPOINTEE

(Associated Press.)

Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, will be invited before the Senate judiciary committee to answer protests made against his nomination as an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Confronted with a deluge of protests from Negro organizations about a speech attributed to Judge Parker in which he is charged with showing racial prejudice, the administration and Republican leaders decided yesterday it was best for him to answer these himself.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, Republican leader, asked that the nominee be invited here after he had realized the extent of the restlessness in the party's ranks. Friends of Judge Parker brought the word to the Senate yesterday that President Hoover and Attorney General Mitchell looked favorably upon a hearing of the nominee.

Overman Asked to Invite Judge.

Thereupon the Republican leader asked Senator Overman (Democrat), North Carolina, one of the sponsors of the nominee and a member of the judiciary committee, to ask the committee to invite Judge Parker here. Chairman Norris of the judiciary committee stated later that if Senator Overman desired an invitation to be sent to Judge Parker he would accede.

Senator Overman said he would ask the committee to take this action at its regular meeting on Monday. He probably will be asked to appear a week from Monday.

Friends of Judge Parker deny that he made some of the statements attributed to him about the Negroes when he was a candidate for governor in 1920. The nominee has declined to answer inquiries from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Parker Upheld in Dispute.

The willingness of the President and the Attorney General to have Judge Parker summoned before the committee was interpreted by some as indicating an opne mind by the administration toward the nominee on objections raised by the Negroes. The President and Mr. Mitchell already have vigorously defended Justice Parker's decision in a labor case which is under attack by the American Federation of Labor.

Senator Overman yesterday read into the Congressional Record a telegram from E. B. Jeffries, publisher of the Greensboro, N. C., Daily News, denying that this paper quoted Judge Parker in 1920 as stating he did not want to be elected with the help of one Negro vote. The story published by this newspaper of Judge Parker's speeches has been used by Negroes in their opposition.

In this connection Senator Fess (Republican), Ohio, yesterday made public a letter he wrote to Alexander H. Martin, of Cleveland, replying to a protest against Judge Parker because of remarks attributed to him relative to Negroes.

Attitude of Senator Fess.

"I am especially interested in what you say about the confirmation of Judge Parker, with especial reference to his statement in 1920 as candidate for governor on the participation of Negroes in politics," Senator Fess wrote. "I regret exceedingly this utterance, although circumstances at the time it was made might somewhat relieve the severity of it. Men in the heat of a political campaign frequently give utterance to sentiments that would not have been made except in a campaign. Even in that case, such utterances are extremely unfortunate. However, the factors to be considered in confirmation of a nominee for the Supreme Court must not be subordinated to some fugitive utterance or some opinion of this or that subject.

Attorney Is Undecided on Aiding Lila Jimerson in Slaying Case.

Chicago, April 18 (A.P.).—Clarence Darrow, Chicago criminal attorney, will visit Buffalo April 28 or 29, at which time he will decide definitely whether to undertake the defense of Lila Jimerson, Seneca Indian woman, who pleaded guilty to second degree murder in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Henri Marchand.

James Jimerson, president of the Seneca Indian Nation, wired the Chicago attorney asking Darrow to take over the defense of Lila.

The Chicagoan telegraphed Jimerson saying that the Indian's plea had impressed him, but he was unable to give a definite answer pending a review of the testimony. Darrow will spend a day in Buffalo.

LEE, HOUSE MEMBER FROM TEXAS, DEAD

Early Settler of Plains in Western Part of State Dies in Capital.

COLLEAGUES PAY HONOR

(Associated Press.)

The death yesterday of Representative R. Q. Lee, of Cisco, Tex., marked the passing of one of the prominent early settlers of the west Texas plains country.

Stricken by paralysis five weeks ago, the 61-year-old Texan died yesterday morning in a local hospital. His was the first death among the Texas delegation in a score of years.

Both the Senate and House adopted a resolution of sorrow and adjourned out of respect to his memory. President Hoover sent a letter of condolence to Mrs. Lee and her five children. A congressional delegation of 44 House members, including the Texas delegation, and Senators Connally, of Texas, and Bratton, of New Mexico, Democrats, was designated to accompany the funeral party, which is scheduled to arrive in Cisco tomorrow. The funeral will be held Monday.

Mr. Lee was born at Coldwater, Miss., in 1869, and moved to Texas in 1886. He engaged in the cattle ranching business and helped build several small railroads, giving small plains towns an outlet for their products.

When former Representative Tom Blanton, of Abilene, Tex., entered the Texas senatorial race in 1928, Mr. Lee was urged to run for the House seat from the Seventeenth District. He won without opposition. He had announced his candidacy for reelection shortly after Mr. Blanton, who was defeated by Senator Connally, said he was a candidate.

Mrs. Lee, their daughters, Mrs. Leonard Simon, of Cisco, and Mrs. Harold Ochler, of Dayton, Tex.; their sons Edward, Robert Stein and R. Q. Lee, jr., are those surviving.

D. A. R. EXCORIATED IN HOOVER CONFLICT

Mrs. William Thayer Brown Resigns as Protest on Armament Attitude.

PRESIDENT IS UPHELD

New York, April 8 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The stand taken by the Daughters of the American Revolution in conflict with President Hoover's address to them on the world court and limitation of armaments, brought vigorous criticism from two feminine sources in this vicinity today.

Mrs. William Thayer Brown, of Llewellyn Park, West Orange, N. J., socially prominent ex-president of the Woman's Club, of Orange, sent her resignation as a member of the D. A. R.; and the Women's Forum, meeting in the Hotel Roosevelt, telegraphed to President Hoover, Vice President Curtis and members of the Senate foreign relations committee a resolution supporting the three-power naval treaty and the world court, in agreement with the President's convention address.

Mrs. Brown, who has been active in peace organizations, sent a telegram of protest to the president general of the D. A. R. at Washington, saying:

"As a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution almost from its inception, I wish to record my emphatic protest against the position taken respecting reduction of armaments and the World Court. American women with a Revolutionary background would demonstrate far better their true patriotism by leading the way toward attainment of international peace than by following a policy of frustration that only serves to prolong the militaristic program indefinitely. As a mark of my disapproval of the Daughters' policy I am submitting to my local chapter my resignation."

The Woman's Forum, whose president is Miss Helen Varick Boswell, adopted its resolution unanimously after being addressed by Herbert S. Houston, member of the American committee of the International Chamber of Commerce, on recent developments in the peace movement.

"Are you, as representative of enlightened American women, in favor of the broad and humanitarian views of the President of the supernationalism of the militant Daughters?" Mr. Houston asked. "Whatever your views, this is the time to make them effective. For these are fateful days for the future peace of the world."

SENATE'S CAMPAIGN FUND QUIZ IS BEGUN

reason to believe that when the Vare-Davis and Grundy factions made charges and countercharges that the ordinary voter was to be most intelligently enlightened.

But the committee turned a deaf ear to these invitations. Instead of proceeding to hear Senator Grundy's charges against the Pennsylvania Railroad clique and the Vare-Davis' recriminations it has decided that it is interested only in campaign expenditures and that the way to get a foothold or a start on this is to invite the various candidates to submit periodical accountings of their expenditures. For those who like political scandal this procedure held out no hope at all.

Decision Is Important.

It is a very important decision, this one of the committee, because it will not be an influence one way or the other in the Pennsylvania fight. After that primary has been determined it makes no difference what the committee unearths about the expenditures or tactics of either Senator Grundy or Secretary of Labor Davis, the winner of the primary will be elected. Pennsylvania is that Republican.

In so far as Illinois is concerned, every one believes that Mrs. McCormick has ridden over her second hurdle. The first was to defeat Senator Deneen. The second was to defeat the campaign expenditures committee. And the general impression, warranted or unwarranted, is that this is quite a triumph for Mrs. McCormick.

It was generally assumed, in the first place, that Mrs. McCormick, being a woman of wealth and most ambitious and vindictive, did not hesitate to spend money in her campaign. Rather free charges of such have been received by senators. This was, of course, only natural, and it may have been that they are wholly lacking in substance.

Chicago Situation Cited.

The point is that a vigorous committee, perhaps it should be said, an unfriendly one, would make it quite warm for Mrs. McCormick, if the Chicago City Hall crowd, for example, should weather a serious Senate investigation it would be most politically surprising, and shrewd politicians would have no trouble in tying the City Hall gang to Mrs. McCormick's campaign, notwithstanding that she says that she made no agreement with them.

So the procedure determined upon by the committee will save Mrs. McCormick a few gray hairs, to say the least.

There has from the outset been a reluctance of senators to engage in this 1930 inquiry into campaign expenditures. It was an institution established by Senator Reed, of Missouri. Back in 1926 he got up on the floor one day and repeated charges that had been made of excessive expenditures in Pennsylvania. He so stunned his fellow senators that his resolution to investigate was then and there accepted. And the scalp that he got was hapless "Bill" Vare, of Philadelphia, who aspired to trod Boise Penrose's path.

This 1926 Pennsylvania election was only disposed of a few months ago by the ultimate denying of the Senate seat to Mr. Vare. And Senator Grundy, who got the seat is still much heard of.

It would seem that the present investigation is sort of an anti-climax or that the senators consider it so.

Set up as a result of a resolution by Senator Norris, it was first composed of Senator Hiram Johnson, chairman, and Goldsborough and Patterson, Pittman and Wagner. The first to plead off was Senator Johnson and Senator Nye was substituted Then Senator Pittman pleaded pressing engagements and Senator Dill was named in his place. Then Senator Goldsborough insisted that he could just not give the time that an inquiry of this kind called for and Senator Bingham was named. Then the Connecticut Yankee naively explained that he planned to make a study of the Samoan Islands or something like that and that of course he could not be in the Samoan Islands and investigating campaign expenditures at the same time. So a substitute was named for him.

Then the much shifted about committee met and decided that instead of giving ear to charges it had received it would proceed by asking the senators to submit periodical expenditures reports. No wonder those who want some fireworks to come from the investigation threw up their hands in disgust.

D. A. R. OFFICIALS HONOR UNKNOWN SOLDIER AT ARLINGTON

An impressive and important event in the program of the Daughters of the American Revolution during their annual convention was this ceremony held yesterday at the grave of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery. With pages flaunting colors of all the chapters of the national organization and soldiers from Fort Myer standing at attention beside the marble slab, D. A. R. officials paid homage to the war dead.

musical program was given by Flora McGill Keefer, mezzo-contralto, assisted by Mrs. Mildred Kolb Schultze at the piano.

In observance of Good Friday there was no afternoon session of the congress and all social functions, even of the most informal nature, were suspended for the day.

Controversial Isuses Barred.

At the last minute yesterday morning, before the voting was in full sway for the office of honorary vice president general, Mrs. Charles B. Bryan, of Tennessee, one of the candidates for that office, withdrew in favor of Mrs. Eliza Ferry Leary, of Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Bryan made a fine showing in the race on Thursday, and it was thought that she had an excellent chance to win had she remained in the race.

The outstanding event of the day happened at the morning session presided over by Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general, when a resolution was passed barring controversial issues, particularly those of a political or religious nature from the deliberations of D. A. R. congresses.

Upon presentation of this resolution by the resolutions committee, headed by Mrs. Robert J. Johnston, of Iowa, acting chairman, much to the surprise of the delegates, the first one to second it was Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, honorary president general, whose introduction of the prohibition issue into her greetings on Monday had given rise to a so-called rebuke from the president general, Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart.

Mrs. Cook's action was regarded as all the more unusual because of the fact that the Continental Congress of 1924 during Mrs. Cook's term as president general had indorsed prohibition without a dissenting vote.

Prohibition was expressly named in yesterday's resolution, so that subject, no matter how pertinent it may become in the future, will be taboo in future Continental Congresses unless the action is rescinded.

In a brief speech seconding the resolution, Mrs. Cook declared that she hoped the members would adhere strictly to it, because they never had done so in the past with regard to any issue.

Dead Are Memorialized.

This little flurry of political excitement over the congress settled down to the solemn duty of memorializing the dead of the organization who had passed away since the last Continental Congress.

The list of these dead included 2,355 daughters. At the memorial service yesterday morning among those eulogized were Mrs. Giles Ball, Mrs. William Van Sant Cox, charter members from the District of Columbia. A beautiful tribute was paid to the former local leaders by Miss Janet Richards, herself a charter member of the D. A. R. Mrs. Benjamin L. Purcell eulogized the four real daughters among the D. A. R. dead of 1929, while other tributes were offered for former national officers by Mrs. Matthew T. Brewster, former chaplain from New Orleans; Miss Isabel Wyman Gordon, of Massachusetts; Mrs. Robert J. Johnston, of Iowa, and Mrs. Charles B. Bryan, of Tennessee.

Accompanied by a number of her national officers, Mrs. Hobart, the president general, went to Arlington at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and placed a wreath with impressive but brief ceremonies on the Tomb of America's Unknown Soldier.

Officers Installed.

The newly elected officers will be installed at the final session of the Thirty-ninth Continental Congress today, which is expected to conclude its deliberations before tonight and adjourn.

After the formal close of the congress a banquet for officers and delegates will take place at the New Willard Hotel. Mrs. Harold S. Dickerson, State regent of China, will act as toastmistress and Mrs. Frank Hight is chairman of the banquet committee Representative James Charles Linthicum, of Maryland, and Mrs. Linthicum, presented the congress with a huge American flag yesterday which will be hung from the ceiling during future Continental Congresses.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps and the national defense act were indorsed unanimously yesterday by the congress.

Suicide Verdict Found In Man's Hotel Plunge

Chicago, April 18 (A.P.).—Coroner's jurors investigating the 12-story death leap of William M. Costello, 60, today returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily deranged Costello leaped after shooting and seriously wounding Mrs. Margery Ryan, 45, who told police Costello became enraged because she would not marry him.

Guests of the hotel told police the couple had been quarreling in the room prior to the shooting. As police started to break into the room, Costello penned a short note, asking that his sister at Gilman, Ill., be notified, then he leaped. His body caromed off an automobile parked in the street and bounded down a coal hole.

NOTES OF THE D. A. R.

Anna Eastman Littlefield, a charter member of Mary Wilkins Trusdell Chapter, C. A. R., of York, has been appointed by Mrs. Victor A. Binford, State director for Maine, to represent the State of Maine as a page.

Miss Littlefield, whose mother, the late Elizabeth Marshall Littlefield, was a charter member of Old York, was the first baby born into the chapter, and therefore received the first D. A. R. spoon in York. At the age of 4 she had the honor of unveiling the boulder placed upon the Village Green at York Village, bearing a tablet in memory of the first soldiers from Maine to march to the Battle of Lexington.

She is a freshman at York High School, and is a niece and ward of Miss Katherine E. Marshall, who is serving her second year as State recording secretary of Maine D. A. R. She entered the local C. A. R. chapter through descent from Abiathar Eastman, sergeant in the War of the Revolution.

Miss Jessie Dell, United States Civil Service commissioner, entertained last evening in honor of Mrs. Julius I. Talmadge, former vice president general from Georgia; Mrs. Herbert Fox Gaffney, State regent; Mrs. John D. Pope, vice State regent, and the Georgia delegates to the congress.

Miss Katherine Eastman Marshall, State recording secretary of Maine, lives in historic York. Miss Marshall traces her ancestray back to Arthur Bragdon, an alderman in the city of Gorgeana, in 1641, she being of the tenth generation. She is serving her second year as a State officer. She is a successful coal merchant, but finds time to play the pipe organ. From her mother, who was for over 40 years organist of the old First Parish Church at York (oldest church in Maine), she inherited a talent for church music. She is also literary in her taste, and is the author of a story on York, in "Maine, Past and Present." She also contributed a story on Berwick, being an honor student of Berwick Academy, in South Berwick, whose charter was signed in 1791 by John Hancock.

Miss Marshall is a past president of the Woman's League, Inc., of York, and during her administration the league built and dedicated a $20,000 clubhouse at York She is also secretary of the Republican town committee of her home town.

Mrs. Ralph E. Bristol, of Ogden, Utah, State regent, was hostess to Utah delegates to the congress at a luncheon at the Willard Hotel yesterday.

Mrs. A. B. Greeson, E. D. Leatherwood, Stephen Abbot, Miss Helen Abbot, Miss Margaret Leatherwood, Utah pages; Mrs. Joseph E. Bird, Idaho State regent; Mrs. Alex Wilson, of Boise; Mrs. Edward Corless Riddle, of Pocatellos, Idaho; Miss Gracie Anne Robinson, Idaho page, were among the guests.

Senator and Mrs. Thomas, of Idaho, entertained at dinner Mrs. Joseph E. Bird, Mrs. Alex Wilson, Mrs. Edward C. Riddle and Miss Gracie Ann Robinson Thursday night.

Representative and Mrs. Addison T. Smith entertained at dinner last night at the Roosevelt Hotel, Mrs. Joseph E. Bird, Mrs. Alex Wilson, Miss Gracie Anne Robinson, Mrs. Edward C. Riddle and Mrs. Joe T. Young, of California.

Mrs. C. Edward Murray, State regent of New Jersey, entertained at a buffet supper last night in honor of Mrs. Hobart and the national officers. The other guests were the chapter regents of New Jersey.

At 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the Children of the American Revolution conducted a ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier of the American Revolution, which is located in the churchyard of the old Presbyterian Meeting House, 300 block South Fairfax street, Alexandria, Va. Mrs. Eleanor Washington Howard, who is the great-great-grandniece of George Washington, and the last member of the Washington family to be born at Mount Vernon, transplanted several ivy plants secured from the ivy which festoons Mount Vernon. These ivy plants were planted against the brick wall which stands back of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier of the American Revolution.

Preliminary to planting the ivy, Mrs. Howard was presented a trowel with a handle made from walnut from Mount Vernon. This trowel was presented by Mrs. Percy Edwards Quin, of Mississippi, who is national president of the Children of the American Revolution

An additional part of the ceremonies was the placing of a wreath upon the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier of the American Revolution by the Mississippi Societies of the C. A. R. The wreath was placed by Miss Cornelia Keeton, of the Lydia Dariah Society, and Miss Nina Elizabeth Markette, of the Newell-Walton Society.

At the close of the ceremony taps was sounded by a bugler from the U. S. Army Band.

Mrs. R. D. MacCart, formerly of Buffalo, N. Y., entertained at luncheon Wednesday at the Army and Navy Club in honor of two Buffalo pages at the congress, Mrs. Lawrence Sparfeld and Dr. Alice W. Cary.

Mrs. Francis W. Warring, Yankton, S. Dak., honorary State regent, was a guest at the California State luncheon.

SERVANT SUES SON OF STEEL MAGNATE

Girl Charges Young Willock, Who Wed Another Maid, Jilted Her.

$250,000 IS DEMANDED

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—An heir to $120,000,000 who married one of his parents' maidservants, was sued for $250,000 in the State Supreme Court today because he did not marry another former domestic.

The plaintiff, Miss Catherine McCormack, charged that William Willock, jr., of Syosset, N. Y., son of the steel magnate, had promised last August to marry her "within a reasonable time." Thereupon, she said in her complaint, she told all her friends about it and spent a lot of time and money on a trousseau.

And then in November Young Willock married Miss Adelaide Ingeoretsch, a pretty Norwegian girl, who had been in America less than a year and who was his mother's second maid. His parents were displeased at first, but later forgave the young couple and furnished a cottage on their estate for them.

Miss McCormack charges that Willock, jr., deprived her of a position in life—social as well as financial. The papers filed today showed that a summons was served on the 22-year-old heir on March 25.

His attorney, Yorke Allen, said that he would fight the case and that the senior Willocks were behind him.

"Many of these breach of promise suis are settled out of court," Allen added. "But this one is not going to be."

South American Cardinal Dies.

Rio de Janeiro, April 18 (A.P.).—Cardinal Joaquin de Arcoverde de Albuquerque, Archbishop of Rio de Janeiro, died today. He was more than 80 years old and was the first South American cardinal, having been created by Pope Pius X at a secret consistory in 1905.

REPEAL VOTE HOLDS LEAD IN LIQUOR POLL

41 Per Cent of Ballots Out of 3,175,972 Are for Canceling Law.

ALL STATES TAKING PART

The vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment to lead with over 41 per cent of the total of 3,175,972 ballots returned from the entire 48 States in the sixth week's returns of the Literary Digest's Nation-wide poll on prohibition, as published in today's issue of the magazine.

The breakup of the grand total gives 915,681 votes for enforcement; 951,475 for modification, and 1,308,816 for repeal.

This shows over 28 per cent of the total vote for strict enforcement, while practica - 30 per cent favor modification to legalize light wines and beers.

With the poll still far from complete the Literary Digest announces the returns to date as greater now than total returns from any previous poll ever undertaken by the periodical, including their heretofore most popular national referendum in the Hoover-Smith campaign of 1928.

Dr. William Seaver Woods, editor in chief of the magazine, stated that he anticipates nearly 2,000,000 more returns in the poll, judging from present incoming ballots.

With first returns from Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico and Wyoming this week every State and the District of Columbia is represented in the tabulations. The addition of these newcomers effected little change in the percentages of the totals, it is stated.

Kansas continues to be the only bone-dry State to date with almost 58 per cent of its vote for enforcement and only 18 per cent of its returns for repeal.

Connecticut, Louisiana, New Jersey and Rhode Island give a majority of their vote for repeal.

Sally O'Neill's Brother Sentenced for Robbery

Los Angeles, April 18 (A.P.).—Jack Noonan, brother of Sally O'Neill, actress, was sentenced to seven years in Folsom Prison today by Superior Judge Rey Schaure, who denied the youth's application for probation. Noonan pleaded guilty recently to a charge of receiving stolen property, taken from the Hollywood home of Ted Lewis, orchestra leader, last July.

Probation was denied because Noonan had been convicted of forgery in Santa Clara County February 23, 1923.

Home-Made Salami Fatal To Woman; Score Ill

Placerville, Calif., April 18 (A.P.).—Mrs. Louis Wunchell, one of twenty persons stricken with trichinosis after eating infected home-made salami at a picnic, died here last night, the third fatality caused by the poisoning. At least two others are not expected to live.

A special meeting of the board of supervisors has been called for tomorrow to act upon the situation. Dr. P. B. Gray, Berkeley bacteriologist, was here today to advise on means of combatting the disease.

THE D. A. R. CONGRESS.

The thirty-ninth congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution is about to adjourn, after a session which has greatly enhanced the prestige of the organization.

More accurately and more comprehensively than any other national body, the Daughters of the American Revolution represent American womanhood. They come from every part of the United States. They are inheritors of American traditions. The fact that they assemble at Washington is evidence of their deep interest in national affairs.

The society's efficiency in transacting business, its courteous and dignified relations with all governmental agencies, and its avoidance of squabbles over religion and politics are in admirable contrast to the workings of a certain other Congress that is said to be in session in Washington.

The point might be raised that the congress of Daughters is not responsible for the conduct of the Government, and therefore has an easier task than that which confronts the Congress of the United States. But when national policies are under consideration these bodies have equal moral duties in searching for the truth and courageously expressing it. In this respect the D. A. R. congress can well afford to match its record with the record of Congress.

All citizens are indebted to the D. A. R. for its clear and strong statement of the position of American womanhood in support of the traditional policy of the United States in avoiding foreign political entanglements; in the maintenance of naval defense; in watchfulness against defeatist and communistic conspiracies within the gates; in support of the objects and purposes of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps Association, and in other expressions of the true American spirit of independence. The homes of America are safe when American traditions are cherished, and fewer homes will sacrifice their sons in war if the warnings of the Revolutionary Daughters are heeded.

The United States has never been hampered in winning its wars because of any lukewarmness on the part of its women. They abhor war, but they do not shrink from it when it is the alternative of dishonorable peace. Up to this time the United States has not fought an unrighteous war, and now that women have equal voting power with men it is certain that the Stars and Stripes will never fly in battle for an unrighteous cause. The D. A. R., speaking for American women, demands that when this Nation strips for battle it shall be strong in the fight, its sons well armed to win victory in the shortest possible time. This is the road to peace with honor—the only kind of peace worth having.

BRITAIN FOOLED AGAIN.

Fruits of the friendship which grew up between the Labor government in Great Britain and the dictators of Soviet Russia are beginning to ripen. In return for Britain's recognition the Soviet government specifically promised not to disseminate communistic propaganda in any British territory. Foreign Minister Henderson accepted this at face value, in spite of the fact that in Russia it was clearly understood that it laid no restrictions on the communist international, the propaganda wing of the Soviet regime.

The communists celebrated the event by launching a newspaper in London and making an attack on the Labor government. This caused such a stir among the Conservatives that the bolshevists seem to have decided to seek a more vulnerable spot in which to attack Britain. They had hopes of negotiating a commercial treaty at London, and no doubt concluded that too much agitation within the British Isles would injure their cause. The inducement was strong to turn to other fields for recruits in the world revolution scheme.

The result may be seen in reports from Palestine. The Holy Land, where Jews and Arabs are already engaged in a bitter racial conflict, has become a hotbed of communism. Bolshevist agents are distributing leaflets calling upon the Arab proletariat to revolt against British rule and the Zionist movement. Attempts are even being made to communize the British military garrison.

The communists have been busy in India for years. Now that the native population is beginning to rise against British rule, the bolshevists may be expected to rush additional propagandists to that country. It is the tactics of the world revolutionists to strike at the weakest points.

The Labor government has openly exposed British colonies and mandated territories to the most subversive influence in the world. The price Britain will have to pay for catering to communism is not yet fully apparent, but it may fall heavily upon the British people long after the Labor government has fallen from grace.

A RADIO MONOPOLY.

The affinity of interest between the Radio Corporation of America on one hand and the Westinghouse and General Electric companies on the other has been generally recognized. The deal that was arranged among these companies this week serves to ratify what probably has been a working agreement. The Radio Corporation buys the manufacturing facilities of General Electric and Westinghouse together with their patents with respect to sets, circuits, tubes, &c., giving in return 6,580,375 shares of its stock. These shares added to those already held by General Electric and Westinghouse will effect the transfer of voting control of the corporation to Westinghouse and General Electric. The corporation does not lose its identity as a result of the transaction. No new holding company is brought into being. But the essential patents in radio are consolidated under unified control in such a way that what appears to be a vast, world-wide monopoly will dominate the field.

Senator Dill calls upon the Department of Justice to investigate this so-called monopoly at once and to take steps to break its control. Without doubt, he voices a demand that will become increasingly general. Whether or not the collection of patents by purchase, as has been the practice of the corporation and of which this week's transaction is the crowning undertaking, is actionable under present law is, however, a moot point. It can be decided only in the courts.

For more than a year the Department of Justice has had under investigation monopoly charges against the Radio Corporation. The investigation was undertaken following a long investigation of similar charges by the Federal Trade Commission, which led to no positive action. The latest regrouping of the dominant companies in the radio field will stimulate the Department of Justice investigation. It promises to lead to a show-down on the monopoly question.

CENSUS DELAYS.

In earlier census-takings, the rivalry for size between towns, counties and cities came to the assistance of enumerators. People wanted to be counted; communities wanted to be enumerated. This census, however, has been characterized by a lack of cooperation on the part of citizens. The Census Bureau reports that its task approaches completion in Philadelphia and Washington and that the population of smaller cities and towns has been reasonably well enumerated. But, generally, census takers have been unable to keep up with the schedule set. Today was fixed for completing the census, but for the United States as a whole it is far from completed.

The taking of this census has been unusually difficult for two reasons. In the first place, the questionnaire is so complex that answering it is more or less of a nuisance. In the second place, the question as to radio ownership has stirred the suspicion that the enumeration is to be made a basis for taxation or that the result is to be turned over to radio manufacturers to be made the basis for a sales campaign. The question as to questionnaire complexity is for Census Bureau officials to consider. While it is desirable to have on record complete information with regard to the American family, it may be that in future censuses a more simple questionnaire will produce better results. The question as to radio ownership has no proper place in the census.

POSTAGE RATES.

A measure has been reported to the House by its postoffice committee to put the air mail contract system to a less costly basis. Congress is urged to adopt the new bill without delay, so that contracts which are now expiring can be renewed on the more equitable basis. Pioneer operators who are largely responsible for the development of the air mail will be offered contracts on the basis of space and mileage rather than weight of the mail carried. One objectionable feature of the bill, allowing the Postoffice Department to award contracts by negotiation rather than competitive bidding, has been eliminated.

This measure, if enacted, should prove an effective step toward reduction of the postal deficit. Postmaster General Brown has announced that he will also raise the air mail rate to further increase the revenue. The practicability of such a move is open to question. Higher rates will certainly be reflected in a reduction of mail sent by air. If the Government contracts for space on the basis of present use of the system, and then discourages use of the air mail, what economy can be expected? It would seem to be the part of wisdom to experiment with the new arrangements without disturbing the rate.

When Mr. Brown testified before the postoffice committee he let it be known that he would also seek to raise the postage rate on first-class mail from 2 to 2½ cents. This, he estimates, would increase the annual revenue by $55,000,000 and thus bring about a substantial reduction in the annual deficit. The logic of this reasoning is also open to serious question.

During the World War the Government raised its first-class postage rate to 3 cents. The increase proved to be a decided check on public use of the mails. In 1919, when it cost 3 cents to send a letter, postal revenue amounted to $364,947,126. When the 2-cent rate was restored in 1920 the lower rate brought $73,000,000 more than the higher charge. In nine years following the reduction the revenue of the Postoffice Department doubled and is still increasing. In the light of this experience it appears that an increase in the postal rates could only add to the department's troubles. Before the department recommends that Congress impose a heavier tax on those using the mails it would be well to thoroughly investigate this previous failure to increase revenues through higher postage rates.

AIRSHIP COMMERCE.

The Graf Zeppelin has completed a test flight to Seville and back to Friedrichshafen and will now be made ready for the flight to Brazil and the United States, which is scheduled for next month. With these flights Commander Eckener is doing much to dissipate the pessimism as to the practicability of the dirigible. Admittedly the Zeppelin is not a satisfactory ship for commercial operation, but Dr. Eckener has secured financial backing for the construction of improved ships and there is no reason to doubt that the near future will witness the inauguration of commercial air service linking the United States with Europe. Time alone will tell whether or not the airship can compete with the modern, high-speed, luxurious surface vessel.

Senator McNary and Representative Parker introduced this week identical bills designed to extend Government aid to American aircraft operated in foreign trade. The measures are based upon existing legislation applicable to surface vessels. They contain authorization for the granting of mail contracts to airships similar to those authorized in the merchant marine act of 1928 and they would create an airship construction and insurance fund similar to that now available to operators of surface vessels. In addition, the measures would permit commissioned and noncommissioned personnel of the Army and Navy now on the active list to volunteer for service in connection with the operation and maintenance of any "domestic airship or other aircraft engaged in foreign commerce."

The next few years will witness the proving of the airship. Possibly it is destined to become the merchantman of the air. If so, it is highly desirable that American interests should develop an airship fleet.

THE VILLAMIN PLAN

From the New York Times.

In contrast to the somewhat partisan discussion before the Senate committee of the social problem caused by the presence of many unemployed Filipinos in California, an article printed in The Washington Post is refreshingly constructive. The author, Mr. Vicente Villamin, a Filipino economist and lawyer, who has lectured extensively in this country, points out that as exclusion of Filipinos is inconsistent with America's present relations to the Philippines, and independence is neither imminent nor a solution of the special problem in California, it is desirable to find some other way out. His plan is to have the Hawaiian planters who for several years have been recruiting laborers from the Philippine Islands recruit them from among the unemployed Filipinos on the Pacific Coast.

The scheme, as Mr. Villamin points out, has four merits: (1) It would diminish the number of Filipinos at present emigrating from the islands and so meet the wishes of so many of the Filipino leaders who have disliked seeing so many good workers lost to the Philippines; (2) by diminishing the number of Filipinos in California it should appease the American agitators who demand exclusion; (3) it should help to lessen unemployment among the Filipinos on the Coast and so improve their lot and relieve Americans of responsibility for caring for them; and (4) it should go far toward satisfying the labor needs of Hawaii.

Several difficulties at once strike the eye. The first lies in inducing the Hawaiian planters to obtain Filipino laborers from this country rather than direct from the Philippines. The plan could become effective only through the cooperation of the Hawaiian planters. While their moral obligation to help might be urged—they are largely responsible for the wholesale emigration of the Filipinos—such men are more likely to be moved by economic reasoning. Another difficulty is in persuading the Filipinos to leave California. Their own leaders could be influential if they would. If some of the Filipino politicians in this country were to devote part of their attention to this problem instead of using the recent anti-Filipino riots in California for political purposes, it should not be hard to persuade many Filipinos to leave California, where they are obviously not welcome, and to go to Hawaii, where many of their brethren have for years lived in amity and comfort.

There can be no excuse for the intolerance shown by Californians toward the Filipinos which culminated in race riots last winter. But the problem is not to be solved by denunciations of one or other group, or by political proposals which are premature or impracticable. While the Villamin plan may not be the final solution, it at least has the merit of ingenuity and deserves examination.

CONCORD HYMN.

April 19, 1775.

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood,
And fired the shot heard round the world.

The foe long since in silence slept;
Alike the conqueror silent sleeps;
And Time the ruined bridge has swept
Down the dark stream which seaward creeps.

On this green bank, by this soft stream,
We set today a votive stone;
That memory may their deed redeem,
When, like our sires, our sons are gone.

Spirit! that made those heroes dare
To die, or leave their children free,
Bid Time and Nature gently spare
The shaft we raise to them and thee.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

EASTER.

'Tis said they marveled very much
Among themselves that Easter day
Who found the great stone rolled away
And ventured in His robes to touch.
In fancy I can hear them say:
"At times we used to think Him odd:
He called Himself the Son of God!
And promise life if we'd repent,
Now this must be just what He meant."

I see them gathered near the tomb
On that first resurrection day
And fancy I can hear them say:
"He told us light should end the gloom;
That none within the grave should stay;
That He should give us all a sign
Of life eternal and divine,
But meekly to His death He went,
Now this must be just what He meant."

The living are misunderstood,
We seldom catch their meaning clear
While they are struggling with us here,
So hard it seems to know the good;
But when no more we have them near
In some strange way to us grows plain
The counsel which they give in vain,
When comes the blow they would prevent
We understand just what they meant.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

My dear Louise:

A few years ago a young man employed by a New York firm as manager of a branch office was called to the metropolis for a "conference."

He had made a remarkable record and the purpose of his employers was to make greater use of his abilities at the home office.

This new job would require associating on terms of equality with men who felt at ease in "soup and fish" clothes, and to test his fitness for it his employers invited him to a dinner.

Now, it is common knowledge that New York manners are the most atrocious in the world in some particulars, but even New Yorkers relax when the day is done and take time to practice civilized table manners.

The young man from the hinterland didn't qualify.

It wasn't his fault, perhaps, for he had climbed out of a vulgar and degrading environment and had been too busy to develop the niceties of civilization; but extenuating circumstances couldn't change the fact of his offensive and repulsive boorishness and he went back to the sticks without learning how much he had missed.

The point of the story is that a country dog will get lost in town and you can't teach an old dog new tricks.

When I was a kid in Kansas I absorbed the accent and pronunciation of the time and place, and to this day I say "chawcolate" and "hawg" unless I make conscious effort to pronounce them correctly.

You can't get away from early habit.

Numbers of times you have embarrassed yourself by using in public the queer pronunciations and foolish sayings that for various reasons have established themselves as family jokes.

The thing you do and say frequently in the privacy of home you will do and say unconsciously in public.

I'm not insinuating that your manners are awful.

You behave much better, at the table and elsewhere, than others I could name, and I have met very few people in recent years who seem to care much about manners; but in the easy-going fellowship of our home you forget some of the little courtesies, and when you get out into the world somebody is going to notice such oversights and rate you lower than you deserve.

You are building a woman now out of material that is easy to handle, and if I were you I'd be careful not to develop any little habits that might be embarrassing when they jell. Love,

DAD.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS.

THE BEAR MARKET IN AMERICAN HOSTAGES.

Mexican bandits released an American hostage the other day for a ransom of $1,500. This is not only a new low for the year but the lowest price quoted for American hostages since 1908. In that year the quotation was $700 bid; $700.35 asked. Clearly, conditions in the Mexican hostage industry are suffering from severe depression.

* * * *

Unless something is done soon to restore confidence among Mexican bandits there may even be a panic in which Americans will be dumped on the market for whatever they will bring.

* * * *

Reports for the first quarter will show Mexican outlaw earnings to be the lowest in many years, according to well-informed interests.

* * * *

Cruz Delgado, chief of the Ahuacatlan bandits, who accepted $1,500 for Mr. Bristow, the most recently released hostage, drew a gloomy picture for the Once Over today of the situation in the banditry trade. He expressed the opinion that unless there is relief American hostages will be a drug on the market.

* * * *

"We may have to pay their friends to take them off our hands, in fact," said Senor Delgado.

"Don't misunderstand me," warned the bandit chief. "I am not a bear on the industry. I feel that for the long pull American hostages are a safe investment. It is all right if one has the patience to stick them away and forget 'em.

* * * *

"For a quick turnover, however, I would no more grab a hostage, regardless of his intrinsic value, than I would rush in to buy low grade curb stocks. Whether the sharp drop in quotations on American hostages marks another major decline or is just a temporary reaction, is puzzling. Of course, the release of Bristow for $1,500 may give the market the technical correction it needed.

"The thing to keep in mind is that there is a poor seasonal demand for hostages. My country, for example, is operating at only 77 per cent as against 99 per cent last year in the same month. The price structure is very unstable and there may be further cutting."

OUR OWN LESS-THAN-500-WORD HISTORY OF THE U. S.

Discovered in 1492,
A lovely country spread and grew;
In Seventeen Hundred and Seventy-six
It fought to get out of a pretty fix,
In '87, now proud and free,
It declared for personal liberty;
Till 1918 it kept the vow—

HIS WORK IS CUT OUT FOR HIM.

Mr. Coolidge, the well-known Cosmopolitan writer, says that he is incomprehensibly relieved to be out of public office and has no intention of entering any campaign either for the Presidency or senatorship. With that new 11-acre estate, Cal realizes he will have about all he can do for the rest of his life raking the lawn, burning up leaves, seeing what's wrong with the outdoor swimming pool and trying to exterminate rose beetle.

United States Attorney Tuttle wants to padlock two New York hotels in which the guests seemed able to get jingled with the greatest of ease. His attitude is that the country has got to do something to discourage guests from going to the clerk and asking what they get for a room and alcohol bath.

Now that Henry Ford and his son have cleared $81,797,861 in one year, public curiosity centers about what they will do with all that money. It is more than an even bet that they will take a motor trip and bombard the General Motors Co. with postcards reading, "Having a wonderful time; wish you were here."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Warnings Against Flotation of Foreign Bonds Involving Americans in European Broils.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Representative Louis T. McFadden, chairman of the House committee on banking and currency, has been fighting almost single-handed to bring the entire organization and set-up of the Bank for International Settlements before the public eye. He grasps as few seemed to have grasped the fact that the bank promises to be a back-door into the League of Nations, and that its creation is fraught with grave danger to the future peace of the United States. The Bank for International Settlements plans to float huge issues of reparations bonds, and there need be no question as to where these bonds will be distributed. They will be floated largely in the United States. A situation may arise in which Americans will be holding the reparations bag.

In a speech delivered before the Government Club in New York recently, Representative McFadden said:

"The seeds of a future war, in which a united Europe would be arrayed against the United States, are involved in this transaction. In proportion as the United States increases its holdings of German reparation bonds, the allied governments decrease their holdings of them, for it is from the allied governments that the American investors buy their bonds. Thus, in time, the allied governments might have received payment of reparations in full, while the United States was still demanding payment of annuities by Germany for many years to come. If the treaty of Versailles, and the subsequent agreements pursuant to it are invalid and founded upon falsity, all Europe might at some future date join Germany in a demand for their abrogation and for repudiation of the financial obligations to America imposed on them. The United States, to protect its interests, would have to stand upon morally indefensible ground."

If the United States for any reason whatsoever has to inject itself into Old World politics, it should do so directly and in full recognition of the dangers and perils that lurk behind the scenes. C. B. ATWELL.

Alabama Court Applauded for Requiring Politicians to Show Their True Colors.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is believed that the vast majority of the American people will heartily approve and applaud the decision of the Supreme Court of Alabama in which it upheld the action of the State Democratic committee in excluding as candidates for office from the primary election those who bolted the Democratic ticket in a previous election.

Since the destinies of our country are governed by one of the two great parties, it is important, not only to the party in power, but also to the country at large that the representatives sent to Congress and to the Senate should be properly labeled.

Those candidates in Alabama who are now barred from participation in the party's primary as Democrats may run for office as independents or under some other name. This is as it should be, for no one would accuse Senator Heflin of being a Democrat any more than one would think of calling Senator Norris a Republican. It injures the party and hamstrings the administration in power to have such men in Congress labeled as a Democrat or a Republican, when in truth and in fact they belong to neither of the parties.

If such representatives are properly labeled before they are sent to Congress, both the majority and minority will function better by the knowledge that there are no persons masquerading around under the guise of what they are not, and for whose actions they will not be held responsible. A DEMOCRAT.

Restoration of Original Boundaries of the District of Columbia Desirable From Many Angles.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am glad to see that the Back-to-the-District Association of Clarendon, Va., is still actively at work. It is encouraging to note that a retrocession resolution which it adopted Saturday followed up a letter from Senator Capper in which he promised to introduce and support in the Senate a measure for "the return to the District of Columbia of territory ceded back to the State of Virginia by Congressional action in 1846."

The resolution recommends action by Congress prior to the bicentennial celebration of—1932" as a patriotic gesture and a gracious and beautiful tribute to the memory of Washington."

In connection with the administrative expediency of bringing the Virginia shore of the Potomac within the city limits, this sentimental reason for prompt action should have great weight.

From the point of view of the business man, of the citizen who dreams of a Washington in the beautifying of which no outlying natural advantage, has been lost to sight, of all those who like to visualizze it as a future world metropolis, unrivaled in the extent and diversity of its architectural and scenic charm, the restoration of the original Virginia portion of the District is a paramount desideratum. C. P. DRAKE.

Sycamore Trees on the Avenue Stripped Bare on Top, and Their Beauty Ruined.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Last fall the sycamore trees along the Avenue were pruned, rather overpruned, in order to get rid of the starlings. The method proved partly successful, as the number of starlings roosting in the trees was diminished by thousands, but the starlings do not roost in these trees in the summer. At the time the trees were pruned little thought was given to their future appearance.

The foliage is now beginning to appear on all trees, and it is quite evident that the sycamore trees along the Avenue are going to be unique in appearance when the foliage obtains its full growth. They will answer the purpose of shade trees, but the tops will be absolutely naked poles. The beauty of these old trees has been ruined. R. S. K.

NAVAL TREATY TEXT RUSHED BY EXPERTS

Herculean Effort Made to Complete Pact Draft for Tuesday.

ITALIAN VIEWS ARE CITED

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, April 18 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The jurists and experts committees of the London naval conference, flogged on by their chairmen, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and Sir Maurice Hankey, continued during the whole of today their Herculean labors to complete the text of the treaty negotiated here in time for signature Tuesday. They worked even harder yesterday, setting up a record of an average fifteen-hour day for the past five days.

The treaty, itself, is now printed with the exception of the preamble, and occupies seventeen and one-half long galley proofs, each sheet containing a French and an English text. Minor points are continually arising which call for minute modifications of phraseology. The preamble will be short and noncontroversial.

The safeguarding clause is in final form unless the Tokio government objects to it. The final word from Tokio is expected tomorrow and, since much of the actual text of the treaty and a close summary of the remainder of it are already in Tokio, it is believed by the Americans that the Japanese delegation will receive authority to sign Tuesday.

The Italian delegation, before departure of Foreign Minister Dino Grandi for Rome, expressed displeasure at the New York World's editorial of April 5, apparently upon instructions from Rome. The objection seems to center on the World's statement that, while Anglo-American parity is the solution of a genuine problem, Italy, in demanding parity with France, "is asking for recognition of a principle which she is incapable of applying: she is asking the nations to inflate her prestige."

Until the treaty was in essence agreed to, few, if any, corerspondents here have laid stress on news inclined to increase ill feeling especially between France and Italy, but now that Franco-Italian disputes with their profound consequences upon the chances of a five-power agreement are adjourned, some aspects of the Italian attitude as seen by other delegations can be indicated.

Among the British and Americans, Italy, at the start of the conference, was regarded with favor. Her agreement to scrap submarines pleased the British and Americans, her continued demand for genuine naval reduction impressed the public and French charges against Italian naval policy were widely discounted.

In the closing weeks of the conference the feeling about Italian policy, if seldom outspoken, profoundly altered in delegations other than the French. It is believed by some of the most sober statesmen in other camps that France has some cause for her expressed alarm.

Italian policy, it is feared, is a policy of "prestige" in a more regrettable sense than implied in Rome's demand for paper parity with France that would never be carried into effect in practice. There are some reasons to believe—and this information does not come from French sources—that Prime Minister Benito Mussolini is deliberately increasing building pressure and intends to challenge French fleet supremacy, probably as part of a general policy of keeping Italian patriotism at fever heat in order to strengthen the Fascist regime.

Protests were raised against the French delegation for their building program amounting to 40,000 tons a year, regarded as excessive by Great Britain and against which London demands the safe-guarding clause in the treaty. Hopes have been expressed that France would reduce this, at any rate cutting her 100,000 submarine program. If not, Great Britain has already officially served notice that she proposes to raise her destroyer figures by 50,000 tons over the Rapidan and treaty tonnage. Similar increases in other categories are not impossible.

Italy's Demands Discussed.

Italy is the only nation here that has not laid down in advance her building program for five years ahead. There has been a general assumption that the Italian claims are bluff. Is this well founded?

On one day—April 27—Italy will launch an amount of modern tonnage nearly equal to the whole French building program for the whole year, and it is significant to note that these ships will take the water at different dockyards. Four new cruisers, the Zara, Fiume, Giovanni Delle Bande Nere and the Alberto Da Guissano, are to be launched at Spezia, Trieste, Castellmare de Stabia and Sestri Ponente. On the same day the submarine Dellino will be launched at Monfalcone.

The first two cruisers mentioned are Washington treaty cruisers of 10,000 tons, carrying 8-inch guns and with a speed of 32 knots. The other pair of cruisers, of 5,250 tons each, can make 37 knots and the cruiser Nicoloso de Riccio, which enters service in two months, has done 41 knots in a tryout and is the fastest cruiser in the world.

Blue Print Navy Problematical.

The Italian "blueprint" navy was much scoffed at by some people at the beginning of the conference, but later information indicates that the dockyards have been quietly and efficiently preparing for building on a scale which was not thought possible, and what that scale is to be in future nobody knows.

The effect of all this on the French makes it impossible that the British should secure reduction of French tonnage excepting in exchange for security agreements, now admittedly unobtainable, under which Great Britain would guarantee France against attack, and while nobody seriously supposes Mussolini is planning a naval war, it now seems evident that his policy of "prestige" goes much further than merely a paper claim to parity, and that it is affecting the European situation in proportion.

Nor are French nerves soothed by claims in the Fascist press that Italian cruiser strength in a few years will have doubled the combatant

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

FINE stuff, this talk of human liberty, freedom and rights that Mr. H. H. Curran prates about before the Senate lobby committee. Fine stuff, indeed. What we drys want to know is just where a man's right to individual liberty ends.

For instance, we should like to ask Mr. Curran the question, and right to his face, whether a man has a right to get drunk and try to sing the Indian Love Call. Now, answer that, Mr. Curran!

For three days now he has been appearing before that lobby committee and talking about the revolution that is coming, about three out of every four people being in revolt every day, about crossing the bridge when you come to it on the question of whether he should be willing to take up arms in defense of liberty.

* * * *

WHAT the committee should hear before it repeals the eighteenth amendment, before it is rushed into hasty action by the soft and convincing words of Mr. Curran, before it succumbs to his persuasiveness—we say what the committee should hear before it takes final action are the people next door.

How about them, huh? Don't they have any rights? Is there to be no curtailment at all of this effort at the Indian Love Call?

We don't want to be fanatical about this business and if the committee is seriously desirous of being fair to all mankind, it will strike upon some compromise. Ah, how often have the legislators so truthfully said that all legislation is the result of bargaining and compromise.

WELL, then get a compromise on this Indian Love Call business. The first verse and the first part of the chorus might be permitted. It can not be seriously disputed that the effort at the latter part of that chorus is nothing but a loud screech. We are referring to that echo part, to that oooh stuff.

The first of the thing may be taken in even tenor and with no more than the ordinary drunk discord. But the effort to attain those high notes, deeply moving and inspiring as they are admitted to be—a noise that begins reasonably enough, but inevitably ends in a loud, piercing screech, a shocking thing in the middle of the night, something that makes respectable people think a burglar is in the house—well, now to say that should not be regulated, is to say that the drys are not citizens, that they have no rights at all.

Mr. Curran and the committee who are engaged in a sincere effort to work this thing out, might very well study these notes, permit certain ones of them to be sung and taboo the others outright.

Of course, the drys are absolutely right when they say there would still be a bootlegging of Indian Love Call notes.

HALE REQUESTS CONFEREES TO SUSPEND PACT JUDGMENT

a departure from the Washington conference which permitted small aircraft carriers to be retained.

Third—All five powers are to sign the provisions of the treaty having to do with battleship and aircraft carrier limitations and the humanizing of submarines.

Fourth—Of America's fifteen-cruiser program, authorized last year by the Congress, seven may be built any time America desires and the United States has permission to lay down three during the years 1933, 1934 and 1935. The remaining five may not be built, according to the terms of the treaty.

Fifth—Respecting the contingent clause whereby Great Britain reserves the right to exceed the treaty limitations if France carries out her naval program, America will have the right to build whatever types of ship the British need as security against France, but America must build the same types of ship which the British feel required to build in excess of the limitation.

Senator Hale's speech precipitated no debate excepting an inquiry by Senator Connally, of Texas, as to whether the foreign relations committee proposed to hold hearings. Mr. Connally agreed that hearings should be held. Mr. Hale in his speech said:

"Section 7, of article 1, of the Constitution provides that Congress shall have power to provide and maintain a navy; also to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into effect the foregoing powers.

"Under section 2, of article 2, of the Constitution, the President shall be commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy of the United States.

Responsibility of Congress.

"He has no power over the provision and maintenance of the Navy other than the right of veto of any legislation pertaining thereto, and the right to make treaties with the advice and consent of the Senate, and the further right, under section 3 of Article II of the Constitution, from time to time to give to the Congress information on the state of the Union and to recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient.

"On Congress rests the full responsibility of determining the strength and make-up of the American Navy, except insofar as limited by treaty agreements which must themselves be ratified by a two-thirds vote in the Senate.

"In the case of the London Treaty, which it is to be assumed will soon be presented to the Senate, the President was especially requested by the act of February 13, 1929, to encourage an international agreement for the further limitation of armaments.

Hoover Seeks Treaty.

"Under this request by Congress the President has quite properly sought to negotiate a treaty providing for the further limitation of armament. The actual text of the treaty has not yet been presented to the Senate and will not, I assume, be so presented to us until the treaty has been actually negotiated and brought back to this country.

"A good deal of information has been given out about the terms of the treaty, but until the text is actually before us it is manifestly impossible for us to determine its merits or demerits.

"From the reports that already have come to us it is evident that the general policy of Congress in relation to cruisers, as evidenced by all cruiser legislation that Congress has enacted since the date of the signing of the Washington Treaty, in 1922, to build nothing but the 8-inch-gun treaty cruisers that our needs require, has been set aside.

"This policy of the Congress was insisted upon by the last administration at the Geneva conference, and has been supported until very recently by practically all responsible naval opinion. If it is to be set aside, the advisability of so doing must be demonstrated.

"This question and other naval questions involved in the treaty are very technical in their character and require a thorough and intensive study before intelligent support or opposition to the terms of the treaty can be given, and I am certain that very few of the members of the Senate have as yet given it that thorough and intensive study.

"The treaty when it comes to us, of course, will be referred to the committee on foreign relations and that committee will make its report to the Senate.

"I think it is highly essential and entirely fitting that the committee on naval affairs, of which I am chairman, and which has to handle all legislation involving the authorization of naval construction hold hearings and get the best naval opinion on the purely naval problems dealt with by the treaty. Information acquired in these hearings will then be available for the use of the Senate when the treaty comes up for ratification.

"I hope very much that senators will not determine their positions on ratification of a treaty which so vitally affects the national defense of the country until the information to be acquired at these hearings is laid before them."

LETTER IS REVEALED

should take the stand," Mr. Stayton wrote, "it would cause a great many people to be more generous as to Mr. Hoover's attitude. I think there are thousands of people—and especially prominent people here—who would at once say that, if Gen. Atterbury with his strong convictions on this subject is willing to wait for Mr. Hoover's calm consideration, then the rest of us ought equally to be willing to wait—and I believe that a real service would thereby be done to the Republican party."

The letter said Mr. Graham was thinking "not only of the wet and dry issue, but also of the Republican party, which he very dearly loves."

A letter written the latter part of last year by John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which requested funds for the association, also was placed in the record.

It was sent to 494 persons who contributed to the Democratic campaign fund and resulted in twelve donations totaling $875. A similar letter, sent to 240 Republicans by Lammot du Pont, an official of the association, brought in five contributions aggregating $2,125.

Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, said yesterday he had intended to recall Mr. Raskob before the committee for questioning concerning the letter, but that the Democratic chairman was in Europe and would not return for two months.

Mr. Curran predicted the prohibition law would be repealed within five years, and maintained that a change of sentiment was certain among members of Congress. He said Thursday they were three to one for prohibition.

"There is a tide of opinion that can not be stopped," he asserted. "It is on its way."

Already, he added, Government officials are "backing away" from the Jones law providing for five years in jail and a $10,000 fine for prohibition violations. He predicted also that the Sheppard bill to make the purchaser of liquor equally guilty with the seller and the Wickersham proposal to "abolish trial by jury in contravention of the Bill of Rights" would not receive congressional approval.

Georgia Labor Union Defeats Wet Proposal

Waycross, Ga., April 18 (A.P.).—A resolution favoring modification of the prohibition law to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer met overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Georgia Federation of Labor in convention here today.

The resolution was reported favorably by the resolutions committee, but shortly after debate started was tabled by a large vote.

The organization of the federation was changed so as to have a vice president in every city that has a central labor body and an organizer and legal representative in each city in which there is a local union.

POSTOFFICE LEASE INQUIRY ORDERED

Blaine to Head Committee to Study Allegations of Corruption.

BROWN WELCOMES QUIZ

(Associated Press.)

A sweeping investigation of Government leases for postoffice buildings was ordered yesterday by the Senate and will begin early next week.

Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, author of the resolution calling for inquiries into the more than 1,200 leases, in connection with charges of fraud and corruption, will be chairman of the special committee of five that will make the study. Vice President Curtis will name the other members of the committee when the Senate meets at noon Monday.

Mr. Blaine said last night he would organize the investigating group "immediately." He is working out a plan of operation to present at the first meeting, and expects to organize material now available before calling witnesses.

Postmaster General Brown has welcomed the investigation, asserting that his administration is not involved. No opposition was voiced in the Senate when the resolution was adopted without a record vote.

Representative Maas (Republican), Minnesota, has charged Mr. Brown with "deliberately attempting to mislead the Senate" in connection with the St. Paul postoffice commercial substation.

The St. Paul lease has been vacated by the Postoffice Department and the case is now pending in the court of claims. The department has withheld rent on the building since 1928 and the owners are now sueing.

This lease which a grand jury charged was "tainted with fraud" brought on the investigation.

The demand for investigation was raised in the Senate when the Postoffice Department appropriation measure came up for passage. Representative Maas had demandad the investigation earlier in the House, insisting that a specific direction against use of any appropriation funds for payment of the St. Paul rent be included.

HEFLIN WILL APPEAL TO RANKS OF PARTY

Alabama Bolter Plans to Go on Stump in an Effort to Get on Ticket.

TO TALK IN SENATE FIRST

(Associated Press.)

Deprived of a place on the Democratic ticket because of his failure to support Alfred E. Smith's presidential candidacy, Senator Heflin, of Alabama, is going on the stump next week in Alabama to appeal to the voters for renomination as a Democrat.

The decision Thursday of the State Supreme Court upholding the ruling of the Democratic State committee barring candidates from the party primary who failed to support the Smith ticket was answered yesterday by the Alabaman with the notice that he will go to the voters.

"The failure of the Supreme Court to pass on the issue presented," said Senator Heflin in a statement, "leaves the punitive, outrageous and vindictive provision laid down by the strangely influenced 'Raskobian' members of the State committee hanging like a pall over the heads of 185,000 life-long Democrats in Alabama.

"There is nothing left for us to do now but appeal the case to the rank and file of the party. They constitute the Supreme Court of the Democratic party in Alabama, and I shall take the case to them confident of success."

Two other candidates have announced already for the Democratic senatorial nomination at the Alabama primary to be held early next month, and Senator Heflin's determination to get it in the face of the refusal to place his name on the ticket assures a bitter contest.

Senator Heflin said he will go to Alabama within a few days but he added that prior to his departure he intends to have something to say on his case in the Senate.

LIQUOR SHOPS PICKETED

Bombay, India, April 18 (A.P.).—India as a whole remained comparatively quiet today in both demonstrations and arrests, but there were some signs tonight of restlessness.

At Calyan, a suburb of Bombay, the police arrested Jammadas Mehta, formerly a prominent member of the legislative assembly, who recently joined the civil disobedience movement.

Mahatma Gandhi remained in the Navsari district today, but made plans to leave for Bardoli tomorrow. Addressing 500 followers during the afternoon, he again expressed surprise that he was still at liberty while many of those whom he "instigated to break the salt laws have been cast into jail."

Reaffirming his civil disobedience doctrine in another speech, he said: "We must be prepared to sacrifice men of pure character. If Swaraj (independence) is built on their ashes it will be a glorious structure. I would dance for joy if you received bullet wounds in your bare chest, but if you were guilty of violence tears of blood would come to my eyes."

One of the day's developments was the action of a band of women headed by Mrs. Gandhi in opening a campaign of picketing the liquor shops in Jalapur and other places in the Surat district. Miss Mithuben Petet, one of the leaders of the campaign, said that women had achieved what the men were unable to do, since already some 20,000 men had pledged themselves to give up liquor.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Pen Women Fete Will Be Attended by Many Guests.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE Easter season finds many of the diplomats on the wing—the German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron in White Sulphur Springs, where they will remain over Sunday; Lady Lindsay, wife of the British Ambassador, in New York, where Sir Ronald is to join her early next week, and the French Ambassador and Mme. Claudel making plans to sail for Europe early in May.

Having taken passage on the S. S. Paris, sailing May 2, M. and Mme. Claudel will be in New York after April 28 and propose to do considerable entertaining there prior to their departure. On April 29 M. and Mme. Claudel will give a reception at the Ritz Tower, where they will stay, for the French colony in New York. On April 30 they will have a dinner in honor of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, at which a distinguished group of bankers will be guests, and they will have another dinner party on May 1.

Mlle. Reine Claudel will sail from New York next Friday for a trip to Tunis, in North Africa, where she will visit M. and Mme. Merilion for several weeks. Mme. Claudel will accompany her to New York on Tuesday, but will rejoin the ambassador in Washington after saying bon voyage to her daughter for the few days before they definitely shake the dust of the Capital from their feet. Mme. Claudel and the younger members of the family expect to remain abroad all summer, the ambassador probably returning earlier.

While he is abroad, Ambassador Claudel hopes to attend the premier of an opera based on the life of Christopher Columbus, which he has written, with music by M. Darius Milhaud, leader of the modern school of French music, and which is to be presented at the Berlin Opera House. Although he is internationally known as poet and playwright, this is M. Claudel's first adventure into the poetry of an operatic libretto. The collaboration between Ambassador Claudel and M. Milhaud began years ago when both held diplomatic posts in Rio de Janeiro, but the opera has only recently been completed.

Lady Lindsay went to New York yesterday to stay with Mrs. Bayard Cutting, mother of Senator Bronson Cutting, in her residence there for about ten days. The British Ambassador will remain in town over the week-end, but on Tuesday will go to New York to be the guest of Mrs. Cutting for a few days and to return to Washington with Lady Lindsay.

Sir Lionel Earle, Minister of Public Works of Great Britain, who has been in town to survey with Sir Ronald and Lady Lindsay the work on the new British Embassy, now nearing completion, will start today for New York, accompanied by Lady Earle, and after a few days they will sail for England.

The German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz have been in the South for a week or more and attended the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Charleston, S. C., before going to White Sulphur.

The Persian Minister, Mirza Davoud Khan Meftah, who went to New York Thursday, will sail today on the Milwaukee, Hamburg-American Line, for Europe, whence he will go to his home in Persia. While it is not definite, the minister hopes that his trip to Teheran will be only for a vacation, and that he will return to Washington in October, so his leave-taking has been rather in the form of "au revoir" than good-by.

Senator and Mrs. Oddie Return from Charleston.

Senator and Mrs. Tasker Oddie have returned from Charleston, S. C., where they went a week ago to attend the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the city.

Mrs. James E. Watson, wife of Senator Watson, left town yesterday for a motor trip to Indiana and will be absent two weeks. Mrs. John Mock accompanied her.

Senator and Mrs. Royal S. Copeland will entertain at the dinner dance this evening in the gold room of the Wardman Park Hotel for their son, Mr. Royal S. Copeland, jr., who joined them yesterday at the hotel. The guests will be members of the younger set. Mrs. Copeland and her son will go to New York on Monday to pass the remainder of his spring vacation from the University of Syracuse.

Mrs. Charles Aubrey Eaton and Miss Starr Eaton, wife and daughter of Representative Eaton, are closing their home at 2715 Q street and are leaving for Plainfield, N. J., where Representative Eaton will join them after the close of Congress. Mrs. Eaton will not again observe her Tuesday afternoons at home this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls Sojourning at Spa.

Mr. David Sinton Ingalls, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aviation, and Mrs. Ingalls, have gone to Hot Springs, Va., to remain a few days.

Mrs. Everett Sanders entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Mayflower in honor of Mrs. Charles Minshall and Mrs. George Buntin, of Terre Haute, Ind., who are passing the week in Washington.

Her other guests were Mrs. Arthur R. Robinson, Mrs. John Lord O'Brien, Mme. Grouitch, Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith, Mrs. Frank W. Mondell, Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, Mrs. Wade H. Ellis, Mrs. John Allan Dougherty and Mrs. Robert D. Heinl.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. McCormick-Goodhart will entertain a party of fourteen at the dinner dance this evening in the gold room of the Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. Hugo Cutter and Mrs. Lee Cutter of Staten Island, N. Y., have returned home after passing several days in Washington.

Representative and Mrs. Joe J. Manlove, who make their home at the Hotel Roosevelt, entertained a few friends at luncheon yesterday at the Capitol. Among their guests were Mrs. Soloman Stoddard and Miss Marcia Eberlein, of Sarcoxie, Mo.

T. J. B. Robinson and Wife Motoring to Valley Forge.

Representative and Mrs. T. J. B. Robinson with the former's brother, Mr. W. L. Robinson; their granddaughter, Miss Betty Bell Thornton, and their daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Clinton, will motor today to Valley Forge to pass the week-end.

Mr. Robinson will go from there to New York and will sail on Tuesday for Europe to meet his daughter, Miss Ruth Robinson, who has been studying in Paris. They will return shortly and will come to Washington to visit Representative and Mrs. Robinson in their apartment at the Hotel Roosevelt before going to their home in Hampton, Iowa. Miss Thornton will remain with her grandparents at the hotel until they motor to their home in Hampton for the summer.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt had guests lunching with her yesterday at the Carlton.

Miss Jessica McPherson, of New York, who will be presented to society next season, will arrive in town today to visit her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Trescott.

Judge Paul Myron Lineberger sailed yesterday for China, accompanied by his son, Mr. Paul Lineberger, jr. Judge Lineberger is the legal adviser to the nationalist government at Nanking. His son will enter the University at Nanking, and Mrs. Lineberger, who will remain in Washington for the present with her younger son, Wentworth, will join them later.

Mr. Stephen H. P. Pell Is Capital Visitor.

Mr. Stephen H. P. Pell has arrived at the Mayflower to be with Mrs. Pell and her father, Col. Robert M. Thompson, who recently came from the South to attend the wedding of Miss Hilda Sykes and Mr. Charles Duthie Thom, which will be solemnized today at noon at the home of Mrs. Richard Wainwright.

Mrs. Elmer Schlesinger has returned to Washington, after a brief stay in New York. Her daughter, Mrs. Felicia Gizycka, will go to Middleburg next week for a few days' hunting. She was in Middleburg last week as the guest of Mrs. Charles Cary Rumsey, of New York.

Mrs. Melville Stone, with her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Stone, of New York, are at the Wardman Park Hotel for the week-end.

MRS. THOMAS H. SHANTON, wife of Lieut. Col. Shanton, who has recently arrived in Washington and who is living at 1626 Seventeenth street.

Paris Wedding Arranged for McKee Scion

Miss Pillsbury Will Be Bride of Descendant of Old Family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stinson Pillsbury, of Minneapolis and Keswick, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Katherine Stevens Pillsbury, to Mr. Elliott Bates McKee, son of Mrs. Frederick H Brooke, of Washington and nephew of Mr. Lanier McKee, of New York.

The news is of great interest to Washingtonians, for Mr. McKee's family has been identified with the Capital for generations. He is a grandson of the late Mrs. A. E. Bates, one of the grandest dames of an older day, whose leadership in social and philanthropic activities has descended to her daughter, Mrs. Brooke. Mrs. Charles Parker Stone, formerly Miss Frances Dunn McKee, who is carrying on the tradition of leadership in her own generation, is a sister of Mr. McKee.

The marriage will take place in Paris in May, presumably with members of the Brooke and Pillsbury clans in attendance. Mr. McKee is now in the Paris office of the National City Bank. A graduate of the Fay School of Southboro, Mass.; St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and Yale, class of 1926, he took postgraduate work at Cambridge, studying at Christ College in 1928.

Miss Pillsbury is a graduate of St. Timothy's, Catonsville, Md., and of Smith College.

Mrs. Brooke will entertain informally at tea this afternoon for a few of Mr. McKee's friends, who will have opportunity to "hear all about it."

Mrs. W. Harry Brown, who has been in Paris for some time, has gone to Monte Carlo. Mrs. Brown chartered Mr. Anthony J. Drexel, jr.'s yacht, Queen o' Scots, for a two months' cruise. After a short stay in Cannes she will visit Sicily.

Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey Curran are now in Paris and are passing some time at the Hotel George V. Mrs. Curran was formerly Miss Florence Kip Clark, and is a frequent visitor in Washington.

Mrs. Morrow Visits Son at Amherst.

Mrs. Dwight W. Morrrow, who recently returned to this country from London, where she accompanied her husband, the United States Ambassador to Mexico, has motored from her home in Englewood, N. J., to Amherst, to visit her son, Mr. Dwight W. Morrow, jr.

Arrangements have been made for the marriage of Miss Jane Grant, daughter of Mrs. Issac Hart Purdy, of Salem Center, N. Y., and Mr. Chaffee Grant, of San Diego, Calif., to Martin Smith, jr., son of Mr. Martin Smith, of Yonkers. It will take place at the home of the bride's mother on Tuesday afternoon. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Robert Turner, of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Somers, N. Y.

Miss Miriam Howe, of White Plains, N. Y., will be the bride's only attendant. Mr. Theodore Martin, of Yonkers, will be best man for Mr. Smith.

Miss Grant, who is a great-granddaughter of President U. S. Grant, attended St. Mary's School in Peekskill and Pine Manor in Wellesley, Mass. Mr. Smith is a partner in the George F. Metz Co., of Yonkers.

Senator Will Address New York Dinner.

Senator Royal S. Copeland, Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, retired, and Maj. Gen. William N. Haskell are among the speakers at the annual dinner of the New York Chapter, No. 13, National Sojourners, at Hotel Astor tonight given in honor of Maj. Gen. Wendell Cushing Neville, commandant of the United States Marine Corps and the members of the corps.

Brig. Gen. Sydney Grant, president, will be toastmaster. More than a thousand members of the organization, which is composed of commissioned officers of past and present armed forces, who are Masons, will be present. Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and Gov. John H. Trumbull of Connecticut will attend.

Mrs. John W. Thomas entertained yesterday at luncheon at the Army and Navy Country Club in honor of Mrs. I. D. McFarland, of Houston, Tex., who is here for the D. A. R. Congress. Her guests included Mrs. Morris Sheppard and her mother, Mrs. Sanderson; Mrs. W. S. Gibbs, Mrs. C. B. Jones and Mrs. Kiner, of the Texas delegation; Mrs. Clark Wrenn, Mrs. James Sykes, of Annapolis, and Mrs. Ben Hawley, of Dallas.

Mrs. Stanley P. Woodard, of the Mayflower, has gone to Hot Springs, Va., where she will pass the Easter holidays at the Homestead with Mr. Woodard and their son, Stanley D. Woodard. She will return home on Tuesday.

Many Diplomats Enjoy Sojourns Outside of Washington.

Among the interesting tables at the authors' breakfast Monday at the Willard Hotel, under the auspices of the National League of American Pen Women, will be the "musicians' table," so named in honor of the prize winners in the recent composers' contest given by the National League, who will be seated at this table.

They include Mrs. Walter Bruce Howe, of this city, winner of the $100 first prize; Mrs. Dorothy Radde Emery, winner of first honorable mention, and Mrs. Thatcher Hoyt, known musically as Phyllis Fergus, winner of second honorable mention.

Others at this table will be Mrs. Edward Hood Watson, well known in musical circles here; Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, and a guest, Mrs. Hull; Miss Angela Morgan, poet and president of the Philadelphia branch, with Mrs. Elizabeth J. Marshall, and Mrs. Elizabeth B. Robb, of the Philadelphia branch; Mrs. H. B. Almond, author of the Peter Rabbit stories, and Mr. Thatcher Hoyt.

Judge Ernest I. Edgcomb, of the Supreme Court of New York, and Mrs. Edgcomb are at the Powhatan and plan to remain over Easter.

Mr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, and Mrs. Hutchins spent yesterday in Washington at the Mayflower, en route to New Haven, where the former was associated with Yale prior to his present appointment. They will also spend a few days in New York before returning home.

Maj. and Mrs. Charles LeBaron, jr., will entertain at the dinner dance this evening in the gold room of the Wardman Park Hotel. There will be sixteen in the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Weber Morrison will entertain at a card party this evening at their home on Connecticut avenue.

Mrs. E. S. Land Plans Sojourn In Washington

Aeronautics Expert Will Soon Report for Duty With Fleet.

Mrs. Emory S. Land, wife of Capt. Land, U. S. N., and her mother, Mrs. Dwight Chester, are expected to arrive today from Arizona and will be at the Wardman Park Hotel, where they have taken an apartment for a month.

Capt. Land, who has been on leave, has been working with the Guggenheim Fund for Advancement of Aviation, but soon will report for duty with the United States Fleet. He was formerly assistant chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics.

Capt. and Mrs. Land have been greatly missed by their many friends in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Ball, of Brooklyn, N. Y., are in Washington and are staying at the Potomac Park Apartments.

Mrs. William R. Eaton, wife of Representative Eaton, of Colorado, will entertain at a luncheon today at the Wardman Park Hotel for the delegation from Denver to the D. A. R. Congress.

Mrs. Henry P. Erwin is passing the week-end in New York at the Hotel St. Regis. Miss Dolores Crawford accompanied Mrs. Erwin on the trip.

John Boles to Appear at Texan's Reception.

With Senator Tom Connally as the principal speaker, the Texas State Society will give a reception and ball on Monday evening at the Washington Hotel at 8:30 o'clock in celebration of San Jacinto Day. It is expected that John Boles, movie star, who has been appearing "in person" in Washington in connection with his picture, "Captain of the Guard," will be present. He is a Texan and is looking forward to foregathering with his fellow Texans.

Mrs. John Mitchell, of Brookline, Pa., accompanied by Miss Lola M. March, of Philadelphia, are at the Dodge Hotel for the week-end.

Maj. Christie-Miller, of London, is a guest at the Willard over Easter, having with him his two daughters, Miss Rosemary Christie-Miller and Miss Lavender Christie-Miller, of Salisbury, England. They have been spending some time at Villa Margherita, Charleston, S. C.

Mme. Paul Lessinoff has taken a box for the presentation of "Andrea Chenier" by the Metropolitan Opera Company at the Fox Theater on Thursday evening, April 24, and will entertain at supper afterward at her recently completed house in Belmont road. Mme. Lessinoff has sent out invitations for a dance at her residence on Monday evening, May 12, at 10 o'clock, in honor of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William North Sturtevant. Miss Farrar, who has been visiting Mme. Lessinoff, will return to her home in Erie, Pa., after the opera.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

A charming new model of feminine appeal.

It will be difficult to find a better way to make your printed crepe silk frock than as Style No. 8187 pictured.

The scarf collar gives a lovely soft effect to the bodice. It carries a sportive air with long flying ends at the back. The girdle shirred at the front, just hugs the figure to achieve flat hipline.

Style No. 8187 can be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

Black silk crepe with scarf in eggshell shade is very chic.

Paquin red chiffon and periwinkle blue crepe marocain are delightfully attractive.

Price of pattern, 15 cents. Address Fashion Department, Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue, New York City.

HIGH LIGHTS OF GREAT WORLD WAR

As Related by the Veterans Themselves

They All Were

Upon entering each and every French town, the first thing to attract attention was a large sign, "Dubonnet." It did not take the soldier long to learn that "Dubonnet" was something that is not served—openly—in America, since the advent of the eighteenth amendment.

Sergt. X. was busily engaged in helping Gen. Pershing win the war and had not even read anything that was not a military order, nor entered a cafe where anything stronger than coffee was served.

The train on which he was riding stopped in a little town, and as he was sitting near the door, some of the men asked him to look out and tell them the name of the town. Sergt. X. looked and then promptly replied, "This is Dubonnet."

WALKER H. COLSTON,
D. C. Chapter, Rainbow Division Veterans.

A Pointed Speech

All war veterans are familiar with the assignment of highly trained men to the wrong jobs. Crackerjack veterinaries assigned to signal corps duty and all that sort of thing. Sigurd Hansen, born in Norway and for many years a real deep water U. S. Navy sailor, was commissioned a junior grade lieutenant in the Navy. He belonged on deep-water ships, the rougher the better. But he was assigned to the U. S. S. Yale, a ferry that carried American troops from England to France. His duties were those of morale officer. He was supposed to give the boys a real patriotic speech, to pep 'em up and send 'em in. His speech, just before they pulled into a French port was, "Now listen, you fellers, the Navy has brought you over here. This is as far as we look out for you. In a few days you'll be getting shot at and from now on its a case of you Army guys looking out for yourselves."

HARVEY L. MILLER,
Front Line Post, V. F. W.

Found Out Probably

Soon after arriving in Camp Bowie, Tex., it was discovered that a big, redheaded mountaineer not only was a prize "gold brick," but the source of many a half-witted remark that convulsed the company. On the day after our first rifles were issued, we were marched out on the drill field to receive instructions as to their use. "Red" had answered sick call that morning, but was unable to convince the doctors that his ailment required a day of rest and was ordered to report for duty.

In the meantime, on the drill field, our lieutenant was illustrating that a proper execution of the manual of arms required the left hand to grasp the rifle at the weight center so that the rifle would balance in that hand. He had just finished telling us that such weight center was called the "balance" of the rifle when "Red" sauntered up, gave an awkward right-shoulder salute and reported:

"Sir, Private Jones reports for duty."

The lieutenant, with his mind still intent on his instructions to the company, glanced over his shoulder at "Red" and inquired:

"Jones, where is the "balance" of your rifle?"

Jones looked surprised and, casting a hasty glance at his rifle on his shoulder, stammered:

"I-I-I d-d-don't know, sir. I thought I had it all with me."

DALE H. FLAGG,
111th Engineers.

You Said It

During the Marne defensive a brigadier general was doing a little reconnoitering on his own. He knew of a colored detachment that was supposed to be occupying some woods about a mile ahead of him. He started toward the woods, which were being shelled, to look the situation over. From out of the woods there emerged on a high lope a colored individual. He nearly ran over the general, who halted him.

"Where you going, man? Scared, I suppose, and running away?"

"No, suh," replied the frightened one, "I'se not scared, but my feet wouldn't obey my mind, and dey is carrying me away from that mess back yonder."

"Well," thundered the general, "you make those feet carry you right back, and if I see you retreating in this disgraceful manner again I'll shoot you."

"Yes, suh, yes, suh," stammered the colored one, and reluctantly started to retrace his steps. Then an inspiration seemed to hit him. Turning to the general, he said:

"Who is you, to be giving orders? Is you a captain?"

"No," roared the general; "I'm the general commanding this brigade."

"Lawse me," retorted the darky, "I'se sure run a long ways to get back where the generals is."

Worth the Money

On the morning of September 28, 1918, the third day of the Argonne drive, around about 5 o'clock in the morning, I had an awful craving for a cup of coffee, so I said to Bowen, another runner, "What would you like to have?" He said coffee. He asked the lieutenant could we go back down the road and try to locate a rolling kitchen. He said, "Certainly, but you sure are taking a chance because the enemy is shelling the cross-roads around Montfaucon." We walked two hours before we came across a rolling kitchen, which was a French one, in a field surrounded by a few bushes. Bowen said, "I'll go over and ask for coffee." He wasn't gone very long and he came back looking like he had lost his best friend. I asked him what did the cook say. He said something sounding like he was cursing, but he ended by saying "fini;" both of us went back over there; the French cook said, "fini." I reached in my pocket and pulled out a 20 franc note, equivalent to $3.87 in our money at that time; then he said he had beaucoup coffee, so we both had a cup of black coffee and went back to our outfit rejoicing.

Fastest Light Cruiser Claimed by Italians

Ancona, Italy, April 18 (A.P.).—The Italian admiralty claims the world's speed record in big ships for the light cruiser Nicoloso Da Recco, which recently made 41.504 miles an hour. This bettered the record held by the French destroyer Bison at 41.2 miles an hour.

The contract speed for the Nicoloso Da Recco was 38 miles per hour. The cruiser, which is the first to be launched by the Ancona Shipbuilding Works, will be the flagship of the "navigator's division."

CHURCHES PREPARE FOR EASTER RITES

Two Sunrise Services Will Greet Dawn of Day of Resurrection.

TABLEAU IS SCHEDULED

Easter will be observed in Washington churches tomorrow, with hope and happiness as the predominating themes of sermons, prayers and hymns. Lilies and other appropriate flowers will adorn the churches.

Two large sunrise services will be held, one at Walter Reed Hospital and the other at Temple Heights. Both services are annual events in the National Capital. The service at Walter Reed will begin at 7:30 o'clock and will be broadcast over the National Broadcasting system.

A costumed tableau will be presented at the Walter Reed Hospital entitled, "The Empty Tomb." This is a portrayal of St. Luke's account of the women's visit to the Holy Sepulcher early Easter morning. Col. Julian E. Yates, chief of chaplains of the U. S. Army, will deliver the Easter message.

Federation Sponsors Service.

The Temple Heights service will be given under the auspices of the Washington Federation of Churches in cooperation with a number of young people's organizations of the District. Dr. David A. Robertson, president of the federation, will preside. Percy S. Foster will direct the music.

The Easter Festival Service and celebration of Holy Communion in the Bethlehem Chapel of Washington Cathedral will be held at 11 o'clock, with the dean, the Very Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl, as preacher. At the same hour there will be morning prayer and sermon in the Chapel of the Resurrection, with Canon Anson Phelps Stokes as preacher, and in the Chapel of St. Joseph of Arimathea, with the Rev. John W. Gunmere as preacher.

The Bishop of Washington, the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, will deliver the sermon at the festival evensong service in the Bethlehem Chapel at 4 o'clock. Arrangements have been made for overflow services. There will be celebrations of Holy Communion in the Bethlehem Chapel at 7:30 and 9:15 o'clock and morning prayer without music will be read in the Chapel of St. Joseph of Arimathea at 10 o'clock.

Sunrise Service Scheduled.

A sunrise service will be held at 5:30 o'clock tomorrow morning on the top of the tower of the new Universalist National Memorial Church. The Young Peoples Christian Union will conduct the service. The Rev. Frederic W. Perkins, pastor of the church, will preach at the 11 o'clock service and at the vesper service at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Special Easter music will be rendered at both services.

Catholic churches of the city will observe the religious holiday with special masses befitting the day. The Right Rev. John M. McNamara, Auxiliary Bishop of Washington, will conduct the solemn pontifical mass at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Gabriel's Church. He will be assisted by the Rev. Joseph M. Nelligan and the Rev. Thomas F. Sweeney. The sermon will be preached by the bishop.

An elaborate service is planned at the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 11 o'clock, when solemn high mass will be celebrated following the customary masses at 7, 9 and 10:15 a. m. The Rev. Stanislaus A. Czyz will conduct the 11 o'clock mass with the assistance of two friars of Atonement acting as deacon and subdeacon. The Rev. Francis J. Hurney, pastor, will preach the sermon.

Special Music Planned.

Special music is scheduled under the direction of Harry Wheaton Howard. An orchestra will play and solos will be sung by Frederick Nolan, Miss Florence Yocum and Miss Catherine Bowers.

Solemn high mass will be celebrated at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's Church, with the Rev. Patrick J. Healy in charge. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Richard S. Cartwright. Low mass will be said at noon, with the Rev. Andrew W. Thomas preaching the sermon.

Holy mass and communion will be celebrated in the Holy Sepulcher at the Franciscan Monastery at 6 o'clock in the morning. Solemn high mass will be conducted at 9 o'clock, and at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon the compline sermon and solemn benediction are scheduled. The church will be open all day to visitors and will be beautifully decorated.

At St. Mary's Church Easter will open with a solemn high mass at 5:30 a. m., with the Rev. C. J. Jordan acting as celebrant. He will be assisted by the Rev. William Maguire, deacon, and the Rev. Norbert Miller, subdeacon. Father Maguire will preach the sermon.

Low Masses to Be Said.

Low masses will be said at 7, 8:15, 9:30 and 11:30 a. m. Benediction will be given after the 9:30 mass. A shrine, representing the tomb of Christ with a figure of the Resurrection, attended by angels, has been placed in the church.

In honor of St. Anthony, novena devotions will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Cuthbert Dittmeier will preach the sermon.

The following pastors will conduct special Easter services, supplemented with appropriate music: The Rev. Henry W. Snyder, pastor of St. Paul's English Luthern Church, at the Metropolitan Theater because of inadequate room at the Luthern Church; the Rev. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, at All Souls Unitarian Church; the Rev. Charles Stewart, at Lincoln Congregational Temple; the Rev. William Earl La Rue, at Takoma Park Baptist Church; the Rev. Edward O. Clark, Chevy Chase Baptist Church.

Others to Officiate.

The Rev. Fred C. Reynolds, Wesley Merodist Episcopal Church; the Rev. John J. Queally, Church of the Transfiguration; the Rev. A. F. Elmes, Peoples Congregational Church; the Rev. William A. Lambeth, Mount Vernon Place Mehodist Episcopal Church; the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, Ney York Avenue Presbyterian; the Rev. J. L. S. Holloman, Second Baptist.

The Rev. Henry D. Tillman, John Wesley A. M. E. Zion Church; the Rev. George O. Bullock, Third Baptist; the Rev. B. H. Melton, Ninth Street Christian; the Rev. William D. Jarvis, New Bethel Baptist.

An Easter song and praise meeting will be held at the Institutional Union Mission at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. The Rev. J. H. Curtis will preach the sermon. Lantern slides will be shown by the Rev. I. N. Beaman. The Rev. W. H. Jackson will also speak.

Jeanette Prince soprano; M. Emma Bowen, contralto; Donovan Philips, tenor; Earl Carbauh, barytone, and John Russell Mason, organist.

Sixth.

11 a. m.—The music will be rendered by the chorus choir under the direction of Muriel Owen Day, organist and director, and by the solo quartet—Gladys Marks, soprano; Joan Ramsay, contralto; Walter Studdiford, tenor; Howard Moore, barytone.

The program at the morning service, 11 o'clock, will include organ prelude, "Christus Resurrexit" (Ravanello); Processional, "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today" (Gauntlett); solo, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" (Handel), Gladys Marks; anthem, "They Have Taken Away My Lord" (Stainer); "Christ Our Passover" (Schilling); Recessional, "Jesus Lives, Thy Terrors Now" (Gauntlett); Postlude, "The Hallalujah Chorus" ("Messiah") (Handel). The vesper service at 5 o'clock will be given over to music. Mrs. Day will give a short organ recital preceding this service.

Western.

The quartet, under the direction of George F. Ross, organist, will render the following music on Easter Sunday morning:

Organ prelude, "Adoration" (Borowski); quartet, "Christ Our Passover" (Shilling); anthem, "Why Seek Ye the Living" (Clare); soprano solo, "Hosanna" (Granier); organ postlude, "Easter" (Faulkes).

At the evening service the following numbers will be given by the quartet: "God Hath Appointed a Day" (Barridge), "As It Began to Dawn" (Foster).

Westminster.

At the morning service Miss Frances Tucker, soprano, and Miss Lillian Llewellyn, contralto, will sing the duet "Haste to the Glorified Garden," by Mendelssohn, and "His Is the Hope of All the World" from "The Lord of Light and Love," by Julian Edwards.

An Easter play will be given at the evening service with incidental music furnished by Mrs. Thomas Stephenson, who will sing "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," by Handel, and appropriate music by members of the Sabbath School.

The characters are as follows: Centurian nobleman, Edward Andrus; his servant, Melville Church; Oani, the scribe, Oliver Anderson; Jairus, Alexander Hamilton; Zerah, the man of excuses, William Church, jr.; a small boy, Sidney Togelgrin; Mary Magdala, Winifred Reeves; Jairus' daughter, Agnes Togelgrin; organist, Mrs. Frank Byram; pianist, Mrs. Lester Walter.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

REGARDLESS of whether or not it will constitute a world-wide radio trust—a question for the Department of Justice to decide—it is easy to see that under the reorganization the Radio Corporation of America will be a much less unwieldy organization than it has been in the past.

"For one thing, the R. C. A. will be completely in charge of its own production," a man in close touch with the deal said. "If a radio set model is not selling, production can be stopped in five minutes.

"In the old way, when Westinghouse and General Electric were manufacturing R. C. A. sets, large orders had to be placed as far as a year in advance, and could not be canceled. You will probably never again see the prices of Radiolas slashed as they have been in the past due to this overproduction.

"Atwater Kent and Crosley, like Henry Ford's enterprises, have been run by one man, whereas the Radio Corporation has been run virtually by an R. C. A.-G. E.-Westinghouse committee. In the future there will be a single directing head, David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America."

IT is also going to simplify things for the National Broadcasting Co., which will be taken over by the R. C. A. Heretofore, M. H. Aylesworth, president of the N. B. C., has had three bosses—Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric Co., the man who appointed him; H. P. Davis, vice president of the Westinghouse, and Gen. James G. Harbord, chairman of the R. C. A. Now Mr. Aylesworth will report directly to Mr. Sarnoff.

An effort is being made to persuade Sir Harry Lauder to make another broadcast before he leaves for home. Sir Harry is at present in New York at the conclusion of a trip around the world.

Some one asked him if prohibition prevailed in Australia, where he recently visited.

"I'll tell you how it is," the comedian answered. "Some places it is wet, and in some parts dry. You can always tell because in the wet district, they get it by the pint, but in the dry district, it comes in barrels."

TONIGHT at 7 o'clock (WRC) will be the last of the grand operas to annoy the Amos 'n' Andy fans this season. At that hour, however, the boys may be picked up over WJZ, KDKA, WHAM or WJR.

Easter sunrise services will be broadcast beginning at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning from Walter Reed Hospital here, followed immediately by a portion of the sunrise services from San Francisco. Both may be heard over WRC.

Malcolm Atterbury, son of Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has joined the staff of Station WHAT, Philadelphia, as assistant program director. He will sing over the station occasionally.

IT can be said on pretty good authority that, excepting for business purposes, Calvin Coolidge doesn't think much of the radio.

Mr. Coolidge is reported to have remarked to a friend that to him the radio was simply "a lot of noises."

Listeners received a jolt when they heard an American member of the London parley delegation who, because of his great knowledge of their language was supposed to be the liaison with the French, pronounce the name of Premier Tardieu as "Mr. Tar-doo."

Leo Reisman, orchestra leader, employed by the Knox hat people for broadcasting, never wears a hat.

FROM the Ohio School of Air:
Teacher: Jack, if your father earned $40 a week and gave your mother half of it, what would she have?
Jack: Heart failure.

Dare Interprets the Mode

One sleeve on, and the other off—just to show you both the nightgown and the negligee version of our new design. (A Dahray Design.)

Paris, April 18.

THREE yards of lovely material, and just tired enough to go to bed and not tired enough to sleep, so I thought I would design a nightgown—after all, why have a French maid (who was born in Spain) unless she can make hand made undies for you?

Well, it was only 12 o'clock then, but what are fleeting hours to art? By the time I had discovered to my surprise and uttermost satisfaction that there were nightgowns and nightgowns, and that I had designed one of the AND variety, it was 3:30 and not a ham sandwich in sight.

And the funny, the extraordinary part of it is, that after all is said and done there's only 15 minutes' worth of sewing on the whole thing! And it has a perfectly divine line, as you can perhaps see from the illustration, although pen and ink can not do justice to it.

Well, there was quite a well-covered up sniff on the part of the maid when I asked her in the morning to take the two necessary stitches for its completion, but they never came to life (the sniffs, not the stitches). For the nightgown is lovely and no one can deny it! So lovely indeed and so simple that I wondered where by several hours in designing it had gone. So lovely that I forthwith decided to use the same draping idea with the addition of large sleeves for a negligee. In the illustration I have shown you the nightgown, which you can picture without the sleeves, and the negligee, which has two sleeves like the one I illustrated. But the lines, my dear, the lines!

Anybody can make it! Anybody can wear it! Anybody can launder it. But no-o-o-o-body can do anything to it without sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet for a nightgown that will be the loveliest and most gracious thing you ever saw, and which, with the simple addition of removable sleeves, becomes a lovely negligee. Better send your envelope today, for the leaflets will be ready Monday and this is one leaflet which won't hang around for any length of time.

Paris goes in for pleating this season in a big way—I mean, very fine tiny pleating, but lots of it. Pleating is to be found on sleeves near the elbow or at wrist, on capes, edging skirt tiers and panels, and incrusted on the waist or skirt in what is known as the "line." It is always self material and consequently unobtrusive, but wholly smart.

You know what I mean by incrusted pleats, don't you? Well, it's what would be called, if it were lace, insertion—strips of pleated material sewn into the garment. Sometimes this pleating is sewn flat at both edges, sometimes only at one edge, and left to hang free as though it were a ruffle.

Tricking up the kitchen—well, if you just haven't gotten around to sending your stamped, self-addressed envelope for this leaflet, and you do send it today—well, I'll send you this week's illustrated leaflet of kitchen tricks.

And tomorrow again you can enjoy the weekly Dare fashion letter. It's in The Sunday Post each week, you know.

The Goofus Duck

(Suggested by F. S. M., Westport, Conn.)

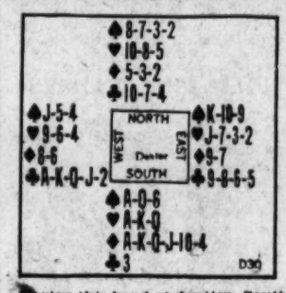
Picturing the Goofus Duck—
For tho he made no extra charge
The artist made the bill too large.
I really think we should complain
And have him draw the duck again!

WORK ON BRIDGE

(This article is intended for the Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)

During the past few weeks we have been considering hands in which entries were needed in dummy, and have shown cases in which hidden entries could be developed when such entries were not apparent. Most of our examples have been given for No Trump play; today we show a suit play in which an entry in dummy is sorely needed and can be obtained. Here is the hand::



Playing this hand at Auction, South would start with one Diamond (the hand is too strong to make pre-emption advisable), and would continue to bid Diamonds over any number of Clubs that West might venture.

At Contract, South should bid five Diamonds. Game would be practically sure if North held the Jack of Spades and that card alone would not justify a jump by North; so South does not dare stop short of a game bid.

With the hand played at either game and with Diamonds the trump, West would lead Clubs twice and South would ruff the second round. Failure to ruff trick 2 would produce another Club lead at trick 3, and as that would be ruffed by South, nothing would be gained by discarding on the second trick.

From the beginning Declarer is sure to take six Diamonds, three Hearts and one Spade — one trick short of game. His only apparent chance for game lies in leading a Spade from dummy for a finesse in GOOD NEWS, BRIDGERS.

We are pleased to announce we can now renew the offer of Milton C. Work's great Contract and Auction booklet entitled "THE PLAYING PROBLEMS." Bridgers who received copies from previous offers are most enthusiastic over it.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS" presents eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding for each hand with reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reason for each answer in complete detail.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

closed hand; and the only way to enter dummy for that purpose is to ruff the Club with a Diamond honor and keep South's Four to be taken with North's Five. As Declarer's combined hands have a total of nine Diamonds, the combined adverse hands have only four and consequently South can ruff with an honor and still draw all the adverse Diamonds even if the unlikely 4-0 division exists. If the more probable 2-2 division is there, ruffing with an honor will give dummy the much needed entry.

It will be noted that if the hand be played in this way and South exhaust the adverse trumps in two rounds, dummy can be put in the lead with his Five of trumps, South leading the Four, and in that way the Spade finesse can be tried; if it succeed, as it would with the above distribution of Spades, a game can be made in spite of the apparently hopeless holding of the dummy.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

HARDY PLANTS FOR HERBACEOUS BEDS.

A FEW days ago in this column I spoke of the advisability of planting hardy herbaceous plants for permanent effects. Today I want to discuss this subject again, dwelling particularly on varieties that I can recommend for the small city or suburban garden.

In such gardens too-strong growers are taboo because, for lack of space, we must use only kinds that keep within bounds and whose roots will not interfere with their neighbors'.

Every garden should have at least one or two clumps of hardy phloxes. These plants have "come up in the world." A few years ago few people noticed them, but today they will not permit us to pass them by. From July until October, and in many places later than that, they are in full bloom, carrying their great heads of many-colored flowers on stout stems from 1½ to 3 feet high.

Phloxes require a little attention every second or third year, when they should be lifted and replanted afresh in well-spaded and manured soil; or, if preferred, beds that have not been disturbed should have a dressing of well-decayed manure forked lightly into the soil.

Always thin out the shoots of young plants when they are 4 or 5 inches high. When the plants are nearly grown, stake them, to prevent their being broken by high winds. And above all else, give them plenty of water during dry weather. They are seemingly always thirsty.

During damp spells, especially in August, your phloxes may mildew. To check this sprinkle flowers-of-sulphur over the plants. This will always check the disease.

If you have room for only two varieties, choose white and salmon pink kinds. Even a few of these plants will lend a brilliant splash of color to any border.

And do let me urge you to plant some German iris (Fleur de Lis). They rival the orchid in sheer beauty and require little attention, thriving anywhere where they are extended a welcome. In May, when the majority of perennials have not come into bloom, the iris unfurls its velvety petals. All the "flag iris," or German varieties, do best in high, dry soil.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of this newspaper, or directly to readers if a self-addressed stamped envelope is supplied.

Wives of Tomorrow

A MODERN SUITOR.

DEAR MISS McDONALD: May I, too, come to you for counsel. You have so wisely helped so many others. I suppose I ought to start by telling you that I am in my late 20s and have been going with a man of 33 for about a year and a half. He is a rather intelligent man, having graduated from two colleges and has a fair income as a lawyer and engineer. He is a lover of peace, but doesn't understand that a woman wants little attentions. I am not a gold digger by any means; in fact, I am quite satisfied if we only go out for a drive occasionally, sometimes to a movie; and although I am very fond of the theater, it is seldom a show. I have been living away from home, which naturally requires more money, and consequently couldn't save. He tells me I do not know the meaning of economics and that I am very extravagant. As far as a friend is concerned, a girl —especially, being away from home— couldn't want for a truer one. However, at one time we were discussing marriage. He is one of four brothers, all of whom his mother wants to marry off to very wealthy girls. At the time we were discussing marriage he wanted me to furnish an apartment, which I couldn't do and which my parents couldn't do. On account of my financial status and his mother's strenuous objections to me, because I am only a respectable and not a wealthy girl, the subject was dropped.

Being with each other so much we have grown to feel that we belong to each other and I can't analyze the situation whether it be love or just the habit of having a male companion.

I may add here that I am a rather attractive girl, have a pleasing personality, intelligent, and can stand on an equal footing with this young man. He thinks I don't understand him and I never will. All of my friends and relatives have tried to persuade me to give him up. No one thinks we will be happy together.

It is rather difficult to intelligently state the situation in a few words, but if you can get an idea of the type of man I am describing, will you please state what might be advice to Say no more! I know the type. He is the 1930 model of male gold-digger. In this particular case he is just what his mother has made him. She has undermined his manhood, if he ever possessed any, by constantly inculcating the thought that he is for sale. He thinks I don't understand him and that it ceases to embarrass him and he can haggle over his price and even compromise to the point of trading himself for a little good furniture.

"IN DOUBT."

Would you mind writing again and telling me what it is in this man that would make you consider him as a husband? I would appreciate it mightily if you would do this, as you seem a type who could if you cared to, really analyze your own reactions and arrive at a correct solution. Hundreds of girls write to me about such men. One girl in today's mail wants to know what I think of a man who keeps hinting for gifts and showing her articles donated to his wardrobe by other girls. He finally said to her, "I think a girl who is close would be better as an old maid than as a wife." Now this is what we are coming to in the year of grace, or disgrace, 1930. The municipality ought to appropriate a fund to supply fire hose and lots of water to duck these bipeds.

Men certainly would not care to be classed with them. Yet girls contemplate marrying them. Won't you write and tell me what you admire in your friend who wants furniture as well as love?

This column is for you! Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help those who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

"ARIES."

IF April 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 a. m. to 8:30 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2:30 p. m., and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:40 p. m.

Relaxing influences are presaged for this date and there will be a tendency to delay things—to rest upon your oars in contemplation and happiness. Mental stimulation. A new friend come into your life.

Children born on this April 19 will have fiery, impetuous, mercurial and unsettled natures. They will be sympathetic, kind and loving, and extremely fond of music. They will be led by their feelings rather than their reason.

You are astrologically pictured as being courageous and full of zest for adventure. It may be that you sometimes bite off more than you can chew, but that is better than going hungry. Your wishes are definite ambitions, you have certain desires which you set above everything else. You offer life all your assets in exchange for fulfilled ambitions. You do not ask, or want, others to pay your way. "You take a trick when you can, and get on with the game." Your goal lies in front of you, and you make straight for it—the innumerable side-alleys of interest and compromise do not distract you. You are willing to sacrifice, to face hardships, and to meet opposition, but you are not willing to be cheated out of your heart's desires. You will have failures, but you will not submit to failures—you are able to pick yourself up again and to go forward.

You do not live solely for yourself, but you realize that you are part of the great human machine that is society. You also realize that the consideration of other people's feelings is as important as the study of your own. You practice self-control—you rule yourself in such a way that you can meet circumstances, even disagreeable ones, with a measure of equanimity. You can give and take discipline in a proper spirit. You have endearing and lasting charms which make you an attractive friend and a lovable partner for your wife or husband.

MAN, LONG MISSING, REAPPEARS AT HOME

ONCE BELIEVED SLAIN

Little Rock, Ark., April 18 (A.P.).—Disappearing strangely a month ago under circumstances which at first led authorities to the theory he was slain, Samuel T. Hollowell, Little Rock salesman, tonight was reunited with his family. He explained his absence by saying that he had been kidnaped and held captive.

Hollowell, 36, appeared yesterday at the home of relatives at Paris, Tenn., where his wife was visiting. After telling of having been abducted and held a prisoner in a cabin near Fort Worth, Tex., he left there for Dover, Ark., to visit his mother.

Maj. James Pitcock, chief of detectives here, said the theory that Hollowell had been slain was abandoned a few days after his disappearance and that he and insurance company investigators had conducted a wide search for him.

Maj. Pitcock said Hollowell had taken out two insurance policies of $10,000 each, containing double indemnity clauses, a short time before he dropped from sight. In addition, Hollowell had a $10,000 Government policy, Pitcock said.

Hollowell said upon his appearance at Paris that he picked up a stranger at a filling station the day after he left his home here and that as another car forced him from the road, he was struck over the head and rendered unconscious. When he regained consciousness, he said, he was in a cabin near Fort Worth where he was being guarded and told he would be held for ransom. He said he escaped two days ago.

Wife Asks Annulment And Divorce Same Day

Miami, Fla., April 18 (A.P.).—Suit for divorce from one man and annullment of a marriage to another were sought in circuit court today by Mrs. Della Frye, who said she discovered after thirteen years that her first husband, with whom she had lived for one day, never had divorced her.

The first marriage, to Leroy Frye, took place in June, 1917, at Bridgeport, Conn. After one day, she claims, Frye deserted her. Later she moved to Hudson, N. Y., where, on June 30, 1922, she married Edward J. McCourt. She believed at that time, she said, that Frye had obtained a divorce. Her suit for divorce names Frye and the annullment suit names McCourt.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE cameras and microphones have played so many strange tricks on so many screen players it has been my privilege to meet, that I awaited the arrival of John Boles, and Mrs. Boles, from the offices of Senator Sheppard, of Texas, their native State, at the press luncheon spread in their honor in the soothingly subdued something-or-other room of the Mayflower Hotel by Mr. Andy Sharick, managing director of the Rialto Theater, yesterday with the utmost curiosity.

JOHN BOLES.

It was a source of nebulous speculation to me whether Mr. Boles—"The Desert Song," "Rio Rita," "Song of the West" and all the others that you know as well as I do—might have been made taller, shorter, thicker or thinner by the unaccountable vagaries of the celluloids. As you will see for yourself during his two days—today and tomorrow—of personal appearances at the Rialto, in conjunction with first Washington presentation of "Captain of the Guard," with which the Ninth street house is rededicated to the new line of Universal special productions, the cinema does nothing to this splendid exponent of the most modern type of articulate acting, but leave him his own unmodified, agreeable and personable self.

Perhaps it may all be expressed more succinctly by the simple statement that Mr. and Mrs. Boles are all that is encompassed by, I hope, the unabused term of "regular." During two hours and a half that seemed a mere fractional fragment of that time, my aged but eagle eye was able to discover no suggestion of pose, artificiality or high hat about these two delightful people from the Lone Star State. To a star gazer of long service in the astronomical field of the theater this places Mr. and Mrs. Boles in a class with very few others, if not entirely by themselves.

THERE were, to be sure, points of contact that narrowed the boundaries of the world somewhat for us. For instance, it developed in course of conversation that Mr. and Mrs. Boles were members of the same group of vocal aspirants that some five or six, or more, years ago sought the tutelage of Jean de Reske, former leading tenor of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, in his villa on the Riviera, in which also was included Mary Lucia Fish, a former luminary of the Crandall Saturday Nighters, whom we personally put upon the ether for some 47 weeks a few years ago when broadcasting was more of a novelty in theater exploitation than it is now. You should have heard the gossip! Or maybe it was merely reminiscence!

At any rate, that was the starting point of a feast of reason and flow of soul. Out of it all I gathered many things that added to my respect for the sagacity as well as the artistic attainment of Mr. Boles. Reference to Mrs. Boles ends here only because she has not pursued a professional stage or screen career.

To begin with, he has accepted a long-term contract engagement with Universal because he perceives in the new policy of the company a complete alliance with the best thought and best tendency of the cinema in its modern trend toward a fulfillment of its promise as one of the greatest media of expression ever known to man. It is no less than that.

He has followed the development of the sound screen from the day when the mechanician presiding at the fader was more the artist than the artist himself, to every intent and purpose, to the present era when the singer is permitted to "do his stuff" and the mechanical department is burdened with no greater task than to record it "as is."

He cites the Lawrence Tibbett production of "The Rogue Song" as the highest exemplification of this theory, joining this department—or this department him, as you will—in the belief that Mr. Tibbett did a fine job.

He is sold on the executive ability of the junior Laemmle, as I, with no personal contact, am nevertheless fast also becoming.

He is an advocate of naturalism on the screen, minimizing makeup and otherwise being wholly himself—which, if you have met him, is enough to explain his success.

He prefers the talking and singing screen to the stage and enjoys making personal appearances, because he feels there is still advantage to both in at least brief personal contact between player and public.

He admits that singing pictures are no cinch to make—which must be true, since so many people have told us so.

IF you must know, Mr. Boles and his wife, both natives of Texas, but born about 150 miles apart this way or that—I forget which—from Dallas, met at college. Each wrote back to the folks at home what a whale of a fellow the other was! And each received approximately this reply: "If you mean the child of So-and-So, from Such-and-Such, bless you my dear; we went to school with both parents 'way back long before you were born."

That, needless to say, made it unanimous. I have never encountered a happier couple. Just to prove it, John lets the missus interrupt and finally tell, his funny stories, and beyond that there is no possible evidence of conjugal felicity, now is there? Certainly not!

After his appearances here, Mr. Boles plays a week in Baltimore, then returns to New York City, goes thence to Chicago and eventually will once more be on the West Coast ready for further "shooting" early in May.

If that isn't enough, then John Boles was born in Greenville, Tex., October 28, 1900—another bond, I having been born October 27, but not that year—and holds his A. B. from the University of Texas. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity and made his debut in pictures in 1926 with Gloria Swanson in "Sunya." Is 6 feet 1 inch tall, has dark brown hair and gray blue eyes, weighs 180 and has played football and baseball.

And on top of all that, he is one swell, elegant fellow. I wouldn't fool you.

FILM TIME TABLES

N. B. FROST CHOSEN DIRECTOR OF BANK

Liberty National Decides on Attorney for New Board Member.

BOND SALES TALK SET

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Norman B. Frost, attorney, of the firm of Frost & Towers, Hibbs Building, was elected to the board of directors of Liberty National Bank at the monthly meeting of that body yesterday.

Mr. Frost is 32 years of age, being born in Montgomery County, Md., October 4, 1897. After attending the District public schools and Washington Preparatory School, in 1916 he entered the Georgetown University School of Law. He interrupted his studies to enter the Army, saw service overseas, and upon conclusion of the armistice was assigned to the staff of Commissioner Henry White at the Paris peace conference, where he remained on duty until the Versailles treaty was signed.

While completing his law studies in 1920, he became law clerk to one of the justices of the Supreme Court of the United States and in 1921 was admitted to the bar. When Hon. Frederic D. McKenney was appointed by the State Department in 1922 to prosecute the Landreau claim against Peru, before a special arbitral tribunal at London, he took Mr. Frost abroad with him as his assistant. Upon returning to the United States in the autumn of 1922 the present firm of Frost & Towers was formed for the general practice of law.

Belongs to Several Clubs.

Mr. Frost is married and lives with his wife and infant daughter, Betty, at 7 West Thornapple street, Chevy Chase, Md. He is president of the Barristers Club, a member of the Columbia Country Club, Ekwanok Country Club, of Manchester, Vt.; University Club and the New Jerusalem Lodge of Masons.

Pretty, Please!

BY a single, well-timed visit to The Hecht Co.'s Men's Shops our friends, being photographed above, have made certain that they will have their pictures published in at least eight rotogravure sections the Sunday after Easter. But what about you? If we know our men (and you know we do), we're willing to bet you haven't bought even so much as a new garter for Easter.

HEIGH-HO, however . . . don't you mind. The Hecht Co. is here with thirty-four Easters behind it, and this year there's as much, if not more, room than ever before. You'll enjoy yourself just as much if you buy a topcoat for $30 or a suit for $75. You'll have that feeling of comfort whether you're carefully examining our Footmodel Oxfords at $6 or nonchalantly buying a glistening silk hat.

AND don't worry about it being the last minute. We're used to such things. We actually expect it. Just go as far as you like . . . buy as much (and we like that) and as varied as you want . . . we'll see to it that your clothes are sent to you in time to wear tomorrow morning. And here's wishing you a happy holiday.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

PREVENTION IN DENTISTRY.

THE Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor has joined the new movement of prevention in dentistry. It has issued a booklet written by Dr. P. R. Howe entitled "Your Children's Teeth." Dr. Howe advises that protection of the teeth of babies begin with feeding the expectant mother.

This is based on the well-known fact that at the moment of birth a child's first set of teeth are fully formed, so far as the body of the tooth is concerned and the makings of some of the permanent teeth are being assembled. To supply the mother with enough lime for her baby's teeth she should be given a diet which contains at least a pint of milk and at least one serving of cereal. To supply the anti-scorbutic principle so necessary for tooth formation she should eat fresh fruit, such as oranges, lemons, and grapefruit; green leafy vegetables, such as spinach, cabbage, and lettuce; a raw vegetable or canned tomato and at least one other.

The mother of a breast-fed baby should eat these same foods that she may supply her baby's tooth needs. The very first supplementary food a baby should have is fruit juice. This should be started within the first month of life. A bottle-fed baby is in especial need of fruit juice in fair quantity. Dr. Howe advises that at the end of the first month a baby take one teaspoon of orange juice twice a day. It should be diluted with an equal quantity of water. By the third month the quantity should be increased to one tablespoonful. One-half tablespoon of tomato juice can be substituted for one teaspoon of orange juice. Two tablespoons of tomato juice can be given daily in the third month.

In the sixth month he would add teaspoon of strained green vegetables daily. This is increased to three tablespoonfuls by the ninth month. In the tenth month he allows strained apple sauce or prune pulp once a day. In the eleventh month two tablespoons of baked potato.

Older children are in even greater need of tooth-protecting foods. Dr Howe advises two daily servings of fruit, one fresh, and at least two vegetables besides potato. Raw cabbage, lettuce, celery, and carrots, finely chopped, are allowed all children who have all their baby teeth. Fresh or canned tomatoes should be given frequently.

DRINKS TOO MUCH WATER.

E. E. M. writes: I drink by force of habit rather than by actual thirst 2 to 2½ gallons of water a day. This is a habit of many years' standing, induced as a child when I was recovering from scarlet fever and a nurse forced me to drink a large quantity of water daily over a period of five weeks. I notice no ill effects from this voluminous imbibing. Can it in time have any?

REPLY.

What else do you find time to do? It is not a good plan to drink too much water, and that you are doing. It overworks your kidneys and causes excessive perspiration. Old time beer guzzlers discovered that man was not built on gallon lines.

WASHINGTON: SATURDAY, APRIL 19, 1930. 15

JOHNSON MAKES EXAMPLE OF JONES AS WARNING

Pegler

NEW YORK, April 17.—The meanest man I know is old man Stevens, who loves a dime or two so well that he won't let a kid dig down in the aisle at the Polo Grounds or the Yankee Stadium to watch an inning of a ball game. For sheer cussedness, I never have seen the like of old man Stevens when a kid sits down his peanut basket or his soda-pop frame and settles himself in the aisle for a quiet look-see.

"Hey Hey! Hey!" and the old man comes out a running and up the steps in his shirtsleeves, raising the very devil over a few hypothetical dimes of concession business.

The old man just seems to have no human understanding in him but I suppose you could excuse this somewhat on the ground of his early experiences. He came out to this country from England upwards of 40 years ago with his young missus and their two young boys and, after scratching for a foothold in the hard soil of New York, got wind of a working job out in some place by the name of Niles. It was an iron working job in a mill and when he went down to the railroad station to buy the tickets he couldn't just say whether it was Niles, Mich., or Niles, Ohio. A fellow standing in the ticket line behind him asked him what he was going to do in Niles.

So the Stevenses Go to Work.

"I am going to work in an iron mill, not that it is any of your business," said young Mr. Stevens.

"Well, in that case," the fellow said, "it's Niles, Ohio, you'll be wanting, and don't be holding up the ticket line all day."

So the Stevenses went to Niles, Ohio. Between them, the old man and the boys, they own a bank and most of the iron works and the best house in town today. He worked in the mill when the mill was running, but the missus and the kids had a habit of eating, so when the mill shut down, as it did from time to time, the old man went out on the roads doing poll-tax work for the county, cutting weeds with a scythe, filling holes in the highways so the farmers could get through in their wagons and digging culverts and one thing and another.

Once he worked for the telephone company, setting poles and to this day when he goes to Niles, he points out a post hole which he dug some 30 odd years ago. He claims that this one is something special in the way of post-holes, and really seems to think the Metropolitan Museum ought to dig it up and put it in a case under some such label as "remarkable nineteenth century post-hole, found near Niles, Ohio, dug by Harry Stevens."

He Always Hustled, Even As a Book Agent.

It may have been these hard experiences which made him so harsh toward boys who want to watch an inning of ball on his time nowadays. He always hustled.

"Hey! Hey! Hey!" He goes a-yelling and up the aisle in his shirtsleeves. As for boys who try to cheat him of a few dimes in cash, I hear he has been nigh unto killing some of them.

There was a politician by the name of Joe Foraker out near Niles in old man Stevens' time in the mill and on the roads, who afterward became governor and United States senator. He put Harry to work selling books from house to house around the State. A book agent is what Harry Stevens was, in the days when no home was complete without one book, but quite complete with one. In time every home in Ohio had a book and old man Stevens had enough money to try New York again.

This time he started selling score cards at the main entrance of the old Polo Grounds. He wore a red coat, but it was his own red coat. If the customers got by him they were lost, and he presently realized that he ought to go around among them when they were settled and more willing to reach for their money. He added a line of peanuts and presently took on an assistant. He has had thousands of assistants since then, at the Polo Grounds, the Yankee Stadium, the Old Garden, all five of the New York race tracks, all four of the Maryland tracks, the Hialeah track in Miami, the Havana track and the old one in Juarez, Mexico; and, of course, the original line of score cards and peanuts has undergone considerable elaboration. He has become a caterer in some places, but at the ball yards he remains what he was in the beginning, the score card and peanut butcher.

Maryland 2-1 Victor Over Va. Poly

Radice's Long Hit and Outfield Error Drive in Runs.

WITH Jack Batson, big right-hander, turning in his third win of the season, University of Maryland's Baseball Team won its third game in the Tri-State League of the Southern Conference yesterday when it defeated Virginia Poly by the score of 2 to 1 on the College Park Diamond. It was V. P. I.'s first defeat in the league this season.

In his three triumphs, Batson has allowed but three runs and 13 hits, only five safe blows being gleaned off the husky hurler's slants yesterday by the cadets. A shutout over Cornell and the holding of Virginia to 2 runs, marks the previous efforts of Batson this season.

Visitors Score in Ninth.

The visitors' only run came in the last frame, when Rice scratched a hit to third as Gaylor fell on the slippery ground trying to field the ball. Rice stole second, continued to third on a bad throw and scored on a long sacrifice fly. The next two men were retired, ending the game.

After five innings of scoreless battling, Maryland broke the ice in the sixth to score the two deciding runs. With one out, Cronin walked and Berger scratched a hit to first. On a hard line drive to center by Radice, Cronin scored and when the outfielder's return peg went past the catcher Berger continued home and Radice pulled up at third. The latter was run down between third and home on the next play, ending the rally.

Berger Hits Long Homer.

The outstanding batting feature of the game was a long-distance clout by "Bozy" Berger in the eighth inning, on which the batter was held to two bases by a ground rule. Berger's hit carried the ball over the top of the concrete stands of Byrd Stadium across the Washington boulevard, a distance of more than 300 feet, the horsehide clearing the structure by 25 feet. Director of Athletics Curly Byrd said it was the longest hit he had seen on the Maryland diamond since 1913 when "Country" Morris propelled the ball over the same spot.

California Official Urges Carnera Ban

San Francisco, April 18 (A.P.).—As a result of an unsatisfactory bout in Oakland last Monday, Charles F. Traung, member of the State Athletic Commission, today recommended to the commission that the licenses of Primo Carnera, huge Italian fighter, and his three managers, be revoked and that Carnera not be allowed to box again in California.

Traung also urged the indefinite suspension of Tim McGrath, manager of Leon Chevalier, Negro boxer; the Negro's two seconds and Frank Churchill, of Los Angeles, nationally known manager of boxers and Carnera's California representative.

In the sixth round, with Chevalier on his feet and not in a bad way, Bob Perry, third assistant second of the Negro, tossed in the towel. A riot followed, Perry being beaten while Carnera's countrymen hooted and booed the sudden ending.

The subsequent investigation revealed that Perry had seconded Neil Clisby, a Negro, in a bout with Carnera in Los Angeles. In addition, testimony was given that Churchill had appeared in Chevalier's corner during the fight and, according to several witnesses, had conversed with one of the Negro's seconds.

Crews Clash Today at Annapolis

Navy Senses Victory Over Champion Columbia Eight.

Massachusetts Tech Entered in 3 of 4 Races on Severn.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 18.—Naval Academy crew followers would not be greatly surprised tomorrow if the Midshipmen varsity bladesmen produced an upset by defeating the champion Columbia University eight and Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the main event of the big regatta on the Severn River.

Navy's crew is a strapping big boat load, composed in the main of the group which swept down the Hudson River to win the freshman event of the Poughkeepsie regatta back in 1928 in record time. The crew is better than a year ago. While not powerful at the outset of the 1929 season, Navy developed into the biggest threat at Poughkeepsie until the shell swamped. Due to air cellars in each end of the shell the Middies finished the Poughkeepsie regatta, though the oarsmen were seated in water.

Middies Powerful In All Classes.

Columbia has a great crew and will be the favorites, but Navy is conceding the New Yorkers nothing as far as the first eight is concerned. In fact, the Middies are more powerful than usual in the junior varsity, freshman and 150-pound events as well. Columbia will contest with the Middies in all four events, while M. I. T. is listed in all but the freshmen event. Owing to perfect weather this afternoon all crews were out in the sunshine, the river being literally dotted with racing eights.

The first race is slated for 3 o'clock, between the 150-pound boatloads. When it starts, high officials of the Navy, who will have attended the dedication of Navy's new $250,000 boathouse, will be ready to follow the shells. The boathouse dedication, in which the shed will be named after Rear Admiral John Hubbard, retired, of Washington, D. C., will immediately precede the regatta. Three hundred guests have been invited to the dedication.

Dedication Program Is Extensive.

The dedication program is extensive. At noon a luncheon will be served at the Officers' Club. At 1:30 o'clock the ceremonies at the house will begin, with introductory remarks by Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robison, superintendent of the academy. Addresses by Admiral Hubbard and Representative Stephen W. Gambrill, of Maryland, whose endevaors were mainly responsible for the congressional appropriation for the building.

The races will be run off at half-hour intervals, in the following order: 150 pounders, plebes, junior varsity. The race will be rowed on the upper course, permitting all spectators from boats to witness the races. Subchasers of the academy will bear a large contingent of rooters.

The line-ups of the varsity crews, as announced by the coaches, after today's trials follow:

Navy—Cox, Rivero; stroke, Westhofen; No. 7, Jung; No. 6, Hunter; No. 5, Shelton; No. 4, Crinkley; No. 3, Gray; No. 2, Keihlbaugh, and bow, Schoeni.

Columbia—Cox, Michels; stroke, Sanford; No. 7, Gangle; No. 6, Blesse; No. 5, Grafer; No. 4, Murphy; No. 3, Bonynge; No. 2, Lozier, and bow, Walters.

M. I. T.—Cox, Whitaker; stroke, Cooke; No. 7, Cimorelli; No. 6, Richardson; No. 5, Holt; No. 4, Kloenne; No. 3, Bennett; No. 2, yrne, and bow, McLeod.

7 Contests Scheduled At Annapolis Today

Five varsity contests and two events involving plebe teams comprise the athletic program of the Naval Academy athletes at Annapolis this afternoon, which will open at 1:25 p. m. Rowing, lacrosse, track, tennis and baseball are in order for the varsity teams while the plebes will engage in a track meet and a tennis match, the latter initiating the afternoon's activities.

At 2:15 p. m. two varsity contests are scheduled to begin, the lacrosse team meeting the Georgia Tech Twelve, and the track men engaging in a dual meet with the University of Virginia. At 2:30 o'clock the tennis team will meet the Columbia University racketers, while at 3 o'clock a series of three-cornered races among the crews of the Naval Academy, Columbia and Massachusetts Tech will begin. Columbia is sending four boats down for the day's affair, while M. I. T. will enter three.

A baseball game with the Lehigh University Nine at 3:30 o'clock will close the day's program. Besides meeting the Baltimore City College at tennis at 1:55 p. m., the plebes will meet the University of Virginia Freshmen at track an hour later.

Reds Sign Southpaw, New in Pro Baseball

Cincinnati, April 18 (A.P.).—Albert Eckert, left-handed pitching rookie who has had only one year's experience in professional baseball, today signed a Red contract and Manager Dan Howley expects to pitch him in his first big league game within a few days.

Eckert, who lives in Milwaukee, played his first professional ball last year with Dubuque in the Mississippi Valley League. He won nineteen games and lost six.

Rube Ehrhardt, veteran pitcher, who came from Brooklyn to the Reds last year along with Catcher Johnny Gooch in a trade for Val Picinich, catcher, today was released unconditionally.

FINALISTS IN NET TOURNEY

Mangin Beats Pare, Meets Doeg in Pinehurst Finals

Georgetown Sophomore Stages Brilliant Rally Despite Sprained Ankle to Win in Five Sets; Doeg Eliminates Bell.

By MILES H. WOLFF.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 18 (A.P.).—A big left-handed blond from California, Johnny Doeg, and a sturdy fighting sophomore from Georgetown University, Gregory Mangin, today fought their way to the finals of the North and South Tennis Tournament in two of the most thrilling matches ever witnessed on the courts of the Pinehurst Country Club.

Both came through with flying colors—Mangin, after it looked as though he would be an easy mark for Emmett Pare, of Dayton, Ohio, and Doeg, after Berkely Bell, of Austin, Tex., had offered the most rugged opposition.

Mangin's victory was by 4—6, 1—6, 6—3, 6—3, 6—4 scores and Doeg's by 8—6, 6—3, 6—4.

Survivors of a field that included eight of the first ten ranking players in the United States, they showed stuff today that made them worthy finalists. Doeg is ranked third and Mangin tenth.

Mangin Stages Comeback.

Mangin, who has a sprained ankle looked wretched in the first two sets as he time and again drove Pare's clock-like returns into the net. He showed nothing of the brilliance that brought him victory two days ago against George Lott, the Chicago star.

But starting the next set, he showed that one of his assets was stamina. Pare took the first game in quick fashion and then Mangin's exhibition had the gallery rubbing its eyes. In rapid order he reeled off victories in five consecutive games, one of them by a love score. Pare managed to annex another game but Mangin came through with the set.

Still the gallery did not believe Mangin could hold the pace he had been setting and when, after a brief rest, he took three games in the fourth set, the folks started to talking.

Mangin opened the last set with a love game, took another and when Pare evened the count at 3-all, he broke through Pare's service for a love game.

Staggering from sheer exhaustion, he sent one ace over on his service as the winning point for the set.

Doeg's Serves Have Bell Groggy.

Doeg's service had Bell groggy with its speed and deception. Time and again he aced the Texas youth, winning two love games by this method in the first set. Bell could not control his first ball and had to rely on rushing the net to win points.

By this method, Bell forced the first set to deuce, but he could not stand the pace and fell behind badly in the next two sets.

Doeg, like Pare and Mangin, played a back court game almost exclusively, depending on his opponent's errors to bring him points. Doeg lost only two serves during the day, one of them when he double-faulted twice in succession.

In the women's doubles finals, Mrs. Marion Jessup, of Wilmington, Del., and Miss Marjorie Morrill, of Boston, beat Miss Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia and Mrs. Dorothy Ambrus, of Greenwich, Conn., 7—5, 7—5.

The men's finals between Mangin and Doeg and the women's singles finals between Mrs. Jessup and Miss Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., will be played tomorrow.

The men's finals between Mangin and Doeg and the women's singles finals between Mrs. Jessup and Miss Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va., will be played tomorrow.

Mrs. Pardue Declines British Golfing Tour

Sioux City, Iowa, April 18 (A.P.).—Mrs. Auston Pardue, formerly Dorothy Klotz, of golfing fame, has turned down an invitation to accompany Glenna Collett and the American golf team on an invasion of England this summer, because of maternal duties.

"I do not want to leave my two babies for so long a time," Mrs. Pardue said.

Rookie Holdout Signs Contract With Macks

Philadelphia, April 18 (A.P.).—John F. McGrew, Connie Mark's remaining hold-out, arrived today and signed a 1930 contract with the Athletics.

McGrew, brawny right-hand pitcher who was with Omaha in the Western League last year, was brought to town by Barney Burch, president of the Omaha Club, and introduced to Manager Mack in the tower office at Shibe Park.

The recruit was the outstanding pitcher in the Western League last year, winning 24 games and losing 10. He is 6 feet 2, weighs 186 and is 24 years old.

John Marshall Nine Beats V. M. I. Cubs, 9-2

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., April 18.—The John Marshall High School Nine slugged its way to a 9-to-2 victory over the V. M. I. Freshmen. The game was slow and somewhat marred by errors.

In the second inning, John Marshall got off to a three-run lead which the Cadet yearlings were never able to overcome. Smith led with the stick for the visitors, getting five hits in as many chances. He was closely followed by Andrich, who gathered three out of five tries. Edmonds led in this department for the Rats, gathering four hits in four attempts.

Koski and Miles Favorites In 34th Boston Marathon

BOSTON, April 18 (A.P.).—Forgetting his previous disappointing performances, the experts tonight selected Karl Koski, the New York holder of the American marathon championship title, as the most likely of the 215 long-distance runners entered in tomorrow's thirty-fourth annual Boston marathon.

For the past several years this bald-headed Finn has been made the night-before favorite despite the presence of several previous winners in the races, and each time he has faltered in the home stretch. Twice he appeared to have the race well in hand, but in 1927 he yielded to the furious spurt of the veteran, Clarence Demar, and last year he was beaten during the final two miles by Johnny Miles, of Hamilton, Ont.

Demar, who has run twelve Boston marathons, winniny six of them, and Miles, who has won twice, in 1926 and 1929, will run again tomor ow, as will old Bill Kennedy, the Port Chester, N. Y., bricklayer, who led the pack home in 1917.

Demar, now 41 years old, finished ninth last year. He has been conceded but little chance to win his seventh victory because of his advanced age. Miles, who set the course record of 2.33:08 4-5 last year, is regarded as the other most outstanding runner in this year's field.

Eight of the first ten 1929 finishers have returned for another try at the tortuous and hilly course from Hopkinton to the Boston Athletic Association clubhouse in the Back Bay section of Boston, a total distance of 26 miles 385 yards. Whitey Michelson, of the Millrose Athletic Association, who finished fourth last year, withdrew only today because of an injured leg. The other missing from this select group is Fred Ward, Michelson's clubmate, who was tenth in 1929.

The other favorites in this year's field appeared to be Willie Kyronen, of the Finnish-American A. C., New York, third last year; Jack Lamb, of Boston; Billie Taylor, of Sidney Mines, N. S.; Gabriel Ruotsalainen, of Montreal; Ronald O'Toole, of St. John's, N. F., and Max Lamp, of New York.

This year's field of 215 is the second largest in the 34 years that the Boston A. A. has been sponsoring this famous race. The record entry was during the Olympic year of 1928, when Demar scored his last victory with Jimmy Henigan, of Boston, second, and Joie Ray, of Chicago, who was running his first marathon, third.

BRYANTOWN NINE OPENS.

The Bryantown Baseball Team, of Bryantown, Md., has organized for the coming season and will play its opening game tomorrow against the local Red Sox Nine. For Sunday games with Bryantown, address Manager Edward J. Edelen, Bryantown, Md.

Ferrell Stars As Indians Win, 7-1

Pitcher Scatters 7 Hits and Yields Only Run in 9th.

Rogell's Two Errors Allow 3 Runs on One Safety.

DETROIT, April 18 (A.P.).—The Cleveland Indians easily defeated the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 1, behind the fine pitching of Wesley Ferrell in the opening game of their series here. Ferrell allowed seven hits and kept them well scattered until the last inning.

In the ninth the Tigers bunched two hits for their only run. Cleveland bunched three doubles and a single off Ownie Carroll for three runs in the second inning. In the eighth, they got to Art Herring for three more tallies, his wildness and two errors by Bill Rogell allowing the Indians to score three times on one hit.

Pirates Defeat Reds, 5-3; Flagstead Stars

Cincinnati, April 18 (A.P.).—Flagstead, Pirate outfielder, led his team to a 5-to-3 decision over the Reds today by hitting a single, triple and two doubles in five times at bat. Jess Petty, winning pitcher, was wild, issuing six bases on balls, but held the Rhinelanders in check when hits meant runs. Allen hit a home run over the left-field fence in his first time at bat, duplicating the feat which he accomplished yesterday in his last trip to the plate.

London, April 18 (A.P.).—Young Stribling, American heavyweight, was matched by Promoter Jeff Dickson today with Donald Shortland, of Sheffield, for a twelve-round bout in Albert Hall May 8. Shortland recently defeated the Frenchman, Maurice Griselle. Negotiations for Stribling to box Phil Scott, British champion, have not yet been completed.

Penn Relays on Air First Time in History

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—For the first time in their history the Penn Relays are to be broadcast this year over a National Radio network.

The thirty-sixth annual carnival at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, April 25 and 26, will be described by Ted Husing over the Columbia Broadcasting System, it was announced today. Husing is to give his reports by means of a portable short wave apparatus weighing 30 pounds. This will be strapped to his back, enabling him to cover all parts of the field and get a good view of the various events.

Friday's broadcast will be from 3 p. m. to 5:45 with WABC joining the network at 3:30. On Saturday the report will start at 2:30 p. m. and contine for an hour and a half.

California Coed Named To American Net Team

Brookline, Mass., April 18 (A.P.).—Mary Greef, of Kansas City Mo., now a student at the University of California, today was named as the fifth and final member of the American Wightman Cup Tennis Team by Donald M. Hill, of the Longwood Cricket Club, the chairman of the Wightman Cup committee.

The complete American team, named by Chairman Hill for the international matches with the English women players at Wimbledon in June, included Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, of San Francisco; Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Calif.; Edith Cross, of San Francisco; Sarah Palfrey, of Brookline, and Mary Greef, of Kansas City.

Hallahan Allows Two Hits; Guy Bush Is Pounded.

ST. LOUIS, April 18 (A.P.).—Bill Hallahan, who scored his first victory last year in September, held the Chicago Cubs to two hits and struck out eleven today to give the St. Louis Cardinals an 11-to-1 victory in the fourth and final game of the series. Each won two games.

Hallahan gave nine bases on balls, but when he did get the ball over the plate the Cubs could not touch it. The only Chicago run came in the sixth when Tolson and Taylor singled after Adams had muffed Hack Wilson's pop fly.

The Cardinals pounded Guy Bush for eleven hits in five innings and added five hits and six runs off Warneke and Nelson, recruit right-handers. Chick Hafey's homer in the second was one of the longest ever seen here.

Pilot of Nats Maintaining Discipline

Thomas Held Over to Oppose Mackmen in Game Today.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 18.—With rain making play out of the question here this afternoon, the Nationals spent a long day hanging around headquarters with much discussion hinging on the controversy between Manager Walter Johnson and Pitcher Sam Jones, which culminated in the veteran being ordered back to Washington. As ball players always hang together—and, as one wag has said, should hang together—most of their sympathy lies with the player, but the fact remains that Johnson's drastic action in this case has done more to let the athletes know who is boss than any other previous act of the "Old Master."

The fact of the matter is that Jones, perhaps, is a martyr to the cause of discipline. Soon after the Nationals started training at the Biloxi camp, Johnson told the writer that he had learned a lesson last year and had discovered that the saying "you can catch more flies with molasses than with vinegar" was only half way true. He realizes now that some of his players took advantage of him last year when he tried to be a "good fellow" with them, and he has made

IRISH POLLY OUTRUNS 3-YEAR-OLD FILLIES AT GRAW

Sprint Is Won By Dixiana Favorite

Montferrat Scores in Third, Beating Toki 1½ Lengths.

By J. B. SNODGRASS

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 18. The finish of the Adorable Purse here today gave every indication of being a battle to the death between two 3-year-old fillies who have faced each other on previous occasions with varying fortunes. The Dixiana Farm's Irish Polly, the favorite, beat T. J. Beauchamp's Betty Beau under level weights and about settled the differences between these two.

Last year the two met in several filly races and Betty Beau had the best of things. In fact, Betty won four of seven races in 1929 and only once finished out of the money. But Preston Burch never lost confidence in the Dixiana's daughter of Polymelian—Irish Sweep and sent her back against Betty Beau at Bowie. With a four-pound pull in the weights Betty again finished ahead of Irish Polly, but not by much.

With that kind of a background the two came into the Adorable this afternoon each under 113 pounds. There were eight starters but from start to finish of the five and a half furlongs it was a two-horse race, Betty out to beat Polly and Polly just as determined to turn the tables.

Coltilletti Scores With Irish Polly.

Frank Coltilletti was Irish Polly's jockey and he sent her off to the lead with Betty Beau and Samuel Ross' Poinciana in close pursuit. Before Irish Polly could join battle with Betty Beau she had to beat off Poinciana, as that daughter of High Time ran second for the first half of the race.

With Poinciana raced into defeat Irish Polly could turn her full attention to Betty Beau and it was well that she could, for Betty Beau was coming on with a charge that meant victory for only one horse and that one was not Irish Polly. But Irish Polly had still another notch of speed up her sleeve and she shook out the last reef in the stretch and drew away from her old rival to win by two lengths Red Cross Sister closed very strongly to just nose Poinciana out of the show money, five lengths back of the pair that fought it out for first. The five and a half furlongs were run in 1:08 2-5 over a heavy track. Irish Polly paid $5.50.

The Mayflower Purse, at a mile and 70 yards for older horses, brought a couple of Preakness and Derby candidates along with the older horses and the winner turned up in the Audley Farm's Woodcraft, by Ormondale out of Wood Violet, Woodcraft is eligible for both the Preakness and Derby and won in a manner that would indicate he has a chance in either.

Woodcraft Came Fast In Stretch.

Coming from well back, after being in difficulties, Woodcraft rushed past everything in the stretch run and won going away by three lengths. Black Patricia was second, Snelboc third, and three others trailed. Eddie Steffen, the Rancocas rider, had the leg up on Woodcraft and evidently got plenty of mud in his face in the early stages for he was last of the field going into the backstretch. Whether he dropped so far back because of mud in his eye, or whether he got mud in his eye dropped so far back, is not now important because the horse won the race. But before Woodcraft got up steam and sailed by all the others there were plenty of things said about Steffen in the clubhouse.

Snelboc had led for much of the race with Black Patricia second. But he stopped. This gave Black Patricia no opportunity, however, because the moment Snelboc stopped Woodcraft came on and that left Black Patricia still second. Snelboc, however, lasted to get the third money. The time was 1:49 2-5 and the winner paid $5.20.

Thirteen 3-year-olds started in the sixth race at mile and 70 yards with a top and bottom claiming price of $2,500. Miss Blanche Watson's Baked Apple won in a drive, William Garth's Broker was second and H. G. Bedwell's Fairy Folly third. There was a lot of crowding as the field went away, but Baked Apple always in the clear, moved into a safe lead on the backstretch. Time, 1:52. The winner paid $25.70.

Over a track so sloppy that the colors could with difficulty be identified, with jockeys and horses drenched with mud, which flew high over the inner rail as twelve 2-year-olds came home well bunched in the first race, H. E. Talbott, jr.'s Abduction won by three lengths from Broad A, the latter getting the place by a length from Black Lula. Abduction was coupled with the Dixiana Scarlet. Caracalla, finishing fourth, is a Golden Broom filly, carrying the colors of Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords, and was the early contender with the winner. Black Lula was a first starter of William Garth. Broad A came up with a rush in the stretch to get the place. The winner paid $14.30. The winner led all the way.

Stable Boy Brings Montferrat Home.

Miss Blanche Watson's Chattering won her second race at this meeting when she led home Guide Right in the second race. Theo Rochester finished third. Kitty Marie, which had set a fast pace, floundered at the eighth pole and staggered in fourth. Chattering, a brown Chatterton filly, at best advantage in the mud, came to the front turning into the stretch and drew away to win by four lengths. Frye up. Theo Rochester trailed Guide Right home. Rodrack flattered for awhile. The winner paid $6.10 and was the favorite. Calrome and King Kelly were withdrawn before post time. Time 1:15 2-5, good for the kind of track they raced over.

The Sagamore Stable's Montferrat, at home in the mud, won the third race the rider being V. Glorioso, and it was the first winner the stableboy ever rode. He had been galloping Montferrat and others of Mrs. Amory's stable at the Brookland Farm. The price hung up on the winner was ample, being $37.60 for $2. Mrs. J. M. Black's Toki was second, beaten a length and a half. Cloudy, the pacemaker, was third.

Toki, close in pursuit of Cloudy at the beginning of the race, dropped out of contention, and in the stretch Montferrat, which had been gaining ground gradually, moved into the lead. Toki, coming again, let down to her best, could not reach the leader, which was going easily at the finish. Time, 1:14 3-5 for the 6 furlongs.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—STAR PLAY, $73.80, $13.42, $6.16; LADY FINGERS, $3.06, $2.32. ABETH, $3.00.

STAR PLAY was sent to the front immediately after start, held on courageously when passed by LADY FINGERS midway the stretch and, under punishment, outgamed latter in a hard drive. LADY FINGERS, prominent under slight restraint, came to outside of winner when urged and, although holding on stubbornly, could not withstand STAR PLAY in final strides. ABETH, outrun first mile, closed strongly when straightened in stretch. ROLLING SEA was forced wide most of the trip and could not reach a contending position. GEORGE WEBRE closed strongest of all last eighth. BOLD ROBIN tired badly after outbreaking his field.

SECOND RACE—Four furlongs. Purse, $800; allowances. For 2-year-olds, maidens, colts and geldings. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:26. Off at 2:27. Winner, C. C. Van Meter's blk. c. (2), by Westy Hogan—Comet O'Day. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $650; second, $100; third $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLACK COMET, $3.72, $3.16, $2.40; DEEMSTER, $5.80, $2.96; GOOD JEST, $2.78.

BLACK COMET raced up with the pacemakers to midway of the stretch and, taking a slight lead when hard ridden, just lasted to outfinish DEEMSTER. Latter, under pressure while setting the early pace, held on gamely under punishment and, coming again near end, just failed to get up.

THIRD RACE—Futurity course. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:50. Off at 2:53. Winner, J. S. Wallace's ch. f. (3), by Whiskaway—Vision. Trained by James Collins. Value to winner, $650; second, $100; third, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 4-5, 1:01, 1:10 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PATRICIA ANN, $20.38, $8.34, $4.76; BLACK CLOUD, $3.84, $3.02; SELECTION, $4.92.

PATRICIA ANN was hustled up into contention soon after start and, easily disposing of MONNIE on the outside, won with speed to spare. BLACK CLOUD, always well up and saving ground on inside, closed resolutely, but could not threaten winner. SELECTION showed a good performance, but was tiring in the drive.

FOURTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:19. Off at 3:22½. Winner, Gallagher and Combs' b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—JAMES M., $4.70, $3.96, $3.44; MY LAVA, $8.94, $4.70; LEAH JANE, $5.32.

JAMES M., away slowly and outrun to the stretch turn, came with a rush on extreme outside and, wearing PANDOVER down, drew off decisively. MY LAVA forced the pace on outside and, when seemingly tiring through the stretch, came back on outfinish LEAH JANE. Latter raced forwardly under pressure, took a momentary lead midway of the stretch, but had nothing left when the last came. GRANITE DUST stopped badly after opening up a commanding lead on the stretch turn. LADY CLARENCE was blocked several times in last quarter.

SEVENTH RACE—Futurity course. Purse, $800; allowances. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:47. Off at 3:50. Winner, Eversiade Stable's br. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DEDICATE, $3.44, $2.60, $2.20; ANTE BELLUM, $2.60, $2.46; THISTLE ANN, $7.32.

DEDICATE was reserved behind ANTE BELLUM first half mile, easily disposed of latter when ready and, continuing well, was going handily at the end. ANTE BELLUM showed much speed in pacemaking, held on stubbornly when challenged, but was not good enough. THISTLE ANN, badly outrun and racing wide most of the trip closed strongly last three-sixteenths.

SIXTH RACE—Four furlongs. Purse, $800. The Nicholasville. For 2-year-olds, fillies. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:13. Off at 4:16. Winner, T. J. Moran's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BROWN-EYED MARY, $20.24, $9.92, $5.82; BLOOD'L TELL, $5.70, $4.34; MARY COBB, $3.56.

BROWN-EYED MARY, away well and displaying good speed throughout, held Latter, also away well and racing forwardly while saving ground, held on well, but could not seriously threaten winner. MARY COBB saved ground on stretch turn and finished resolutely.

SEVENTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:40. Off at 4:42. Winner, E. F. Pritchard's ch. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CAROMEL, $18.72, $9.12, $6.26; THISTLE JEAN, $6.96, $5.26; HEAD PIN, $8.16.

CAROMEL broke slowly, improved position quickly after reaching far turn and, responding gamely through stretch, outfinished THISTLE JEAN in a mild drive. THISTLE JEAN, well up from start, but racing on outside, gradually disposed of CHORISTER, but weakening from early efforts, could not withstand winner's bid near end. HEAD PIN was forced back on stretch turn, then closed stoutly when taken to outside. UPSEDAISY had no mishaps and was tiring in the drive.

Boots and Saddle's

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)

—Havre De Grace Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 18. The Philadelphia Handicap, $10,000 added, the second largest stake of the four on program for this meeting, features the card tomorrow. The next is the $10,000 Aberdeen, for 2-year-olds, next Wednesday. Then comes the final, the Chesapeake, a week hence.

The E. B. McLean horse, TORO, which will carry top weight of 123 pounds, probably will be favorite, and Trainer Schorr has engaged Eddie Ambrose to ride him, and probably no boy in the country understands the peculiarities of the horse to the extent that Ambrose does. It was in the Preakness that the sensational finish occurred two years ago between Victorian and Toro, in which Victorian got the decision by a nose. It was expected some weeks ago that the two horses would meet again in the Philadelphia Handicap, but Victorian, now owned by the Warm Stable, it later became known, would not start in it.

DINAH DID UPSET, the filly which won two races at Bowie, the last of which was the Prince Georges Handicap, over a good field, takes off 5 pounds from that race, and appears to loom as the contender, but will be no such price as was paid on her at Bowie. Le Blanc, who will ride her, is an excellent jockey and rode the Upset filly in her two starts at Bowie. She is believed next best of the field.

H. P. Whitney's entry includes BEACON HILL and FRUMPER, and BEASON HILL not overly inclined to consistency, has next to top weight, 117 pounds, while FRUMPER has 96. The reliance of this stable will be on Beacon Hill. Workman will have the mount. Horses in the field which have not been included in the first three selections above undoubtedly are BOBASHELA, DONNAY and ANNAPOLIS. The first named has not been out, but is a mudder. Bonnay has shown little since winning the New Orleans Handicap, and Annapolis, a fresh horse and at his best, may be a little outclassed.

The track will be very heavy at best. The horses mentioned above can all run well in the mud. There probably will be the largest crowd of the meeting out to see the running of this popular race.

FIRST RACE—The Climax, is for 2-year-olds and has marked juvenile races all year. The field is large and full of possible surprises. The H. P. WHITNEY ENTRY of TOTEM and PENNATE is picked to win. TOTEM has not been under colors. PENNATE in his one start was slow in getting away and was beaten by Up. The entry will be well backed in the uncertain race. The RANCOCAS ENTRY will come in for heavy play, comprising as it does GLIDELIA and FARR, both well tried and fast. MISS DINWIDDIE, which has won twice, should, on public form, hold the others safe. Brooms entered, KALEIDOSCOPE and browns entered, KALEIDOSCOPE and EXALT, which have never started, but may surprise, as they are said to be very fast. They have been at Pimlico since leaving winter quarters.

SECOND RACE—SHIPMASTER takes off 17 pounds from his race Wednesday, when he was third to Mud and Genuine. He should turn the tables on MUD. YOUNG KITTY ought to be in the money. She was third on Gun Royal on opening day. Under track conditions SHIPMASTER looks best.

THIRD RACE — FULL DRESS, a Man o' War colt, looks best in the mile and 70 yards race for maiden 3-year-olds. He has worked well, going a mile in around 1:44 two mornings ago in the mud. POLITE is a very good prospect on Florida form but outclassed. MOMBASSA came to the Bowie meeting overadvertised, but may be third in a field of six.

FOURTH RACE—This is for claiming horses. PRICKLY HEAT, in his last race, ran AREGAL, a superior mudder, to a head finish and should be easily best in this field, with BOYISH BOB, which finished second to Royal Charge, the contender. ELIZABETH BOLLA should improve.

SIXTH RACE—AREGAL should repeat on a muddy track. His defeat the other day of Prickly Heat is proof of that. This is the only kind of track AREGAL can win over. RED CROSS PRINCESS has shown improvement and may be the contender. FAIR GOLD for the short end of the purse.

SEVENTH RACE—A long journey on this kind of track and the plodding VILLAGER probably will stick it out. JOHN W. WEBER is rated the contender. TEMPTER, which won his last out, should be no worse than third and maybe closer. PRAIRIE GIRL'S last two races were good. She may be a contender.

GRAW NOTES

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 18. Swinfield's race yesterday showed he is not partial to mud. He will now be pointed for the Chesapeake Stakes to be run a week from tomorrow, and then sent after the Preakness on May 9 at Pimlico. If the track is fast for both races, Walter J. Salmon's colt will show his true worth.

The track was so bad today that Jockeys Workman and Robertson, who are under contract to Harry Payne Whitney, canceled their mounts.

Jockey F. Dainty left for Lexington, Ky., where he will ride free lance.

Judge Dixon and While Away have been added to the schooling list, which now numbers 21 bad actors.

There have been eleven claims here prior to today's card. Mrs. W. H. Denham took Tempter for $1,500, while T. A. Farrell and J. P. Kelly lifted Royal Charge and Blue Darter for similar amounts. The sum of $30,000 has figured in the claims here.

Trainer McDaniel sent the undefeated Vander Pool three-eighths through the slop in 0:36 3-5 in preparation for the $10,000 Aberdeen Stakes, a 4½-furlong race exclusively for 2-year-olds to be run next Wednesday.

ANNUAL LEGION BASEBALL SERIES STARTS MAY 25

District Posts To Sponsor 7 Teams

Move Made Against Player-Tampering. Coach Barred.

CONTENDERS for the American Legion midget baseball championship of the District will open hostilities on May 25, it was decided at a meeting of prospective teams in the offices of the Municipal Playground Department in the District Building last night.

The schedule will provide for two series, the winning team of each series meeting in a three-game series the latter part of July to decide which shall carry on into the No. 10 regional games.

Seven posts, five of which were represented last night, plan to sponsor teams in the series, which will be conducted in conjunction with the Capital City League again this season. Victory, Spengler, Sergt. Jasper and Lincoln Posts have teams ready to start the season. The Bureau of Engraving, Quentin Roosevelt and Eight and Forty Posts are planning to enter teams.

Legion Moves Against Player-Tampering.

Announcement was made by Wesal Stewart, District athletic officer, that all reports of tampering with players engaged in the series will be investigated this year and action will be taken against those found responsible.

He also announced that Tom Suter, coach of the George Washington Post Team, which won the District championship last year, will not be permitted to be connected with any team in the series this year.

Player contracts and franchise fees must be posted on or before May 15, it was decided. All contracts will be open after that date to managers and coaches of the teams engaged in the series and all protests on players signed at that date must be made before the season opens. After that date, protests will be heard only in regard to players signed after the opening date and before June 15, the date set for the final signing of players. Teams found guilty of using ineligible players will forfeit all games in which the ineligible players took part.

The same national rules which governed play in the legion series last year will be enforced this season.

C. H. Pardoe Winner In Kiwanis Club Golf

The first golf tournament this season of the Kiwanis Club, played yesterday on the course of the Manor Club, was won by C. H. Pardoe who had a low gross card of 40, 42—82. The low net prize was won by W. Ray Garrett with a score of 83, 13—70, while the knickers' handicap was won by Ed. Pardoe, whose net score was 76, the lucky number. Ed. Baltz won the trophy offered for the highest score. He negotiated the eighteen holes in 118 strokes.

War College to Test Columbia Heights Nine

The Columbia Heights Business Men's Association Baseball Team will make its debut tomorrow afternoon, when it lines up against the Army War College Team at 3 o'clock on the Washington Barracks Field. It will be the first chance that Manager Pratt and Capt. Goodman will have of seeing their men under fire.

The following players are asked to report in uniform on the field at 2:30 p. m.: Lewis, Goodman, Fraser, Ruppert, Wiltshire, Wynkoop, Tooney, Keefer, Smith, Rhodes, C. Shapiro, Singman, Foley, Rea, Ready, Newman, Stoey and Ryan.

Boys' Club Announces Spring Sport Program

Five spring sport activities have been announced for the Boys' Club by C. M. Fyfe, superintendent of the club. Indoor baseball, horseshoe pitching, indoor roller skating, outdoor baseball, and swimming are the sports listed. A league will be formed for the indoor baseball participants, opening on April 20, while swimming is held every Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Camp Reeder, the Boys Club camp, is expected to open shortly after the close of school, to run for an eight-week period. Any one desiring applications should call National 3899, or write Mr. Fyfe, at the Boys Club, 230 C street northwest.

Andrews to Manage Mount Rainier Nine

Willie Andrews, former professional baseball player who has managed and coached sandlot teams here for more than seven years, has been appointed manager of the Mount Rainier Nine, which will compete in the Prince Georges County League this season. Andrews, who was in charge of the National Circles last year, is taking a group of players formerly with that club to Mount Rainier. This squad includes Leslie Crump, Harold Harwood, Elmer Lambert, Perry Batson, Frank Jones, James Quigley, John Perry and William Christian.

There will be no National Circle team this season, Andrews announced, and all contests scheduled for that club are being canceled.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime—By H. W. Webster

DUFFEY MAY PITCH FOR DUKE U.

Former Central Man Slated to Oppose Mountaineers.

Special to The Washington Post.

DURHAM, N. C., April 18.—Horace Duffey, Duke sophomore southpaw from Washington, D. C., may get the call tomorrow afternoon for mound work in Duke's game with West Virginia, to be played on Hanes Field here. The tilt will start promptly at 3:15 o'clock.

On two occasions Duffey has been kept from making his varsity debut by rain. He was billed to pitch against Cornell early in the season and again was assigned the work against Ursinus here Thursday. Rain caused both contests to be canceled.

However, Coach Coombs has not decided as yet whether he will give Duffey the turn tomorrow or not. Gene Belue, star southpaw of the team last year, is eager for a chance to show his wares this season. He pitched in the opening game and was credited with the victory. Since then he has not worked.

Tomorrow's game will find Harrington and Dean, injured stars of the Duke Team, still out of play. They will be back in the line-up Monday in Duke's annual Easter Monday double-header. Georgia at 1:15 and West Virginia at 3:30 will furnish the opposition to the Devils this year.

The Easter double bill staged annually by2 Duke is one of the highlights of local baseball entertainment. For the past two years the games have been held in the Durham Bulls' park here, but in order not to interfere with the Bull's practice the games will be played on Hanes Field, the Duke diamond.

Virginia Tennis Team Defeats Generals, 6-3

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 18.—Virginia's Tennis Team defeated the Washington and Lee netmen here today, 6 to 3. The teams split even in the singles matches, each winning three, but the Cavaliers annexed all of the doubles matches, two by one-sided scores.

Capt. Smith, Virginia, took two straight sets from Gooch, captain of the Generals' squad, in the first singles match and paired with Noell, easily defeated Gooch and Brady in the doubles. The Generals leave next Tuesday on a northern trip which includes matches with Navy, Lehigh, Pennsylvania and New York University.

SINGLES—Smith (Virginia), defeated Gooch (W. and L.), 6—1, 6—4; Shields (W. and L.), defeated Martin (Virginia), 4—6, 6—3, 6—3; Johns (Virginia), defeated Pilley (W. and L.), 6—3, 6—4; Brady (W. and L.), defeated Whitehead (Virginia), 2—6, 9—7, 6—3; Newell (Virginia), defeated Clapp (Virginia), 6—3, 6—3; Cox (W. and L.), defeated Noell (Virginia), 3—6, 6—4, 6—3.

DOUBLES—Smith and Noell (Virginia), defeated Gooch and Brady (W. and L.), 6—2, 6—3; Whitehead and Johns (Virginia), defeated Sheilds and Pilley (W. and L.), 6—2, 6—3, 6—0; Martin and Newell (Virginia), defeated Cox and Clapp (W. and L.), 6—1, 6—1.

V. P. I. Freshmen Win, 5-3; Gillespie Stars

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg Va., April 18.—Perk Gillespie, who pitched Rocky Mount to the Virginia High School title last year, hurled the V. P. I. Freshmen to an impressive 5-3 win over Oakridge Institute in the opening game here today. Gillespie fanned seven men and held the Carolinians scoreless until the ninth, when hits by Gray, Brady, Slayton and Bradshaw's error produced three runs.

Sutton scored for V. P. I. in the second inning on Bentley's miscue and Schriberg hit to send Anderson home in the sixth. Anderson scored Palmer ahead of him with a circuit drive in the second.

JASPER POST DRILLS.

The baseball team of the Sergeant Jasper Post, American Legion, will practice at 10:30 o'clock this morning on Monument Diamond No. 3.

V. M. I. Track Team At Maryland Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., April 18.—The V. M. I. varsity trackmen, who showed marked improvement in the field events Saturday to down N. C. State on Alumni Field, will journey to College Park for their annual meet with Maryland tomorrow. Last year the Cadets nosed out a 66-to-60 victory, and in 1928 the Old Liners won, 65 to 61.

Another close meet is expected this year, with the following runners and weight heavers among V. M. I.'s leading scorers: Capt. Jack Read and Joe Swank, pole vault; Holtzclaw, Roman and Jackson, 440 yards; Mitchell and Cooper, 880; Bond, Smith and Wise, mile and 2 miles; Rorabaugh and Winger, hurdles; Haase and Grow, weight events.

The freshman track and baseball teams will also see service tomorrow. The runners will try to break into the win column at the expense of Augusta Military Academy at Fort Defiance. The baseball team, with two victories out of three starts, will play Petersburg High School tomorrow. The Cadets will also entertain in Oak Ridge Institute in a Monday game.

Clarendon, Bethesda Bowlers End Match

Holding a 26-pin advantage, the Clarendon Bowlers will invade Bethesda tonight to meet the national champions in the concluding block of a home-and-home match which opened at Clarendon last week.

Bitter rivalry has centered about the match, as the Bethesda Team was awarded first place in the National Tournament at Waterbury, and the Clarendon Team, which was given second prize, claimed that it should have been accorded the title, charging that its score was ten pins short of that rolled.

BOWLERS DIVIDE.

The veteran bowlers of Bethesda and Hyattsville divided honors in two single matches at Bethesda last night. H. M. Allen, of Bethesda, defeated J. C. Joy, of Hyattsville, 545 to 482, and J. Lusby, of Hyattsville, defeated G. A. Broadhurst, of Bethesda, 545 to 489.

H. J. Crawley and Hugh Crawley, of Mount Rainier, hung up the high score in the father and son tournament with a 1,100 total.

DIXIE PIGS PLAY PRINTERS

The Dixie Pig Baseball Team will play the Union Printers tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Seat Pleasant diamond. A week from tomorrow the Bauserman Motor Co. Nine will be met at Arlington.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., April 18.—Episcopal High School's baseball team will meet its first State rival tomorrow afternoon when it plays the Virginia Episcopal School from Lynchburg, Va., on Hoxton Field at 3:30 o'clock.

Coach Callaway will send Tilton to the mound with Nick Carter doing the catching. The remainder of the team will be same as has started in previous games.

Rain caused two Episcopal High School teams to remain idle yesterday afternoon when the track meet with Eastern High School and a tennis match with Tech High School were called off. The track meet has been scheduled for Tuesday.

The interclass track scheduled at the Alexandria High School for yesterday afternoon has been postponed until Thursday. Coach Reynolds said this morning that it would give him more time in which to work on the program.

N. Y. U. BOWS TO MARINES, 3 TO 1

Opening Attack Gives Sea Soldiers First Win of Series.

Special to The Washington Post.

QUANTICO, Va., April 18.—After working for hours to get the field in condition for a contest the Sea Soldiers jumped on Follett for four solid smashes in the first inning, producing three runs which proved too great a handicap for the New York University Baseball Team here this afternoon and the Marines took the first game of a two-game series between these teams by a score of 3 to 1.

Yanshak started for the Sea Soldiers and had to be relieved on account of being taken sick after the first inning. Almond, who relieved him, was too wild for such a close margin, and Lefty Smith was called to finish the battle. For the Marines Eddie Gorman started things with a double followed by singles by Lock, Gatewood and Young, netting all their runs.

The university boys got one back in the second scoring on an error by Hyman of Bohl's grounder and free tickets to first to Sweeney, Hoffman and Follett. From then the game was a pitcher's battle in which there were no features and only one man reached third. Game called end of seventh by agreement.

ALBEMARLE RACES ON TODAY

Sportsmen to Gather at Charlottesville; 4 Races Listed.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 18.—The season of the famous racing meets that have helped further the tradition of Virginia horses will be opened here tomorrow—the annual spring race meeting of the Albemarle County Hunt and Keswick Hunt Club, to be held over the course of the Farmington Country Club, just west of the University of Virginia, under the sanction of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association.

The sporting element of Piedmont and northern Virginia will be well represented in the stands and paddocks when the first entries go to the post at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. There are four well balanced races on the day's card, in addition to the farmers' race, which will conclude the program. With the exception of last-minute scratches, the four main events will attract a combined field of nearly 50 entries that represent some of the best blood in Virginia.

Manton Manor Plate First on Program.

The Manton Manor Plate is the first race on the program. It is for 4-year-olds and upwards, the winner to receive a plate to be presented by Mrs. Thomas H. Somerville, of Montpelier, the former Marion du Pont. The distance is about 2½ miles across country, to be ridden in colors. Last year the plate was won by Mrs. Somerville's Tromping Today.

Five horses are entered in the Varsity, for horses 4 years old and upwards owned by students of the University of Virginia or members of any orgainzed hunt; riders to be students attending the University of Virginia. The winner is to receive a plate awarded by Frederic T. W. Scott, of Richmond. The distance will be about 2 miles across country. In 1927 the race was won by Ira A. Beaver's Button 2d; in 192 by Randolph Ortman's Steamerlight, and last year by Jouett Ross Todd's Woodly.

Eleven horses are entered in the race for the Albemarle-Keswick Hunt Cup, for horses that have been hunted at least one season with an organized hunt, and to be ridden by a member in hunting costume. Distance, about 3½ miles. Winner to receive plate presented by the Albemarle County Hunt and the Keswick Hunt Club. The race was captured in 1927 by Randolph Ortman's Troublemaker; in 1928 by Carver & Sons' Louvois Pride, and last year again by Troublemaker.

Hunt or Hack Horses in Farmington Plate.

The Farmington Plate is for horses that have been hunted or used as a hack by recent owner, the riders to be members of an organized hunt. University students, or other amateurs, will be acceptable to the committee. Winner to receive plate presented by the Farmington Hunt. The distance is about 1½ miles on flat, to be ridden in colors or hunting costume. The pitae was won in 1927 by P. A. Gilligan's Wrack Maid; in 1928, by Thomas B. Gay's Elk Crest, and last year by Mrs. T. H. Somerville's Leonard G.

The program will conclude with a farmer's race, the horses to be owned by farmers and ridden by a farmer or a farmer's son who has never ridden a winner in a race other than a strictly farmer's race. Winner to receive $50; second, $25; third, $10. A blanket will be given to all other horses that start and finish. Prizes in this race are presented by Randolph Ortman. The distance will be about 1 mile across country. The event was won in 1928 by J. E. Reynolds' Archie. Post entries are allowed tomorrow.

2 GAMES MONDAY POSSIBLE FOR NATS

teams playing double-headers on their first visit to a city, but as the Nats leave here for a Sunday home game because Sabbath ball is not permitted here, the Mackmen bring up the technical question as to whether the Washington Club's return here Monday could not be considered as its second visit. The debate had not been concluded tonight, with the possibility that the question would be submitted to President E. S. Barnard.

May Alternate Tate And Ruel.

With his men showing such good form, Johnson is fearful of an extended lay-off. He was especially anxious that all of his pitchers get in some work today and for a while was considering taking them to a gymnasium where they could get warmed up. He finally gave up the idea when he realized that the balls, gloves and other equipment were packed in the trunks at Shibe Park.

Although Muddy Ruel has done all of the catching in the games played to date, Johnson stated this morning that he planned to use Bennie Tate frequently, and may even decide to alternate him and Ruel with the latter working when allen southpaws are pitching and Tate drawing the back stopping job and doing the hitting against orthodox flinging.

Philadelphia scribes do not seem to have forotten a couple of years back when Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker were part of Connie Mack's "old man's home" and are retaliating by poking considerable fun at Johnson's "Potomac Pappies," as they call the Nationals because so many veterans are on the team. In the morning's Public Ledger, Tom Doerer writes in part:

"Five of the Senator regulars, Judge, Rice, Ruel, Bluege and Goslin, were playing for Washington before the Continental Congress first took up the matter of prohibition, they say.

"When Bluege forgot his age against Boston the other day and put the apple out of the orchard, veterans of the first Indian uprising stood in a body and cheered their old comrade."

All of the Nats got a big kick out of this story, except Bluege, who rather heatedly objected to being classed with Judge and Rice as regards age.

PEANUT BUTCHERS WORK FOR STEVENS

Tex Rickard brought in the strong-arm squad to refine the show to death. Tad Dorgan, the cartoonist, drew a picture against the background of the old six-day race presenting the first known public reference to the common boiled frankfurter as the hot dog. Since then, under the subtle sales pressure of old Mr. Stevens' boys, the hot dog has become the native delicatessen of the City of New York. He has sold enough of them to girdle the earth, and the original of Tad's cartoon, the picture that loosed the plague of hot dog signs upon the countryside of the Atlantic seaboard, hangs in a frame in his office.

A long time ago he tried to sell popcorn in New York, but gave it up. There aren't twenty popcorn stands on Manhattan Island. Mr. Stevens doesn't know why, and he, if anybody, should.

"Nobody," he said, "ever had a better dad."

Harry the Second Was Booth's Roommate.

This was in line with something his own boy, Harry the second, had said at the Saratoga meet last summer. Harry the second was then about to begin his sophomore year at Yale, a candidate for the football team. At prep school and in his freshman year at Yale he had been Albie Booth's roommate. I gathered that as between his Phi Beta Kappa and a big Yale Y, Harry the second would prefer to bring home the big Yale Y to be framed on the wall of the old man's office. But, although he worked in his grandpop's coolers, in personal charge of several tons of ice every day, all summer long, the Gray second team at Yale was as high as he managed to struggle up to last fall and his only souvenir was three rousing cheers for the scrubs. The old man couldn't frame that.

The old man is one of the rich men of the town now. He always bought good stocks when he was buying and he has never sold a stock yet, except to buy a better one. His own boys have moved into the business so you might say his department heads were all home grown. He knows as many of the so-called best people as Rickard ever did or Gene Tunney ever will, but today he isn't any too good to slip into one of his white coats and go up and down the aisles at the Polo Grounds selling peanuts for dimes. Moreover, although he never lectured at Yale old man Stevens could out-Shakespeare any heavyweight champion that ever lived and give him chapter and verse.

He's a Friend Indeed In Time of Need.

As intimated, however, he is plain downright mean toward any of his boys who settle themselves in the aisles to watch the ball games, when they ought to be hustling dimes.

"Hey! Hey! Hey!" and the people turn and look astonished at the cussedness of an old man who wont let a kid peek at a ball game before his very eyes.

But when the kid is out of work in winter or some one is sick in the family, the old man loads a cab with groceries and delivers the stuff himself, with, perhaps, a $50 bill in an envelope inside the turkey. He has been known to send the ambulance around also and rent a room in a hospital and hire the best doctors in town. Only when he does these things, nobody ever hears him yelling, "Hey! Hey! Hey!"

3 Devitt Prep Stars To Enter Columbia

Three members of Devitt Preparatory School's local scholastic championship football team of 1929 will play against that school as members of the Columbia University Freshman Team next fall at New York City. Capt. Francis Knott, Paul Tangora and Dick Keefe have planned to enter Columbia next fall and will doubtlessly be in the yearling line-up which faces Devitt.

The date for the game with the Columbia Freshman Eleven was definitely set for November 15, according to a letter received at the Upton street school yesterday from Lou Little, former Georgetown University director of athletics and now head football coach of Columbia.

The game with the Columbia yearlings is only one of a pretentious schedule arranged next year for Devitt, which has arranged to meet no less than three other outstanding schoolboy elevens of the East, including the Hun School, the Princeton Freshmen and the Mercersburg Academy.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

Pilot Radio.

C. R.—Can you tell me what progress Pilot Radio is making and what you think of this stock?

Answer—Sales for the March quarter amounted to $501,889, as compared with $392,647 for the same period last year, an increase of 28 per cent. Sales for the month of March totaled $169,226, as against $144,006, an increase of 17 per cent. At the current rate of increase, it is calculated that earnings this year will exceed those of last year when $2 per share was earned. In view of the fact that dividends of $1.20 per annum are paid, the stock would appear to have sufficient attractiveness to hold as a speculative investment.

National Family Stores.

F. R.—Kindly publish an opinion on National Family Stores. Your answer will be awaited with interest.

Answer—Earnings last year were considerably better than the year previous when the larger capitalization is taken into consideration. A big expansion program got under way in 1929 with the result that 48 more stores were in operation at the end of the year. National Family Stores is in strong financial position with total assets of $7,256,912. At present dividends of $1.60 per year are carried on the stock, making it attractive from the standpoint of a speculative investment.

Kelvinator.

S. W. A.—Can you give me any late information pertaining to Kelvinator?

Answer—This company has turned the corner to such an extent that earnings for the first six months this year are reliably estimated at between $3 and $3.50 a share, which would be a remarkable comeback. Kelvinator has valuable contracts with the General Electric and Westinghouse Electric for the production of cabinets for refrigerators. Both sales and shipments are running at new high record levels, and the stock, it would appear, holds much promise for over the long term.

United Carbon.

H. D.—I am a stockholder in United Carbon. What are its possibilities as a natural gas producer?

Answer—In the South and Southwest United Carbon owns and has under lease 151,000 acres of natural gas lands, and has contracts for the sale of natural gas with companies chiefly having pipe lines running through States where it is in most demand. Deliveries to these pipe lines got under way January 1, and on February 15, it was estimated that the company was shipping 40,000,000 cubic feet daily, with the likelihood of increasing deliveries within a short time. Taking the company's strategic position into consideration, United Carbon has excellent prospects of becoming one of the leading natural gas producers. As the outlook for these companies is good, indications are that earnings of United Carbon should increase rather than decrease, and for that reason the stock would appear to have sufficient merit to hold for the long pull on prospects of a larger dividend.

Standard Brands.

L. A. J.—I shall appreciate it if you will kindly give me your opinion on Standard Brands common stock, with respect to its past performances, future prospects and present rate of dividends.

Answer—The stock is very well thought of as a speculative investment. The high and low for 1929 were $44.75 and $27.12½, respectively. Thus far in 1930 the extreme prices have been $29.25, high, and $22.37½, low. The present rate of dividend is 37½ cents quarterly, or $1.50 annually. Net income for first four months since organization of the company, to December 31, 1929, was $5,258,252, equal to $37.09 per share on preferred, and 39 cents per share on common. Net income for full year 1929, including income of predecessor companies, was $18,344,391, equal, after preferred dividend requirements, to $1.37 per share on common.

Combined earnings for year ended December 31, 1928, of predecessor companies were $22,388,679. Strong financial position was reflected in balance sheet of December 31, 1929, with current assets $51,497,728, being over ten times current liabilities of $5,098,003. Cash and marketable securities on hand totaled $31,964,374.

Webster-Eisenlohr and One Other.

J. L. T.—I notice that Webster-Eisenlohr has dropped from over $100 to below $10. Do you think it will recover? What about United Electrical Coal?

Answer—This column can not give an opinion as to whether or not any stock will move either upward or downward at any time. Present trend of Webster-Eisenlohr's earnings is downward, and for year 1929 only 8 cents per share was earned on common, comparing with 31 cents per share in 1928. Until earnings improve, outlook for stock appears doubtful. United Electrical Coal Companies, producer of bituminous coal by strip method, reported for six months ended January 31, 1930, net income of $215,620, or 77 cents a share, compared with $366,134, or $1.32 a share, for corresponding 1929 period. First preferred stock retired in June, 1929.

Dividends have been paid at varying rates since 1922, with payments suspended in 1926 and 1927. Disbursement of 75 cents quarterly was made January 3, 1928, to September 3, 1929, but since then no distribution has been made to date Because of foregoing facts, stock regarded as highly speculative.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, April 18 (A.P.).—The moderate improvement in the insolvency record that has been shown in recent weeks was in evidence this week with three less failures being reported to R. G. Dun & Co. than during the preceding week. Defaults last week number 491, which compares with 503 two weeks ago, and with 488 failures reported for the corresponding week in 1929.

An investment trust of the limited management type to be known as the Utilities Hydro and Rails Shares Corporation, has been formed by J. Henry Lewis & Co., New York and Philadelphia investment bankers. The trust will have an authorized capitalization of 15,000,000 shares of common stock, of which 120,000 have been issued. Its present portfolio consists of shares of more than 149 railroad and utility companies and affiliated equipment organizations.

Employes of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, numbering 43,357, have subscribed for shares of the corporation's 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock under this year's employes' saving and stock ownership plan, the corporation announced today. The stock was priced at $125 a share, but through credited dividends and other special benefits the buyer pays only $113.56 a share.

Interests affiliated with S. W. Straus & Co. are forming an investment trust of the fixed type called the Supercorporations of America Trust Shares, Inc., with an authorized capitalization of 100,000 shares of no par common stock. The shares will be offered in two series, namely, maximum return series, in which all returns on the underlying stocks including split-ups will be distributed as dividends, and capital accumulation series in which all stock dividends in excess of 10 per cent and all split-ups will be allowed to accumulate.

A further slowing up in sales of manufactured gas utilities was experienced in February, according to reports received by the American Gas Association from companies representing approximately 88 per cent of the manufactured gas industry. Customers of the reporting companies on February 28 aggregated 8,789,077, while sales for the month totaled 32,307,861,000 cubic feet. This figure represents an increase of 1.5 per cent over those of the same month last year, but the rate of increase was not as great as that of a year ago.

Net earnings of the Chicago Yellow Cab Co., Inc., for the first quarter of 1930 amount to $523,379, as compared with $664,019 for the corresponding period last year.

ous week and about 5 per cent below that for the corresponding week of 1929, the weekly summary of business of the Department of Commerce reveals. Value of building contracts was also less than a week ago and below the corresponding week of 1929.

The general index of wholesale prices was slightly higher than last week, but 6 per cent lower than it was a year ago. There was comparatively no change in the composite iron and steel price from last week and the price for cotton remained the same as the previous week.

Interest Rates Lower.

Interest rates remained about 50 per cent lower than for last year. But compared with the preceding week, call money remained unchanged while time money was about 6 per cent higher. Operations in steel plants during the latest reported week were on a slightly lower level than in the week prior and less than a year ago.

Production of bituminous coal was 7 per cent smaller than for the previous week, but 8 per cent larger than for the same period a year ago. Petroleum and lumber production were both fractionally larger than they were for the previous week, but showed decreases of about 5 per cent and 8 per cent, respectively, from a year ago.

William D. Burruss, of New York and Washington, internationally known sales expert, will address the luncheon meeting of the Bond Club of Washington at the Carlton Hotel, Tuesday afternoon, at 12:30 o'clock, on "Shakespeare the Salesman." NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

MRS. COHEN CHOSEN AS CLUB PRESIDENT

Business and Professional Group of Women Has Election of Officers.

CHAMBER HAS MEETING

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

Mrs. Katherine G. Cohen was elected president of the Arlington County Business and Professional Woman's Club at the annual dinner meeting held last night. Other officers elected were: Mrs. Pearl W. Sharp, first vice president; Miss Lorena Heishman, second vice president; Mrs. Edith Corder, treasurer; Mrs. Emma A. Weekley, corresponding secretary, and Miss Norine Kloss, recording secretary.

Following election of officers, reports were received by the several committee chairmen which showed much progress during the year. Those reporting were Mrs. Mae Jacobs, public relations; Mrs. Sharp, membership; Mrs. N. Rex. Hunt, program; Miss Lorena Heishman, finance, and Mrs. Jennefer Broaddus, research.

Among the invited guests were Mrs. Mary W. Troth, president of the Alexandria Business Woman's Club; Miss Alice Whitton, former president of the Alexandria club, and Miss Eleanor Watkins, vice president of the Alexandria club.

The board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce met last night in the board rooms in the Rees Building at Clarendon and after considerable discussion approved the report submitted by the school committee.

The report shows a careful study of the report recently submitted by the United States Bureau of Education following an exhaustive study as to the needs of the county school system. It further gives a complete study of the costs of the proposed additions which carries with it a proposed bond issue for $640,000.

David R. Collins was elected chairman of the public utilities committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Walter P. Handy.

Recognizing the need of the adoption of the zoning ordinance, the board voted to have the secretary write to the supervisors and ask that the ordinance be adopted without further delay.

Running off the concrete roadway leading from Fort Myer to the Arlington County Courthouse yesterday, one of the trucks of F. P. May, of Washington, blocked traffic on the Rosslyn line of the Arlington Fairfax Railway yesterday. The truck was about to make the railway crossing when its rear wheels left the hard surface and buried in the mud. Traffic was blocked one hour. Passengers were transferred at the crossing.

Services tomorrow morning at the Clarendon Methodist Church will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. George H. Fielding. His subject will be "The Easter Certainties." In the evening the choir will sing an Easter cantata.

Services at the Ballston Christian Church tomorrow will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Ira P. Harbaugh. His subject at the morning service will be "Because He Lives I Shall Live." In the evening he will preach on "From Despair to Hope." There will be special music at both morning and evening services.

Special Easter services will be held tomorrow at St. George's Episcopal Church, beginning with the celebration of Holy Communion in the morning at 7 o'clock. Morning prayer and sermon by the Rev. Henry J. Miller at 11 o'clock, followed by children's service at 3:30 o'clock. In the evening at 8 o'clock a candlelight pageant, "Darkness and Dawn."

The honor roll for the month as given out from the office of superintendent of county schools include the following pupils by grades: Grade 1—Catherine Culbert, Mary Louise Adams, Charles O'Hara, Shirley Morgan and Norman Allison; grade 2—Gene Blake; grade 3—Mildred Huff, Betty Handy; grade 4—Virginia Armstrong, Hattie Tillet, Mary Mauphin; Grade 5—Elizabeth Mauphin, Everett Hicks, and grade 6—Mary Spicer and Walter Handy.

The George Johnston Chapter, Children American Revolution, will meet tonight with Miss Elizabeth Martin at Arlington Hall.

Mrs. J. F. F. Cassell, of Staunton, Va., Virginia State director of the Children American Revolution, will be the honor guest and speaker of the evening.

Mrs. C. W. Maffett, of Clarendon, has been elected State secretary Children American Revolution.

Mrs. Mary Taylor Dies in Annapolis

Widow of Col. John H. Taylor Will Be Interred in Arlington.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, April 8.—Mrs. Mary Montgomery Meigs Taylor, 87 years old, widow of Col. John Hancock Taylor, United States Army, retired, died today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Philip R. Alger, of 34 Southgate avenue. Burial will be in Arlington Cemetery.

Mrs. Taylor was well known in service circles, both as the wife of Col. Taylor and as the daughter of the late Commodore John Rodgers Taylor, United States Navy, retired.

Besides Mrs. Alger, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Eli K. Price, of Philadelphia; and three sons, Rear Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, U. S. N., retired.; Col. John R. M. Taylor, U. S. A., retired, and Joseph B. Taylor, of Philadelphia. She was a native of Detroit, Mich.

Horticulturists Plan For Summer Meeting

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 18.—Tentative plans for a summer meeting of the West Virginia Horticultural Society in the Ohio River section, probably at Mason City or Point Pleasant, were made here at a meeting of Comissioner of Agriculture John W. Smith, M. W. Fulton, president of the society; H. B. Davis, of the State Bureau of Markets; C. R. Miller, secretary of the society, and A. A. Gold, of the State Department of Agriculture.

A commitee will map out a program and announce it in the near future. Plans are being made to secure a number of Federal and State horticultural and agricultural officials, along with several nationally known men allied with the orchard and farm industry.

PARADE TO DEPICT VIRGINIA'S HISTORY

CELEBRATION IS NEAR

Richmond, Va., April 18 (A.P.).—A parade of floats recalling Virginia history as far back as Jamestown and the landing of the first permanent English settlers in America will climax adventure days in Richmond, a week of historical festivities to be celebrated from April 28 to May 3.

Leading the parade will be the Spirit of Adventure riding on the market float, followed probably by the Adventure Day princesses and men representing famous historical characters. The introductory floats will depict Sir Walter Raleigh pleading with Queen Elizabeth for permission to voyage to the New World; scenes in the New World showing Indians, canoes, hunting and war dances, and the voyage of the first settlers to this country.

The parade's second section will show scenes at Jamestown from 1607 to 1619. The marker float will represent the spirit of struggle. Other floats will represent the first religious services in the New World; Pocahontas saving Capt. John Smith; the first Christian marriage in America; digging for "fools' gold," the "starving time" at Jamestown, the coming of Lord Delaware with new settlers and the marriage of Pocahontas.

The third section, with a marker float, symbolizing the Spirit of Progress, will depict scenes from 1619 to 1776. Here will be shown the first meeting of the Virginia House of Burgesses, the first slaves brought to the new colony, the first land set apart for a preparatory school, arrival of the first white women, the Indian massacre of 1622, the first free school, Bacon's Rebellion, and leisure time in the colonies illustrating weaving and visiting, sports, making nets for fishing and prisoners in stocks. Here also will be shown the founding of the College of William and Mary, Governor Spotswood crossing the Blue Ridge and religious freedom being proclaimed in Virginia.

The Revolutionary period will be illustrated in the floats of the fourth section of the parade, the marker float of which will show the Spirit of Independence. Such floats as those illustrating Jefferson writing the Declaration of Independence, Patrick Henry speaking for liberty, Washington taking command of the Revolutionary army and Cornwallis' surrender at Yorktown will vividly portray the history of the period.

Pottery at Clarksburg Will Install New Kiln

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 18.—The McNicol Pottery, which has been in operation here for fifteen years and employs about 275 people, is to install a new type of kiln which will speed up and economize production, according to well-authenticated report. The expenditure will be about $375,000.

The plant produces hotel ware and its product is used in all parts of the world. Officials of the company have conferred recently with construction engineers and fuel company experts relative to the new type kiln.

Group in Virginia Wants New Road

H. L. Keen Will Head Unit at Upper Loudoun Seeking Connecting Route.

Special to The Washington Post.

Unison, Va., April 18.—An organization known as the Upper Loudoun Highway Association has been effected at Unison-Bloomfield, with 40 members. H. L. Keen has been elected president, and H. H. Otley secretary.

The aim of the organization is to work for a State road to run from north to south connecting the two State highways running east and west. It was decided to work for a State road to be located from the State highway at Round Hill to the State highway running through Upperville.

A committee composed of Charles Ford, Commander Holiday, H. R. Chamblin, Dr. A. C. Randolph, Will Fletcher, W. L. Humphrey and Thomas Best was appointed to wait upon the County Board of Supervisors to secure their endorsement for the said road. The Board of Supervisors will meet in Leesburg April 28.

Morton Is Offered Greensboro Office

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., April 18.—Paul S. Morton, city manager of Petersburg since July last, has been tendered the post of city manager of Greensboro, N. C., at a salary of $12,000 per annum. His salary as city manager of Petersburg is $8,000 per year. Mr. Morton is in Greensboro today conferring with the council of that city in regard to the offer, and therefore nothing could be ascertained as to what his action would be.

Mayor R. T. Wilson, when asked today about the possible resignation of Mr. Morton, said: "I have nothing to say." Further details in connection with Mr. Morton's possible acceptance of the offer of Greensboro will not be known until his return to the city. Mr. Morton came to Petersburg from Alexandria, where he was city manager.

GRAND JURY PLACES CHARGES AGAINST 18

Two, Who Declare They Are Bigamists, Among Prince Georges Prisoners.

GIRL'S HUSBAND ARRIVES

Indictments were returned against eighteen persons by the Prince Georges County Grand Jury which has just recessed after a strenuous term of service.

Indictments growing out of their voluntary surrender to police were returned against a couple from Baltimore who last week gave themselves up to Sheriff Charles S. Early after declaring they were bigamists. At that time the police could do nothing, as the couple could not be forced to testify against themselves before the grand jury and there was no other witness against them. Later the husband of the girl arrived and testified against her. Ruth Hess Murphy was charged with bigamy and Eugene Griffin, her erstwhile husband, was charged with perjury.

No witness appeared to testify against the husband, so the charges were based upon his having sworn to false information in obtaining the marriage license.

Other indictments returned were: Cleveland Braxton and Alfred Braxton, both colored, charged as accessories to murder because they are alleged to have assisted Wilford Braxton, colored, to escape after being charged with the murder of Theodore Smith; Claude Jackson, nonsupport; Fred Brown and Horace Simms, larceny and receiving stolen goods; Luther Kirk, housebreaking and larceny; Thomas Allen, John Allen, William Allen and Eban Allen, storebreaking and larceny; Earl Nutting and Donald Criss, housebreaking and larceny; Ralph A. Ball and Percy E. Thomas, larceny and receiving stolen goods; Vernon Arnold, nonsupport; William Harrison, alias Charles Harris, alias Harrison Jones, and an unknown man, housebreaking and larceny; burglary, common law housebreaking and larceny; Samuel Brooks, statutory; David Cameron, larceny and receiving stolen goods; Philip W. Lewis, false pretenses; August Chaney, nonsupport; John Austin, statutory; Fred Reel, alias Jimmie Reel, forgery, and Clarence Thomas, statutory.

The various county offices were closed yesterday as well as the county banks and schools in observance of Good Friday. Services were held in most of the county churches. The office of the sheriff remained open as usual.

Loudoun 4-H Club Aid To Study Short Course

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., April 18.—The 4-H Clubs in Loudoun County will sell tags next week, beginning Monday, to raise funds to pay expenses of a chaperone to the 4-H Club short course at Virginia Polytechnical Institute at Blacksburg this coming summer.

Plans are also being made for rally day, which will be held Friday May 3, at the courthouse in Leesburg.

Heads Union College Alumni.

Edgar Brown has been elected president of the Washinton alumni of Union College at a meeting at the Cosmos Club, it was announced yesterday. Other officers are E. S. Casady, vice president; and P. H. Powell, secretary-treasurer. Prof. C. N. Waldron addressed the meeting.

ANATOMISTS SHOWN SCIENTIFIC MOVIES

HRDLICKA READS PAPER

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 18.—The second day's session of the American Association of Anatomists, now holding its forty-sixth annual meeting at the University of Virginia, was a busy one. While the moving picture record was running continuously, the main laboratory of histology was filled with those who were studying the microscopic and gross demonstrations that are being kept open for the entire three days of the convention. Scores of papers were read today.

Among those whose films were shown today were A. W. Angulo y Gonzales, of the Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology; Davenport Hooker, of the University of Pittsburgh; Warren H. Lewis, of the Carnegie Institute, Washington; S. W. Ranson and J. C. Hinsey, of Northwestern University, and Engelbrekt A. Swenson, of the University of Pennsylvania.

Much of the morning was given over to a discussion of the problems of embryology. Among those on the program were Theodore C. Byerly, of the United States Department of Agriculture; Arthur K. Koff, of the Carnegie Institute; Bradley M. Patton and Kathryn Toulmin, of Western Reserve University; Henry E. Knower, of the Wistar Institute of Anatomy; Franklin P. Reagan, of the University of Illinois; Walter E. Sullivan, of the University of Wisconsin; Edgar Allan, of the University of Missouri; J. P. Pratt, of the Ford Hospital, and R. S. Cunningham, of Vanderbilt University.

Two papers were presented by R. R. Humphrey, of the University of Buffalo, telling of how he has been able to change the sex of "freemartin" salamanders. Robert K. Burns, jr., of the University of Rochester, described the transformation of male salamanders into females.

The anatomists this afternoon held a joint session with the American Association of Physical Anthropologists. At this meeting Dr. R. Bennett Bean, of the University of Virginia, told of his measurements of native-born Virginians.

The adolescent lag in the human skeleton was the subject of a paper by T. Wingate Todd, of Western Reserve University, while Ales Hrdlicka, of the United States National Museum, discussed form types of the body and in osteology.

At the annual banquet of the association, held tonight at the Monticello Hotel, the chief speaker was Dr. Richard E. Scammon, of the University of Minnesota, vice president of the association.

BISHOP M'DOWELL SPEAKS AT SERVICE

Good Friday Is Observed in Alexandria, With Many Taking Part.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Bishop William F. McDowell, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, Washington, was the speaker at the Good Friday community service yesterday in the Richmond Theater. The service was under the auspices of the Alexandria Ministerial Association, and the Rev. Ryland T. Dodge, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, presided.

Other members of the association who occupied places on the stage were the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church; the Rev. Ernest M. Delaney, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Pierce S. Ellis, pastor of the First Baptist Church; the Rev. H. D. Brenner, of the Free Methodist Church, and the Rev. Emmett R. Spencer, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church, who took part in the service. Miss Margaret Ogden rendered vocal solos, and the ushers were F. Clinton Knight, Richard B. Washington, William Meeks and Walter Pierpoint. The theater was filled to capacity.

Bishop McDowell took as his subject, "The Unity of Christ's Life," tracing the steps of Christ from childhood, and stressed the fact that Christ kept to the same course and undaunted kept His face in the same direction as He "went about His Father's business." This fine example of self-sacrifice, Bishop McDowell said, should teach all mankind to be true and loyal to Jesus Christ and to make practical His principles.

A collection amounting to $61.54 was taken, which will be divided between the Anne Lee Memorial Home for the Aged and the Children's Home and Day Nursery.

The mass meeting of Alexandria commuters, held Thursday night in the Elks' hall, which was presided over by Harry F. Kennedy, after considerable discussion of the proposed increases in passenger fares on the A. B. & W. bus line and the Washington-Virginia electric line, between Alexandria, Washington and intermediate points, for which the owner Robert L. May, has made application to the State corporation commission resulted in a movement to form a permanent commuters' association, with the appointment of William H Brooke, Emmett C. Davidson, and Louis P. Woodward as a committee to report back at the call of the chairman, Mr. Kennedy, on the plans and organization of the proposed association.

The original committee appointed to represent the commuters, headed by Chairman Kennedy, will go to Richmond Tuesday to appear before the corporation commission, which will then hear the arguments of the citizens of Alexandria against the fare increase. Arguments for the increase were heard on April 8, and the commuters were given two weeks in which to prepare their case.

The junior board of the Anne Lee Memorial Home for the Aged held a meeting on Thursday night with the recently elected officers in charge. The officers are: Mrs. R. B. English, president; Mrs. Harry D. Kirk, vice president; Miss Dorothea Mills, secretary, and Mrs. W. Milton Glasgow, treasurer. An amendment to the present by-laws was discussed to permit increasing the membership from 50 to 100.

Wiley Frank, about 23 years old, of Boston, Mass., and Al Thienkle, about 26 years old, of White Plains, N. Y., are in the Alexandria Hospital, both suffering from broken legs, and Frank with a dislocated hip suffered when they were struck by an automobile driven by Clinton E. Price, of Canadensis, Pa., on the Richmond highway, near Engleside, Thursday night. Price, who was driving a heavy car, attempted to pass another large car driven by H. Hefele, of Philadelphia, and crashed into a motorcycle on which the two young men were riding.

Officer A. W. Mills, of Fairfax, who is investigating the accident, said Price will be held on a charge of reckless driving.

West Virginia Woman Dies at 63 Years of Age

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 18.—Mrs. Gertrude B. Edwards, 63, wife of J. H. Edwards and member of a prominent central West Virginia family, is dead at her home at Weston after a long illness, having succumbed last night.

Mrs. Edwards was a daughter of the late Judge Henry Brannon, for years a member of the State Supreme Court. Besides her husband she leaves two daughters of the immediate family.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

THE mailman had to make two trips with the early morning letters for Luella.

"What's happened?" I asked. "Has somebody put you on the sucker list?"

She poised a paper cutter in the air, like a general waving his sword: "What's the sucker list?" she asked, stabbing an envelope.

"The sucker list," I told her, "is that rare old document containing names and addresses of all the E. Z. Marks——"

"My name is not Marks," said Luella, "so I don't see how they could put me on the sucker list. What I am doing now is receiving bids——"

"Bids? Bids for what"

* * * *

"PAINTING the kitchen," she remarked, casually, eyeing me the while—slacker that I am. 'Twas I who was originally drafted to paint the kitchen.

"These are the estimates sent by all those gentlemen who came here to survey the kitchen walls," she said.

"And the ceiling! Don't forget the ceiling! They measured the ceiling, didn't they"

"To be sure they measured the ceiling. That's what they call the overhead in the paint business."

Diligently, Luella waded through estimate after estimate—throwing each one in the waste-paper basket; fast as she read it. One letterhead in particular caught my eye.

"This is rather a brazen bit of stationery, isn't it? I asked, flourishing a letterhead made up of all the colors in the rainbow.

"What did you expect from a paint shop?" she asked. "Something in mourning?"

"This," I told her, "looks as if it came out of an explosion."

* * * *

SHE smiled, meditatively, and threw away the last estimate: "I imagine," she mused, "an explosion in a paint shop would be quite a mess. Wouldn't it?"

"What did you throw away all the estimates for? Have you decided who gets the job?"

She paused, tapped the toe of her shoe under the table.

"Yes," she said, as one makes a great decision, "I have decided."

"Who?"

"You!"—and she pointed an accusing finger at me.

* * * *

"WELL," I asked her, "if you decided on me, what good have all these estimates done?"

"What good?" she asked, a sneer in her voice. "Why, they've shown me just how much we're goin' to save by you painting the kitchen!"

Think of it—and of how much the paint and varnish men lose by having made the estimates.

WINCHESTER TRAILS ARE REPORTED GOOD

Virginia Highway Department Tells Condition of Routes to Apple Fete.

TRAFFIC RULES MADE

Richmond, Va., April 18 (A.P.).—All roads lead to Winchester next week, and the roads through Virginia are good.

Tonight the State highway department announced a detailed report on routes to Winchester for the thousands of automobiles that will stream over the highways to reach the annual apple blossom festival on April 24 and 25. All efforts of the department are being bent toward letting traffic through on all routes without inconvenience.

Route 37 between Berryville and Winchester, now closed for construction, is to be opened especially for the festival to accommodate traffic coming down from northern points by Harper's Ferry and Berryville, but the construction will be somewhat rough and the report advises traveling by way of Boyce. Traffic from Leesburg is advised to go by Aldie and Route 50 to Winchester on account of construction on Route 54 near Round Hill and the work on Route 37 between Berryville and Winchester.

"From Washington over U. S. Route 211 to Fairfax and U. S. Route 50 to Winchester the road is in good condition," said the report.

"From Kilmarnock in the northern neck section of the State over Route 37 through Warsaw to Fredericksburg, 95 miles, is in good condition, hard surfaced, except about 35 miles near Warsaw. From Fredericksburg motorists should continue over Route 37 to Winchester through Culpeper, Sperryville and Front Royal, 101 miles, all hard surfaced.

"From Richmond by U. S. Route 1 to Alexandria and U. S. Route 50 to Winchester is 168 miles; by Route 1 to Fredericksburg and thence by Route 37 through Sperryville and Culpeper is 157 miles; and by Route 39 to Charlottesville and Staunton and thence over U. S. Route 11 through Harrisburg is 222 miles. On the trip by Alexandria there is no construction.

"Through the valley between Staunton and Winchester several places are under construction, one near Harrisonburg, one near Mount Jackson and one near Strasburg, but traffic will be taken care of over the regular road and construction work in each case.

"Traffic coming up from North Carolina points around Winston-Salem and Greensboro will find U. S. Route 311 to Roanoke and U. S. Route 11 through the valley to Winchester good.

"From Lynchburg to the Valley Pike at Staunton via Route 18 to Afton, 84 miles, the road is in good condition, the only construction being just north of Lynchburg, where traffic is going over the regular road.

"Traffic from around Covington or coming in from West Virginia points over Route 60 and wishing to go by Hot Springs will find this road in good condition most of the way.

"Traffic from Clarksville, Va., and North Carolina points south of that point will find U. S. Route 15 to Orange, Routes 16 and 28 by Madison Courthouse to Culpeper and thence over No. 37 to Winchester the shortest route."

Four Are Injured In Auto Accident

Car Skids and Hits Water Plug in Crash at Cumberland.

Cumberland, Md., April 18. — Four were injured, one probably seriously, in an automobile accident this afternoon on Green street when the machine, driven by Miss Catherine Riley, of West Salisbury, Pa., skidded on a wet street car rail, struck the bank, collided with a water plug and turned over.

Presbytery to Hold Ordination Session

General Assembly Delegates Chosen at Martinsburg Meeting.

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 18.—Winchester Presbytery, adjourning its spring session in Charles Town Thursday night, arranged to have a special session in Winchester, Va., June 17, to ordain and install the Rev. E. D. Witherspoon as assistant pastor to the Rev Dr. Frank A. McFaden, with special assignment to the Highland Avenue and Nineveh Churches. No date or place was selected for the regular fall meeting of Presbytery.

Clerical delegates to general assembly which meets in Charlottesville, Va., June 18, were named as the Revs. J. G. Revely, Capon Bridge, and A. B. Mann, Thomas; lay delegates were S. Lee Phillips, Charles Town, and Judge G. K. Kump, Romney, the latter retiring moderator.

The Rev. James Wood, Keyser, was lected moderator at the opening business session. The Presbytery approved establishment of the ministers' annuity fund.

FAIRFAX CHURCHES TO JOIN IN SERVICE

BEE KEEPERS TO MEET

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 243, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 919-J-1.

The second annual Easter Sunrise Service of the Lewinsville Presbyterian Church will be held at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning on the church lawn with all denominations of McLean and vicinity participating. The service will open with an organ prelude by Miss Isabel Beattie, doxology by the congregation and invocation by the Rev. J. G. Sadtler, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church. The Lewinsville Choir will sing a sunrise anthem. Orlando Whitley, of the Southern Methodist Church at Langley, will lead the responsive reading. The Easter message will be given by the Rev. E. L. Snelling, of the McLean Baptist Church. The Rev. J. Harvey Dunham, pastor of the Lewinsville Presbyterian Church, will deliver the benediction following several hymns by the congregation.

In case of inclement weather the services will be held indoors.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Lewinsville Presbyterian Church, will hold its annual chicken dinner tonight in Dunham Hall near McLean. Mrs. J. C. Storm is general chairman in charge of arrangements.

The Fairfax County Bee Keepers Association will hold an open air meeting at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of County Agricultural Agent H. B. Darr, located about 2 miles east of Fairfax on the Little River pike. The members have been instructed to bring their bee veils.

The Fairfax County Republican committee will meet tonight at the home of Hugh Sauls in Fairfax. Arrangements will be made to issue a call for a county convention to elect delegates to the Eighth Congressional District convention which will be held in the Orange County Courthouse May 14.

The Hoge Fidellis Bible Class of the Columbia Baptist Church at Falls Church will hold a food sale today. Mrs. Milton Roberts will have charge of the sale.

Herndon Chapter, No. 55, Order of Eastern Star, will hold food sale in the Reed Building on Main street beginning at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

In spite of the inclement weather the Vienna fire department's house warming and dedication of its new engine house was considered a success. Approximately 200 persons were guests. These included delegations from McLean and Falls Church departments, headed by their respective presidents, J. H. Beattie and R. E. Kendrick, Leon L. Freeman, president of the Vienna Fire Department, who has headed the local department since its organization, welcomed the guests and acted as master of ceremonies.

The program included a recitation by Glenn Cunningham. A solo and recitation by Mrs. Lloyd E. Wright, a recitation by Mrs. Nellie Horne, of Baltimore, Md., and one by Miss Elsie Money, of Vienna. A saxophone solo was rendered by Mr. Manvell. The Manvell Orchestra of Vienna furnished music throughout the evening. Refreshments were served by the men of the department.

The new engine house is of tile, with a brick front. It is 24 by 36 feet, located on Church street, on a lot donated to the department by Seth Gorham. A large electrical fire siren has been installed on the roof of the building and is being connected with the local telephone exchange. The house was erected at a cost of approximately $1,400, as a portion of the material was donated by interested persons of the community. Most of the labor was also donated by the members of the department, and the building has been paid for in full.
